Sexual Predator Law Will Surely Be Tested

It is prohibited in both the U.S. and state constitutions, from what we have read, for legislation aimed at one person to be passed. News reports say that state officials and legislators attempted to be guarded in what they said during the special session last week at which the so-called sexual predator law was adopted, lest they provide material for a legal challenge which is sure to come.

Regardless of what was said or not said at the special session, however, there can be little doubt that the special session and its result—a bill passed 65-0 in the Senate and 133-0 in the House—was aimed specifically at Dennis Linehan. It was the recent Supreme Court's order releasing the 55-year-old Linehan—who had been held for nearly 30 years following his conviction for the rape and murder of a 14-year-old girl in 1965—that prompted the perceived urgency of the special session.

Reports are that even before legislators arrived in St. Paul for the special session, paper work was being done by Ramsey county officials to have Linehan recommitted. He has been held for a short time in a house on the Stillwater prison grounds. That the legislature was moved to take unanimous action following a one hour and 37-minute session would certainly indicate a focus, and that focus has to be Linehan.

From what we have read, the legislators passed a bill that will make it easier to commit "sexual predators" to the Minnesota Security Hospital for treatment. The action was said to "patch" the old law and adopt new standards for the indefinite civil commitment of "sexually dangerous persons." The previous law, under which the Supreme Court ordered the release of Linehan, required proof that an offender had an "utter lack of power" to control his sexual impulses. The new provisions require that the individual has "a sexual, personality or other mental disorder or dysfunction" and "is likely to engage in future acts of harmful sexual conduct."

Linehan was convicted of committing a heinous crime for which he deserved lengthy sentencing. It seems to us, however, that the law committing him should be criminal rather than civil. If he has not responded to "treatment" in the past 27 or 28 years, what is the likelihood that additional "treatment" will be beneficial now? The changes in the law are undoubtedly aimed more at keeping Linehan—and admittedly others who have been committed for criminal sexual offenses—in custody rather than in effecting a cure of his dysfunction.

In broadening the law to sweep Linehan back into confinement, the legislature may have created some other interesting questions. What is "harmful sexual conduct?" Would the definition apply to a sexually active person with AIDS, for instance?

Perhaps the legislators did what they had to do when they had to do it. Few would argue that persons convicted of violent sex crimes and sentenced to incarceration should be returned to prey on society. But their action is sure to be the subject of a court case and the question of locking up offenders will have to be addressed at the next legislative session.

IRS Hassles Waiters And Waitresses

Following editorial appeared in The Orange County Register on Friday, July 8:

Why can't the government just leave people alone? The IRS again is harassing waitresses and waiters.

IRS rules already force such people to report estimated income from tips—even if patrons then repeatedly stiff the help.

But the IRS rarely shows an appreciation of reality, seeming to care more about its surreal world of numbers and regulations.

Now, the IRS wants to jam the bamboo farther up the fingernails of restaurant employees.

The new edict: Restaurants must set a basic tip rate for waiters and waitresses, with at least that amount falling under taxation.

The rule takes no account of the vast differences in service provided by restaurant help. The whole point of tips is to encourage prompt and efficient service. Better help brings higher tips, and vice versa.

But, then, the IRS, a quintessential federal bureaucracy, wouldn't recognize quality if it saw it written on the side of a beer can.

"It's a heavy-handed threat, a hammer," Stanley Kyker told the Register.

He's executive vice president of the California Restaurant Association.

"The IRS wants restaurant owners to be enforcers, policemen and tax collectors when that's the IRS's role."

"You either comply, or you face an audit," lamented Marie Callender's Vice President Charles Conine.

The Register reported that Cindy Barnard, spokeswoman for the IRS in Mission Viejo, gave this rationale for the new tip rules: "Other compliance programs have not worked, but we hope this one will. It's like preventive maintenance."

No, it's preventive tyranny. And note how every IRS program to control people seems eventually to fall.

Why? Well, even in the old Soviet Union people found ways to make a living out of sight of the KGB.

A legal case is being mounted to challenge the new IRS edict. Its success would be a welcome rebuff to a federal agency that seems frequently out of control.

Public Notices

IN MEMORY OF our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mabel, who passed away September 12, 1993.

God looked around his garden and he found an empty space. He then looked down upon the earth and saw your tired face. He put his arms around you and lifted you to rest. God's garden must be beautiful – he only takes the best. He knew that you were suffering, and he knew you were in pain. He knew that you might never get well on earth again. He saw the road was getting rough, and the hills hard to climb, so he closed your weary eyelids and whispered... "Peace by Thine". It broke our hearts to lose you, the day God called you home.

Harry Sigerud and Marilyn, Larry, Jim, Debbie and Families.

School District 564's new orchestra director, Brian Cole, is pictured with students Toni and Tena Bachend. Cole will direct the district's elementary, middle school and high school orchestra programs.

Cole will direct school orchestra

As the newest addition to the music staff in School District 564, Brian Cole says he is hoping to introduce students to a new friend.

Hired this summer to direct the elementary, middle school and high school orchestra program (grades 4-12) in Thief River Falls, Cole says music should be "a life-long friend; a friend families can share and a way to encourage a good self-concept."

Cole is a graduate of the University of South Dakota with a degree in music education and has earned a master's degree in orchestra conducting from the University of Northern Colorado. He plays viola and has performed with the South Dakota Symphony, Sioux City Symphony and Greeley Philharmonic.

Attracted to Thief River Falls by what he perceives to be strong parental and administrative support for the orchestra program, he says "there is a real desire to see the program grow.

"Already we have a lot of talented kids and supportive parents," he said, "and incredible support from the music faculty. That adds up to real potential, an exciting foundation to build on."

Cole grew up in Marshall but says he is familiar with Thief River Falls as the home of his grandfather, the late Ralph Barr; his uncle, Charles Barr; and aunt, Pearl Johnson. In addition to music, Cole also has some radio broadcasting experience as a former announcer for South Dakota public radio.

State and region unemployment rates show decline during July

Minnesota Department of Economic Security Commissioner R. Jane Brown, has announced that Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate fell to 3.4 per cent in July, down from 3.6 per cent in June and 5.1 per cent a year ago. "Minnesota's employment picture continues to improve," said Brown. "And," she added, "most areas of the state are feeling the benefits." July's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate is the lowest since such adjustments began in 1978.

The unemployment rate for Region 1, which includes Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties, dropped from 5.6 per cent in June to 4.5 per cent in July, which is an even more significant drop from 6.3 per cent unemployment recorded in July of 1993.

Despite the unemployment decline in the state, the corresponding national rate rose slightly, from 6 per cent in June to 6.1 per cent in July. But it is still down from a year ago when the seasonally adjusted national rate stood at 6.8 per cent.

The unadjusted unemployment rate for Minnesota tapered off steeply, to 3.2 per cent in July. That is down from 3.9 per cent in June and from 4.8 per cent in July 1993. Nationally, the unadjusted rate remained at 6.2 per cent in July, but down from 6.9 per cent a year ago.

The seven-county metro area had the lowest average unemployment rate, 2.7 per cent, and the Arrowhead region was highest at 5.5 per cent. Even so, every region in the state enjoyed a reduction in their average unemployment rates, with the exception of southwestern Minnesota, which was hurt by layoffs at the manufacturing plant.

Clearwater county had the highest unemployment rate, 9.6 per cent, and Pipestone county the lowest, 2.1 per cent.

In Region 1, Roseau county had the lowest unemployment rate at 2.6 per cent, which was a decline from 2.8 per cent recorded in June. Red Lake county had the highest unemployment rate at 8.9 per cent, which is a decline from 10.2 per cent.

All of the counties in Region 1 recorded a decline in unemployment. Kittson county's unemployment rate dropped from 5.5 per cent in June to 4.5 per cent in July. Marshall county's unemployment dropped from 9.0 per cent in June to 7.7 per cent in July. Norman county's unemployment rate dropped from 5.3 per cent in June to 4.6 per cent in July. Pennington county's unemployment rate dropped from 4.5 per cent in June to 4.0 per cent in July. Polk county's unemployment rate dropped from 6.0 per cent in June to 4.3 per cent in June.

An employer survey revealed the following: Some 63,000 non-farm wage and salary jobs were opened up in Minnesota from July, 1993 to July 1994. This 2.8 per cent boost in jobs is slightly better than the 2.7 per cent increase for the nation over the same period.

More than 25,000 new service jobs were created during the year, with business services making up just under a third of them. The trade, government, and manufacturing industries also provided large numbers of new jobs over the past year.

Non-farm wage and salary jobs fell by 26,800 from June to July. But this is a normal drop in employment because teachers and other school employees, as well as school bus drivers, generally take the summer off. This particular statistic will rise again in September.

Finally, the filling of summer jobs in the cannery firms put the manufacturing industry in the lead for seasonal employment.

City faces $668,511 in deficit

Projected budget for next year has more expense than revenue

City council members learned Tuesday that they will have to deal with a projected budget deficit of $668,511. More than half of the projected budget deficit is due to increased needs to meet Aid to Disabilities Act requirements.

Roger DeLap, acting city administrator, said council members will look at other ways to finance the ADA requirements other than by an increase in the tax levy, such as bonds.

General Fund revenues are expected to increase only by $37,002 next year, while expenses are currently expected to increase by $712,721. That leaves a general fund deficit of $668,511, minus the surplus from 1994.

Without ADA costs included in the budget, the projected deficit would be about $300,000, DeLap said. He added that that's not an unusual amount at this time of the planning process.

Nevertheless, a preliminary review of the 1995 proposed governmental budgets distributed to council members Tuesday indicated that the Administrative Services Committee is currently projecting a net property tax levy increase of 5 per cent over 1994. Tax levy increases have remained relatively stable over the past three years. In 1992, the tax levy increase was 5 per cent. In 1993 and 1994, the increase was 6.8 per cent.

With a 5 per cent general fund tax levy increase, the levy would raise an estimated $955,800. In 1994, the general fund tax levy raised $910,324.

The council is under some pressure to finalize some of the budget plans as they must adopt a 1995 tax levy by September 15, according to the Truth in Taxation guidelines. After that date, the city can only lower its levy, and has no legal authorization to increase it except by referendum.

The budget will be taken back to the four major committees for one more budget cutting session and then the city might consider establishing a special budget committee composed of the chairmen of each committee to resolve the remaining 1995 budget issues.

Friends of TRF Library plan to meet Sept. 13

Thief River Falls Friends of the Public Library will hold an organizational meeting on Tuesday, September 13, at noon in the Thief River Falls Public Library's meeting room. Coffee will be provided and people wishing to bring a sack lunch are welcome to do so.

Thief River Falls library board president, Karl Bjorkman, noted, "After our 1993 surveys, we realized we need a Friends group. We made establishing it as one of our goals in our long range plan."

Board member Janice Upham added, "the main purpose of the Thief River Falls Friends is to enhance library services to the public."

Enhancements that were requested in the surveys and by the public include delivery of library books to the homebound, establishing a writers group, running a book discussion group, hosting refreshments for special events in the library and working on additional displays. While these enhancements have been discussed by the library board, the board feels the Friends group itself will have to decide where they wish to concentrate their efforts.

Thief River Falls library board vice-president Norma Spong said, "We want this to be a group open to anyone and we welcome everyone to the meeting. We're holding it at noon so that people can come during noon hours and that we don't conflict with all the evening meetings that are already scheduled for September."

People unable to attend the meeting are encouraged to contact librarian Heidi Hoks at 681-4325 (library) or 681-2980 (home).

Floyd Hesse of Plummer, who had 291 consecutive days in combat against the Japanese in the Philippine Islands during World War II, will return to the Philippines October 13-26 for the 50th anniversary of General Douglas MacArthur's return to Leyte. He still fits trimly into his WW II dress uniform.

Hesse returns to Philippines after 50 years

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

For 78-year-old Floyd Hesse of rural Plummer a glance out the kitchen window still reveals the camouflaged door of a Japanese pillbox and any scraping is the sound of an enemy rifle butt dragging on rock in the dark of a Philippine night. The sights, sounds and smells of military battlefields have scarcely dimmed in nearly 50 years since he came home from World War II.

And soon those memories, perhaps best forgotten but so impossible to forget, will be renewed with a return visit to the Philippine Islands where he spent 291 consecutive days in combat. He and his wife Fern will be among an expected 4,000 to 5,000 people joining in observance of the 50th anniversary of General Douglas MacArthur's return landing on Leyte.

There are many veterans of World War II who share the memories and bear the wounds of combat, a number of them in and around the communities of northwestern Minnesota. Hesse's story and experiences do not diminish their service nor sacrifice, but epitomize it. He is one of few to be awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, second only to the Congressional Medal of Honor as the nation's highest award for military service.

A recognition dinner for Hess has been planned for Friday, September 16, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Plummer American Legion club. It will recognize not only his military service to his country in war but his service in civilian life as a life member of the Plummer American Legion Post where he has been a color guard member for 40 years.

Floyd Hesse had no yearning to be a hero. What he did in the war he did out of necessity to survive and to get back home. Whether someone else would have done it or not is immaterial. He was the person in that time and place. The commendation accompanying his Distinguished Service Cross tells only part of the story:

"Sergeant FLOYD M. HESSE, (37031221), Infantry, United States Army. For extraordinary heroism in action near Montalban, Luzon, Philippine Islands, on 12 March 1945.

"Sergeant Hesse commanded a machine gun section holding a remote outpost on high ground. Near-midnight the enemy attacked, succeeded in occupying several foxholes near the crest of the hill, and prepared to hold the area. Realizing the need for decisive action, Sergeant Hesse ordered his men to maintain their remaining positions. Then, armed with a submachine gun and hand grenades, he left cover and charged the enemy.

"Observing two enemy soldiers moving toward him, he delivered a short burst of automatic fire and killed both. Moving up the hill and attacking with grenades, he killed four more in their foxholes. His grenades then expended he returned to his position, secured a new supply, and again worked his way up the hill.

"As he reached the crest and was silhouetted against the sky, the enemy advanced once more. Holding his position with no thought for his own safety, he hurled grenades against the enemy until their attack was broken. By his bold and aggressive action Sergeant Hesse so disorganized the enemy attack that they retreated in disorder, leaving several dead on the field. His courage and intrepidity uphold the highest traditions of the military service."

The award was given by the command of General Douglas MacArthur and by direction of President Franklin Roosevelt under an Act of Congress approved July 9, 1918, creating the medal.

Although the most prestigious, the Distinguished Service Cross was only one of several medals and

Orientation precedes move into Challenger

Parents also invited to ride in-town school buses

Orientation for more than 1,100 students and their parents on Saturday and Sunday, September 17 and 18, will precede the long-anticipated opening of the Challenger elementary school for classes on Monday, September 19. The start of classes has been delayed two weeks to permit further completion of the new building.

"We are very excited about the opening of the new elementary school," states elementary principal Glen Espe, "but I wouldn't be honest if I didn't admit to a measure of anxiety too."

More than 100 staff members and volunteers will be on hand to assist with the orientation sessions this weekend. And with the large number of students and parents expected for the sessions on Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3:30 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 3:30 p.m., special instructions have been issued for travel to the school site and parking while there.

Families of students in fourth and fifth grades are asked to turn off the airport road on Evergreen Street in Southtown and proceed to the parking lot on the north side of the school. The entrance for the grades four and five schoolhouse will be marked with green balloons.

(This parking arrangement will be for the orientation sessions only. Beginning with opening day of school September 19 the north side parking lot will be designated for buses only with all visitor parking on the lot south of the school.)

Families of kindergarten, first grade, second grade and third grade students should take County Road 1 to the entrance and parking lot on the south side of the school. Entrance to the schoolhouse for kindergarten and first grade students will be marked with blue balloons. Entrance to the second and third grade schoolhouse will be marked with maroon balloons.

"Some areas of the building may still be restricted," Espe said of the orientation sessions in a letter mailed Monday to parents of elementary students. "However, you can visit your children's classrooms, tour your schoolhouse, see where your school bus will arrive and how to get to your classroom and find out more about opening day and Challenger school. Orientation will be a terrific opportunity to meet your teacher and learn more about first day lunch, opening day activities and lockers. Volunteers will lead the schoolhouse tours."

Espe said that work in the schoolhouses has been going well. "The second to fifth grade staff began organizing classrooms last week. The kindergarten and first grade teachers will be able to get into their rooms this week. It's been hectic, but we're getting there," he said.

In addition to the orientation sessions on site at Challenger, special arrangements have been made to operate an in-town bus route schedule on Saturday only, September 17, according to Fred Mykleby, director of transportation for School District 564.

A letter from Mykleby included in the mailing to parents Monday

Six area residents plead guilty to federal charges

Weatherization director of a community action program for indigent people in northwestern Minnesota and five others pled guilty Monday, September 12, in a United States District court in St. Paul to charges associated with the embezzling of more than $200,000 from the program.

Rodney Lynn Bjerklie, 43, Trail, and Richard Orbin Tharaldson, 58, Goodridge, both pled guilty to a felony count of conspiring to defraud the United States. Darwin Lee Eidelbes, 44, and Theresa Johnsrud, 34, both of Goodridge, pled no contest to a felony count of conspiring to steal government funds. Carol Jean Eidelbes, 41, and Danny Allen Johnsrud, 36, both of Goodridge, both pled no contest to a misdemeanor count of aiding and abetting theft of government fund. All six defendant s pled guilty before Judge Robert G. Renner in St. Paul.

The pleas relate to the embezzlement of money from the weatherization program administered by the Inter-County Community Council (ICCC).

The ICCC is located in Oklee and serves Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and East Polk counties in northwestern Minnesota. The charges against the six individuals involve funds from the weatherization program, which winterized homes for eligible poor people. The program received its funding from the United States Department of Health and Human Services.

The indictment charged that an elaborate scheme ran from 1989 through 1992, and involved fraudulent billings, fictitious companies, embezzlement of program funds and kickbacks.

Bjerklie allegedly embezzled money from the ICCC by creating and submitting fraudulent orders and bills for labor and building materials supposedly used for the weatherization program. Fictitious companies created by Bjerklie, the Eidelbes and the Johnsruds were used on the bogus invoices and bills. Payment checks were issued to these straw companies and were deposited into personal checking accounts controlled by the Eidelbes or the Johnsruds, who then wrote kickback checks to Bjerklie.

Another co-defendant, Tharaldson, owner of Tharaldson Construction, received payments from Bjerklie for work never performed on program houses.

Bjerklie is alleged to have received over 90 kickback checks totalling approximately $11,574 during the course of the conspiracy.

Conspiring to defraud the United States carries a maximum potential penalty of five years in prison and/or a $250,000 fine. Aiding and abetting the theft of government funds carries a maximum potential penalty of one year in prison and/or a $100,000 fine. The actual sentence will be determined by Judge Renner based on the federal sentencing guidelines. Sentencing should be in six to eight weeks.

The case is the result of an investigation by the United States Department of Energy, Office of the Inspector General and the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. Assistant United States Attorney Jon M. Hopeman prosecuted the case.

LHS, NCC grad given high White House post

Jodie Torkelson is Deputy Assistant to the President

by Mervin Lundin
Times Editor

Jodie Torkelson maintains that she contracted "Potomac Fever" while on an unpaid volunteer internship in Washington, DC, as a college senior and the bug has drawn her back to the nation's capital twice. She has worked in the trenches and "paid her dues," as the saying goes, and circumstances have now led to her appointment to a major position in the White House.

President Bill Clinton, on the recommendation of Chief of Staff Leon Panetta, recently named Torkelson, 36, to the position of Deputy Assistant to the President for Management and Administration. The position is most commonly referred to as White House Director of Administration.

"I'm basically in charge of management for the White House," she said in a telephone interview Thursday from her White House office. "It means responsibilities like making sure the President's directive of 25 per cent staff reduction is maintained, handling personnel travel, directing maintenance, things like that."

The duties were noted in typical understatement for this product of a Minnesota Scandinavian background, a person who could pass a lie detector test maintaining she hadn't accomplished all that much in her life. You work hard, you accept responsibility, you get the job done well and if people want to give you something more important to do, well, that's fine, you expect to get that done, too.

A White House news release about her appointment states that she "will direct the management and administrative functions of the Executive Office of the President (EOP). She will oversee the White House Office of Administration, the White House budget, the Military Office and other administrative offices in the White House and EOP."

An official description of the job gives more insight on the magnitude of the office. It states that the Deputy Assistant to the President for Management and Administration:

"Directs the management and administrative function of the Executive Office of the President and has oversight responsibilities for all 14 agencies of the Executive Office of the President, the Old Executive Office Building, the New Executive Office Building and Jackson Place. Supervises a staff of 65 White House and 189 Office of Administration employees. The Office of Administration manages libraries, information management systems, support services, facilities, budgets, personnel functions and provides Congressional liaison on key issues. Oversees and directs military support to the President and security operations safeguarding the President."

That's about all she has to do.

Piece of cake for a Lincoln grad.

Jodie is the first of four daughters of Wally and Dodie Torkelson of Thief River Falls, who also have one son, Troy, who lives in Las Vegas, NV. The other daughters include Shelly, Mrs. Bruce Mathson of Rt. 3, Thief River Falls; Dana, who lives in Minneapolis; and Kari, an optometry student at the University of Indiana in Bloomington.

ribbons Hesse received. Others were the Bronze Star, Good Conduct Medal, American Defense Medal, Distinguished Unit Badge, Authorized Bronze Silver Arrowhead, American Theater Ribbon, World War II Victory Medal and Purple Heart, to name a few.

Hesse has no idea how he was able to survive his scrapes with death throughout the battlefield experiences except for some Divine intervention. The near misses were many and started early. In his first battle action only five members of what started as a 28-man squad survived.

He received the Purple Heart for shrapnel wounds he received Jan. 26, 1945, when an enemy shell exploded nearby. The concussion from the blast was such that it blew him backward along the ground, leaving a single trail of six cigarettes from his shirt pocket for a distance of about 15 feet. The shell fragments damaged his eye, ear and neck, causing hearing loss and vision impairment which could not be repaired.

As summarized in a biography written by his youngest daughter, Nancy Jo, for her senior English class at Pershing high school in Plummer in 1986, Floyd Hesse's life began June 17, 1916, in a farm home near Morton. He came to the Plummer area as a toddler and was the third of 12 children—seven girls and five boys.

He is a product of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) camps, working in forestry for $30 a month, $25 of which was sent home to his parents and family.

He was drafted into the army on his 25th birthday, June 17, 1941 and served four years and six months in the Sixth Division's 63rd Infantry, including 28 months of active duty against the Japanese in the Central Pacific, Luzon, New Guinea and the Philippine Islands. He became a platoon sergeant on Christmas Eve in 1943 and received a battlefield commission to second lieutenant March 25, 1945.

He declined a promotion to first lieutenant, protesting that he didn't have more than an eighth grade education. "Neither did Stonewall Jackson," his commanding officer replied.

"Floyd's fight was not over after the war," his daughter wrote in her biography in 1986, "for he fought with malaria, pneumonia and back surgery for a few years after the war and still suffers from loss of hearing today. Floyd was a strong, courageous soldier because he always had a very strong faith in his Lord that He would watch over and help him. Floyd believes that that is the only reason he made it home alive was because he had His guidance.

"Floyd met Fern Elizabeth Malwitz of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, in a small country church in Plummer. On September 23, 1946, Floyd married Fern and they bought a dairy farm seven miles west of Plummer. In 1966 they moved to better facilities four miles southwest of Thief River Falls for three years, but moved back to the original land where they still farm 500 acres and 250 head of beef cattle.

"Floyd and Fern had five children—Diane, Bonnie, Scott (who was killed in a tragic deer hunting accident in 1966), Vickie and Nancy Jo.

"Floyd is a member of NFO, the Legion, VFW, 40&8, 6th Infantry Division and the chairman of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Plummer. He is also a Grandpa nine times over. Floyd loves farming and dislikes unpatriotism. This is a man who physically salutes the flag the first time he sees it each day."

It was Floyd Hesse and men like him who secured this nation's freedom in World War II. We can understand his desire to return to an area where so much of his life's experience was compacted into survival for the minute that continued for day after day, night after nerve-wracking night. He became a hero there. He still remains one.

notes that many parents have asked for an opportunity to ride the new, in-town bus routes with their children before the first day of school.

"We will be running the in-town route schedule to Challenger school Saturday morning," Mykleby said. "After an hour and a half at the school, we will return you along the same route to your neighborhood bus stop. This will be a chance for children to check out the bus stop routine, the route to and from school, and practice getting from their bus to the classroom and from the classroom to their bus."

Mykleby emphasized that the schedule included in the letter has special times intended for use to fit orientation activities only. The original schedule issued earlier should be used when school is in session. He also noted that the trial run Saturday includes only in-town bus routes 33, 34, 35, 36, 37 and 38. No rural routes are included.

Espe said that his offices are presently located in the school district service center and may be reached by calling 681-8346. Phone lines are expected to be ready in the Challenger school by the weekend and a special sticker with that number will be available for pickup during orientation.

"We want to get as much current information out to students, parents and the public as possible in the short time we have remaining until classes begin," Espe said. "We are asking families to be alert for announcements on local radio and cable television if there are any unanticipated schedule changes."

Knutson appeared in court on Monday, September 12, and pled not guilty to burglary in the first degree, assault in the second degree, criminal sexual conduct in the first degree, and violation of a protection order.

Torkelson directs White House

Jodie is a 1976 graduate of Lincoln high school and 1978 graduate of Northland Community College. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science in 1980 from Moorhead State University and developed an interest in the political process through people she met during her college years.

Shortly before she was scheduled to graduate from MSU, one of her professors asked if she would be interested in an Internship in Washington, DC. Almost before she could answer, he had placed a call to Congressman Rick Nolan's office, asked about internship openings and informed Nolan that "we have this really great gal here." Three weeks later, Jodie was in Washington as an unpaid volunteer. When the internship was up she returned to college. A short time later Rep. Nolan's office called with an offer of full-time employment. Jodie had already earned the credits she needed for graduation, so she took the job.

When Congressman Nolan retired, she joined the staff of Congressman Leon Panetta of California in 1981 as a receptionist. She later became his office manager and still later his legislative aide.

In 1986 she moved back to Minnesota where she went to work for the American Lutheran Church headquarters in Minneapolis. In March of 1988, having satisfied the need for her Minnesota fis but still afflicted with Potomac Fever, she accepted Panetta's invitation to return to Washington and be in charge of his DC office.

"The average length of service in Washington is three and a half years," Jodie explained. "For one reason or another people won't put up with the stresses or become disillusioned or have satisfied their curiosity and they leave."

She also said it is not particularly unusual for a Minnesotan to be working in the office of a Congressman from California. While some Congressmen prefer to hire staff from their home district, Panetta was a realist. Given the nature of the district he represented, he explained, who could he expect to move from there to Washington, DC?

As Panetta increased his seniority, he became chairman of the House Budget Committee. And recognized as a capable employee by the chairman, Torkelson became Director of Administration for the House Budget Committee. When President Clinton named Panetta as his Director of the Office of Management and Budget, Torkelson was named Associate Director for Administration.

An Associated Press article recently had this to say about an expected shake-up in the Clinton White House:

"For two months, new White House Chief of Staff Leon Panetta has been weighing big changes in Clinton's team. Now, White House officials say that Panetta is getting ready to present those recommendations to Clinton and that an overhaul could be announced next week.

"Panetta already has moved to install longtime aide Jodie Torkelson in the vacant post of White House director of administration..... "

The appointment of Torkelson is obviously a recognition by Panetta of her capabilities as well as a reward for her continuing service for the past six years.

Torkelson said she became involved in the arena of government because she saw it as "a way for one person to make a difference." She said she continues to enjoy the political process, although she still considers Minnesota to be her home and she would one day like to return here.

"If I could take Washington and move it to Minnesota, I would truly have the best of both worlds," she said.

She has been able to come home at least once or twice a year for weekend or holiday visits during most of her Washington service, although she says her present responsibilities will make taking time for such visits more difficult.

And she no longer has what was once a youthful interest in possibly holding elective office.

"I have seen what elected officials have to give up in their family lives and their personal time and I wouldn't be willing to do that," she said. "But I have been willing to work hard and put in extra time at my previous jobs and I will at this job because it is something that has to be done."

There's that Minnesota Scandinavian work ethic showing through again.

Chancellor Geri Evans of the Minnesota Community College System visited Northland Community College in Thief River Falls Monday and spoke briefly at a noon meeting with community residents. She pointed out that this will be the last year for the community college system as it has been known due to the merger of state universities and community colleges on July 1, 1995. Northland and the Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls are slated to be among the first to merge, she said. She also noted that community colleges are finding an increasing need for student housing despite their "community" label and she understood the student housing shortage in Thief River Falls.

September is Cholesterol Education Month

September is National Cholesterol Education month, and the new National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute (NHLBI) is kicking off a nationwide campaign to help Americans keep their blood cholesterol levels — and their hearts — healthy.

Theme of the campaign is "There's no wrong way to eat, as long as you eat right — which means following a low-saturated fat, low-cholesterol eating pattern. Such healthy eating lowers the risk of heart disease, the leading cause of death in the United States."

The centerpiece of the campaign is a toll-free information line (1-800-575-WELL). The line gives two recorded messages on blood cholesterol — one about the prevention of high blood cholesterol and the other about its treatment. Callers to both messages can request free heart-healthy recipes.

The new campaign is part of an ongoing effort to educate Americans about cholesterol and heart disease by the NHLBI and the National Cholesterol Education Program (NCEP), which the Institute coordinates.

"We've made great strides in reducing how many Americans have high blood cholesterol," said Dr. James Cleeman, NCEP coordinator. "Since 1978, the proportion of American adults with high blood

Inter-County Nursing Service to celebrate 25th anniversary

Inter-County Nursing Service will celebrate 25 years of service of "Neighbors Helping Neighbors" with two open houses. On Friday, September 30, from 2 to 4 p.m., there will be an open house at the nursing service office at the Red Lake County Courthouse. On Friday, October, 7, from 2 to 4 p.m., an open house will be held at the nursing service office at the Pennington County Courthouse, with a special presentation at 3 p.m.

The year was 1969. Richard Nixon was president of the United States. The lunar landing takes place. Portnoy's Complaint was the top book and Midnight Cowboy was the top movie. The Archies were the music group with the number one hit. The Inter-County Nursing Service was created that year of 1969.

Originally a survey was done in the three counties that were to be served. The survey pointed to the fact that health care in the home was needed in the area. The original counties served were Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater.

The main office was located in Bagley, with branch offices in Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls. At that time, there was one registered nurse, a secretary and a number of home health aides in each county.

The first year, 1969, was extremely busy, setting up by-laws, medical policies, job descriptions and reaching toward the ultimate goal of becoming Medicare certified by January 1, 1970.

Over the years, the Nursing Service has had a wide variety of office space at the Pennington County Courthouse, such as the jury room and both ends of the lower level hall. The Red Lake county office was on the top level of the courthouse for many years until the move to the ground floor.

In 1978, Clearwater county withdrew from the group and the Inter-County Nursing Service became a two county agency. Pennington county was established as the main office with a director and a business manager added to the staff.

Shortly thereafter, programs were expanded in maternal child health, health promotion, blood pressure clinics and foot care clinics.

The Red Lake county nurses have always been involved in the schools in Red Lake county, doing immunizations, checking vision and hearing and performing scoliosis checks. In 1983, the agency began service to the Thief River Falls schools, which was a large undertaking involving over 2,000 students.

Over the years, the people seen by the nursing service have changed and the regulations that are the agency's guidelines have changed, but all focus of excellence of care has remained the same. Inter-County Nursing Service continues to provide services to allow patients to remain in their own homes, safely and comfortably, for as long as possible.

Over the years, there have been some increases in programs to help the elderly remain in their own homes through a variety of resources. Nurses continue to be responsible for setting up the care and assessing the goals of patients on a regular basis. All of the care is provided under the supervision of the patient's physician.

One of the types of care from which the patient benefits most is that of the home health aide. The home health aides are dedicated caregivers who provide personal care to the patients according to the care plan set up by the registered nurse.

Over the years, Inter-County Nursing has grown and expanded into other areas of health and wellness. However, one thing remains true, Inter-County Nursing Service is there to serve the residents of Pennington and Red Lake counties, giving true meaning to their motto, "Neighbors Helping Neighbors."

Employees of Inter-County Nursing Service are Val Amundgaard, Mary Amundson, Linda Arveson, Dorothy Blodgett, Twily Brandon, Judy Busch, Anita Cardinal, Laura Dahl, Sheila Dahlen, Bev Gustafson, Pam Hinrichs, June Holmstrom and Joann Hoselton.

Also, Barb Jasper, LaRue Johnson, Sharon Larson, Lillian Lund, LuAnn Lusignan, Mary Morken, Arletta Mutnansky, Paula Mutnansky, Joan Nelson, Ione Olson, Susan Olson, Cyndi Onkka, Bonnie Pehlen, Dorothy Rood, Karen Schirrick, Laurie Seng, Geri Tougas, Bonnie Wagner and Rebecca Wavra.

Everyone is welcome to come and have coffee and congratulate Inter-County Nursing Service at either or both of the nursing service open houses on September 30 and October 7.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . And a Good Time Was Had by All

Everybody had a good time at Everybody's Market this year. Everybody's Market is the craft-type sale that starts the sale season, when all the handicrafts and sale items are plentiful and newly made, stockpiled over the summer to bring out especially for this seasonal sale.

it is the sale that starts people thinking of fall, when the Halloween crafts come out, along with all of the attroctive fall decorations. Everyone starts to get in the mood for Christmas at Everybody's Market.

Cars filled with people started coming to the market before 9 a.m. and they were parked for blocks in every direction.

Buyers couldn't get to the market fast enough, and once they were there, they couldn't see and buy things fast enough.

People selling things had stands set up and decoroted, filled with everything imaginable that anyone would want to buy.

Crafters who came to look and get ideas for their own crafts had plenty of things to look at. No doubt many of them headed to the stores after the market to see if they could buy some supplies and then go home and try to make some of those pretty things for themselves, even though they knew they would never quite be able to make things as nice as those they saw at the market.

A little wind and rain at this year's sale didn't dampen anybody's spirits because the clouds quickly blew away and the skies cleared.

As I walked around the market taking pictures, I heard many good comments about having the market in one spot instead of scattered through town like it used to be. Everyone seemed to feel that having it all in one place gave it more of a carnival atmosphere. Those who are running the market should consider having it the same way again next year.

One of the constructive comments I heard was that it might be better to put the concession stands on one side of the parking lot and the craft stands at the other, so the craft booths would not have to be side-by-side with the big vans that most of the concession stands use.

The only negative thing I heard was about bathrooms – yes, those old necessities. I spoke with some crafters from out of town who go to a lot of these craft shows and they said that almost every other town they go to has some sort of bathroom facility set up for the shows.

They said they and others were having to use the bathrooms at Hardee's and they were afraid that Hardee's would get tired of all of the people from the market traipsing in just to use their bathrooms. No doubt Hardee's did not mind, but it might be a good idea to think about some sort of rental bathrooms for the next market or craft show in the park.

Anyway, I met a lot of craftsmen and women from many different places and they were all happy to be showing their wares in Thief River Falls. They liked the open air atmosphere of the sale and they liked the way the people came out to the market.

I had a good time, too. I liked everything I saw and wanted to buy several things. Maybe it was lucky I had left my money at home, since I found out a long time ago that I can't take pictures and buy things and carry them around all at the same time.

As I said, everybody had a good time at Everybody's Market this year, me included.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need six apples, 1/2 cup honey, a few drops of water, a peeler, a plastic knife and a blender.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to take an imaginary trip to the country by reading the following books:

Tofurl, Nancy. This is the Farmer. It oll starts with the farmer. The farmer kisses his wife, his wifo pats the dog, the dog...Read it for yourself and have a good time.

Martin, C. L. G. Down Dairy Farm Road. Jenie Mae thinks she has the straightest hair on Dairy Farm Road. She is willing to sell just about anything for a possible visit to Miss Carlene's Beauty Boutiqoe, but will she really part with her favorite kittens?

PARENTING TIPS

Discipline Through Distraction

Disciplino is always a complex issue. Not all techoiques work with all children. And just when you find a technique that works with your child, you will probably find that it does not work all the time. Therefore all parents need mony techniques in their "bag of tricks" to draw from. However one technique that seems to work with most young children is that of distraction.

Distraction works best with young children. This technique seems to work best from about the time your baby can crawl until he can argue back or ask "why." Some situations with infants and toddlers require immediate action and distraction works faster than just about anything else. Commands like "Stop" or "Get down" will usually not work. Tho offer of a more exciting alternative is more likely to work.

Offer an interesting alternative. Don't expect just anything to work. You have to suggest something that your child wants. Therefore what works for one child may not work for another.

Distraction is effective for short-term, not long-term, behavior changes. For long-term changes you will need to use some other method. For example, if your two-year-old picks up a sharp knife, distraction can be a quick method to stop her from cutting herself. But later she will need long term information.

Some children respond better than others. As with all discipline techniques, some children will respond better than others to this method. If you have a determined child you may need a distraction that involves o change of scenery, such as going to another room or even outdoors.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

After you have distracted your child from the immediate situation and he/she is safe then you can take the time to give some long-term information. Keep your mesage simple: "Fire will hurt you" and use longuage he/she can understand. Repeat the message often.

Cholesterol Education Month

cholesterol (levels of 240 mg/dL or higher) fell from 26 to 20 per cent.

"We want to build on that progress," Cleeman continued," by giving Americans easy access to prevention and treatment information."

High blood cholesterol is a major risk factor for heart attack, which kills about 500,000 Americans a year.

A waxy substance, cholesterol is needed to keep the body functioning properly. But the body makes all the cholesterol it can use and any excess circulates in the bloodstream. Over time, coronary arteries become narrowed, allowing less blood through. Eventually, a heart attack may occur.

According to the NCEP, adults age 20 and older should have their total cholesterol level checked at least once every five years. The high-density lipoprotein (HDL) level should be checked at the same time. HDL, often called the "good" cholesterol, helps remove cholesterol from the body.

Depending on total and HDL cholesterol levels, the low-density lipoprotein (LDL) level may also need to be checked. LDL is often termed the "bod" cholesterol because it helps deposit cholesterol in arteries. The LDL level is a more accurate indicator of heart disease risk than total cholesterol alone.

For adults without heart disease, desirable cholesterol levels as set by the NCEP are: Less than 200 mg/dL for total cholesterol and less than 130 mg/dL for LDL. An HDL below 35 mg/dL is low and a major risk factor for heart disease.

Americans can help control their blood cholesterol by adopting a healthy eating pattern — one low in saturated fat and cholesterol. The new cholesterol messages give the eating patterns recommended to prevent and treat high blood cholesterol.

To help keep high blood cholesterol from developing, the "prevention message" advises:

- Choose foods low in saturated fat. Less than 10 per cent of calories should come from saturated fat — which raises blood cholesterol more than anything else in foods.
- Choose foods low in total fat. An average of 30 per cent of calories or less should come from total fat.
- Choose foods low in cholesterol. Cholesterol from foods also raises blood cholesterol. Consume less than 300 mg a day of dietary cholesterol.
- Choose foods high in fiber. These foods aid digestion and are low in saturated fat and cholesterol. Fiber is found only in foods from plants.

To lower a high blood cholesterol, the "treatment message" says: Follow the same eating pattern as for prevention but allow less saturated fat — only 8 to 10 per cent of total calories.

And, to both prevent ond treat high blood cholesterol, the NCEP also recommends that Americans achieve and maintain a healthy weight, and that they become physically active.

The NHLBI is part of the National Institutes of Health, located in Bethesda, MD.

The NCEP is a coalition of more than 40 federal agencies and national professional and voluntary orgonizations. Launched in 1985, the NCEP directs education efforts to professionals, patients, and the public to increase awareness about the importance of cholesterol levels in heart disease risk.

The toll-free cholesterol information line became operotional on September 1, 1994, and the toll-free number is 1-800-575-WELL (9355).

Food Tips from the NHLBI High Blood Cholesterol Information Line

- Choose fish and poultry more often for meals, but remove poultry skin — that is where the saturated fat is concentrated.
- Buy lean cuts of meat. "Select" grades of meat are lowest in fat, followed by meats marked "Choice." "Prime" meats are highest in fat.
- Bake, broil, roast, or poach meat and poultry. Frying adds fat ond calories.
- Instead of whole or 2 per cent milk, try 1 per cent or skim milk. Children older than two will still get all the nutrients they need.
- Instead of o whole egg, use two egg whites, which have no cholesterol.
- Above oll, read food labels. They list soturated fot, total fot, cholesterol and calories.

The Continentals 1994 World Tour, featuring a concert of contemporary Christian music, will be coming to Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls, on Wednesday, September 21, at 7 p.m.

Continentals to appear in concert

The Continentals 1994 World Tour, featuring a concert of contemporary Christian music, will be coming to Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls, on Wednesday, September 21, at 7 p.m.

Featuring over 35 cast members, including vocalists, instrumentalists, dramatists and technicians, the Continentals will present the award-winning musical, "Dreamer." The musical written by Cam Floria, is premiering an all-new cast recording and is produced with full costuming, singing and pageantry — for an audience of all ages. It has recently been re-orchestrated, newly revised and recorded for the 1994 touring season.

"Dreamer" is based on the life story of Joseph. Sold into slavery by his jealous brothers, the Dreamer survived to become Pharaoh's appointed ruler of all ancient Egypt. In addition to Dreamer, the Continentals will present a short program of music featuring well-known inspirational favorites.

All of the young people who are part of the Continentals are carefully selected from among thousands who audition annually from around the world. The program is then fine-tuned during an intensive rehearsal camp in Denver, CO, before each group leaves for an approximate three-month tour throughout the United States and many foreign countries.

In the last 27 years, more than 14,000 young people have been a part of the Continentals, traveling millions of miles to every continent in the world, except Antarctica, and more than 70 countries. In 1985, the organization led a successful campaign, in conjunction with World Vision, to raise nearly two million dollars to fight world hunger.

Touring groups of the Continentals have been the training ground for countless individuals who are currently involved in many different arenas of the Gospel music industry and church leadership. # MN Appeals court reduces sentence of Duane Parsley

Minnesota court of appeals has reduced the conviction of Duane Lowell Parsley on a charge of first degree manslaughter to second degree manslaughter and remanded the case back to District court for resentencing.

A jury found Parsley guilty of killing Steven Klasen on January 10, 1993, with a .22 caliber pistol, but the appeals court concluded that the misdemeanor offense of misuse of a dangerous weapon cannot be committed with "force and violence" and is not a proper predicate for first degree manslaughter.

Upon appealing his conviction, Parsley's attorneys challenged the legal application of the misdemeanor manslaughter statute, which requires that there be an element of "force and violence". Specifically, his attorney argued that the offense of "misusing a dangerous weapon" cannot be committed with "force and violence," and therefore, he should not have been convicted of misdemeanor manslaughter.

The court of appeals found that, to support a conviction for first degree manslaughter, the act must be committed with such force and violence that death or great bodily harm was reasonably foreseeable. The court decided that one cannot recklessly handle a gun or intentionally point a gun with force and violence. "But a gun is not deadly unless fired. A further act is required beyond the predicate misdemeanor offense of mishandling a dangerous weapon to make the conduct forceful or violent," according to the appeals court opinion.

For these reasons, the court reduced the conviction to an offense of lesser degree — to second degree culpable negligence manslaughter. It remanded the case back to District court for re-sentencing.

Parsley was represented in appeals court by Evan Jones, assistant public defender. The state's case was pursued by Robert Stanich, assistant attorney general, and Daniel Geller, Red Lake County Attorney.

Stanich said the state was still considering whether to appeal the case to the Minnesota Supreme Court.

The Ice Cream Wagon operated by Northern Lights Community Residence has been a familiar—and often welcome—sight in Thief River Falls this summer. The project is part of the work therapy program of the residence and has involved virtually all Northern Lights residents in its operation from five and a half to six hours a day. In the photo above Paul and Tom Puppe of Simplot Soil Builders are served during a stop by staff member Tabby Larson and employee Gary Hanway during the wagon's last run of the season.

The ice cream wagon; it's therapy on a stick

Most people wouldn't equate ice cream bars with therapy, but for staff and residents of Northern Lights Community Residence in Thief River Falls the combination works great.

The Ice Cream Wagon, an insulated cooler unit towed by a golf cart, has become a familiar sight in Thief River Falls during the past summer—the first full season that it has been operated by Northern Lights, a department of the mental health division of Northwest Medical Center.

Mental health center director Dr. Steve Levinson says the ice cream wagon has been "a marvelous addition" to the work therapy program.

"We have a little different twist from most mental health programs in that we use work as therapy—and it's just the best darn therapy that we know of," he said. "Residents want as much of it as they can get and we find that their appetite for work exceeds our ability to provide it."

Northern Lights also operates a downtown book store, doing most of the staffing with residents. The ice cream wagon idea, which grew out of a group session seeking new ideas for worthwhile, non-competitive work, has expanded on the successful experience of the book store, which also deals in baseball and other sports trading cards.

"We have developed a list of requirements for therapeutic work," Dr. Levinson said. "We don't want to compete with existing business, we want our residents to provide a valid service and, although a profit isn't necessary, we want the work to be as self-supporting as possible."

Dr. Levinson cited an outstanding staff which has expanded the work therapy idea and "produced a shine on the residents" who take great pride in their participation. Too frequently these residents—who are referred to by staff as employees—have been in situations where they have not had the opportunity to be of service rather than to receive a service.

Kathy Hanson is the program director at Northern Lights Community Residence and Patti Chiodo is work therapy coordinator. Both share Dr. Levinson's enthusiasm for the success of work therapy and the community acceptance of the ice cream wagon.

"We really appreciate the help we got from Dale Wennberg and his welding shop workers who donated work on the unit," Chiodo said, "and all the assistance we received from Bridgeman's, including painting on the wagon and cart. The freezer itself was donated to us by Fred Fleming of Minneapolis who also helped with experienced advice.

"The wagon runs a regular schedule throughout the summer and our employees earn an hourly wage when they work on it. They do most of the selling and maintenance on the unit while we provide a staff member to do the driving. Even with all the rain we had early in the summer, we sold between 5,000 and 6,000 ice cream bars by calling in the residential area and at about 50 businesses."

Chiodo said that nearly all of the residents at Northern Lights work on the ice cream wagon. Among them are Bill Kusmaul, Roland Wiertzema, Jenny Janorschke, Mellitte Bakken, Patty Nelson, Alice Nelson, Gordon Asmus and Gary Hanway.

Dr. Levinson said the work therapy program has received national recognition and is commanding greater attention for its success.

"What we are doing," he said, "is attempting to remove mental illness as a barrier to doing what most people like to do, and that is being involved in meaningful work, getting results and being appreciated for what you do."

It's an interesting concept—the ice cream wagon....therapy on a stick.

Student housing shortage addressed

Shortage of rental housing for students at Thief River Falls and several other campuses of Northwest Technical College is addressed in a resolution unanimously adopted by the college board at its meeting September 8.

The resolution lists some of the problems being experienced in the community college communities and encourages the President/CEO of NTC and the campus presidents to work with each community to resolve the shortage of student housing.

Full text of the resolution is as follows:

WHEREAS, several campuses within Northwest Technical College are receiving numerous complaints from students unable to find housing in their communities; and

WHEREAS, these complaints are common each year and appear to be more numerous each year; and

WHEREAS, a shortage of housing in the smaller rural communities in Northwest Minnesota has been documented and confirmed by research firms studying these matters, as well as local campus surveys; and

WHEREAS, research confirms there is a positive correlation between student success in college and their experiences with "student life;" and

WHEREAS, there is an apparent need for Northwest Technical College leaders to become actively involved in working with their respective communities to address this problem;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, the Northwest Technical College Board encourages the President/CEO and the campus presidents to proactively work with each community to resolve the shortage of available student housing.

The resolution was introduced by member Dennis Kiesow of Thief River Falls and seconded by Jim Smalley of Bemidji. Joining in the unanimous vote of approval were Richard Bentrup of Wadena, Curt Borgen of Moorhead, Jerry Flottemesch of Callaway and Don Partlow of East Grand Forks.

Officials at the Thief River Falls campus of NTC have recorded several students who expected to attend classes here but did not enroll because suitable housing could not be found in the community.

Governor proclaims Farm Safety Week

To call attention to the losses suffered due to illnesses, injuries and deaths on Minnesota farms and ranches, Gov. Arne H. Carlson has proclaimed the week of September 18-24 as "Minnesota Farm Safety and Health Week."

During the 1994 fiscal year (July 1, 1993 through June 30, 1994) alone there were 30 farm fatalities in Minnesota.

"For our farm families, safety is as important an issue as high yields," Gov. Carlson said. "During this week we all need to focus on what can be done to make our farms safer for the adults and children who live and work there."

The governor's resolution points out that agriculture is the deadliest industry in the state, "felling workers at a rate five times greater than in general industry. Farmers in Minnesota suffer disproportionately from respiratory illnesses, hearing loss, skin disorders and certain cancers—all as a result of the work they do."

During the fiscal year from July 1, 1993 through June 30, 1994, farm deaths happened in Kittson, Marshall, Polk, Norman, Clay (2), Douglas, Mille Lacs, Stearns, Meeker, Wright (3), Lincoln, Lyon, Sibley, Scott (2), Dakota, Goodhue, Cottonwood, Watonwan, Blue Earth (2), Steele (2), Winona, Jackson, Martin and Mower counties.

Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner Elton R. Redalen, himself a fourth generation dairy farmer, noted that each year children are among those who lose their lives in farm accidents. Four children under the age of 15 were killed in the past fiscal year and 68 in the past 10 years.

"Most of us who farm have at times taken risks, usually because it was late or we were in a hurry," Redalen said. "But we all need to slow down and put safety first, not only for ourselves, but so that we model safe conduct for our children."

During the biennium ending June 30, 1995, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture will administer more than $115,000 in grants for farm safety efforts.

The grants include research projects through the Minnesota Center for Research in Agricultural Safety and Health to analyze the risk factors related to agricultural machinery injuries, assess toxic gas and dust levels in swine confinement facilities and examine farm family communication patterns on health and safety topics.

In a separate project, the Farm Safety and Health Leadership Team is working to help communities become more proactive in addressing problems of agricultural injury and disease.

The MDA is also administering a program to train farm youth, ages 14 and 15, in how to operate tractors and other farm equipment.

The governor's proclamation also points out that many can play a role in the effort to protect the health and safety of Minnesota farmers and their families.

"Agriculture machinery manufacturers and dealers can continue to design and promote safer equipment," the proclamation notes. "Farm chemical companies can provide pesticides in special containers and packages that minimize exposure and inform users of the need for protective clothing, local agribusinesses can make personal safety equipment more readily available to customers, agriculture educators can promote the economic benefits of a safe and healthy workplace, researchers and health care providers can study the illnesses and injuries common to farming and recommend ways to prevent them, and rural families can choose to keep their youngest children out of the farm work area and give older children safe, age-appropriate chores."

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

It's More Than Eating Chocolate Bonbons

"So, what do you do?" a new acquaintance politely asks me.

"I...uh...," I stammer. I never know how to respond to that question. Let's see, where should I start?

"Well, I'm a mom," I reply. "I mainly stay home and take care of my son."

"Oh."

"Yeah," I continue. "And, I'm a free-lance writer."

"Oh."

Most people don't know what to say to that. Staying at home isn't that exciting and you know those so-called writers. Aren't they a little weird? Isn't that a job description for watching game shows and eating chocolate bonbons?

My two professions may not evoke much stimulating coversation (I could tell you stories!), but it's the right solution for me. My two-pronged job description is a culmination of choices I've made in the last four years. It hasn't been easy.

When my husband and I decided to have a child, we knew we wanted one of us to stay home and raise him. Our hearts told us this would be best.

I wasn't prepared for what "staying at home and raising a child" meant. I had my career as a journalist, but I thought it would be easy to switch to the "mother-mode."

It was great not having to dash Zach off to a babysitter and me off to work in the morning. Instead, we'd cuddle and be enlightened by "Sesame Street," "Barney," and "Mr. Roger's Neighborhodd" (even in that order)

But I was unprepared for the actual job. How come the house was always messy, especially when I just cleaned it? Why was there always so much laundry and so many dirty dishes? Why was I always so tired? You mean we have to cook at home again and not eat out? Time for the "101 Recipes From Hamburger Cookbook."

I was unprepared for the mixture of feelings I experienced. I stared out the window, feeling lonely. I willed the telephone to ring. I often wished I could go back to work. I chose to stay home and I loved Zach; why was I feeling sorry for myself?

I was also unprepared for reactions to my new position. A couple of months after Zach was born, a friend asked what I was doing.

"I'm staying home with Zach," I said proudly.

"Oh, so you're just bumming." she said.

How do you respond to a comment like that? Try it for a couple weeks and see how relaxing it is.

It was also frustrating when people would say ,"You're so lucky to be able to stay at home."

I was lucky. My husband supported me, and we felt we were doing what was right. But these well-meaning people didn't realize that staying home also came with sacrifices. Money was tight; there were few lunches and dinners out. There were no new cars or vacations. The conversation revolved around how many times the baby spit up and did we have enough diapers for the rest of the week.

My thoughts acted like a boomerang. I wrestled with: stay at home or go to work. "I should stay at home for Zach's sake. But, I'd like to work and we could use the money. On the other hand, Zach needs his mom at home." Back and forth. Back and forth.

Then I was offered an opportunity to work full-time temporarily. It was a chance to see the other side. Zach attended a relative's daycare; I went to work. I loved it. My mind was busy and I no longer felt sorry for myself. And, yes, sometimes it was easier to go to work than stay at home.

But, I felt guilty when I dropped Zach off at daycare when he cried, "I don't want to go to Ann's house today. I don't like it there." I missed our mornings snuggling on the couch and our daily stroller rides. I felt guilty missing work when Zach was sick.

There has to be a middle ground, I argued tomyself. I wanted to stay home, but yet I yearned for the challenge of a job. After many fights with myself, I decided to combine two jobs Zach and writing. There are still adjustments and I still need part-time daycare, but it resolved the majority of the dilemma.

It's not easy for other moms. We all have choices to make. Some choose to stay home. Some choose to work outside of the home. Some have to work. The decisions aren't easy; each comes with its own struggles and its own tears.

After my experiences in the work-at-home world and the work-outside-the-home world, I vowed I wouldn't and couldn't judge the choices others made. I know the decisions are tough; I duked it out with myself for a couple years.

Now Zach and I can watch television in our pajamas ("Sesame Street," "Barney" and "Mr. Roger's Neighborhood"-in that order) and eat chocolate bonbons until noon. Then I trot off down the hall to my computer.

Work underway on state building site

Work at the site of a proposed building to house several state agencies in Thief River Falls began last week.

Contractors began clearing land near Westside Motors in Thief River Falls at the site of a proposed building to house the Minnesota department of transportation, State Patrol, Department of Natural Resources and other state agencies located in Thief River Falls. The building remains only a proposal at this time because funding for the entire project has not been approved by the state legislature.

Funds to begin construction on a salt shed and cold storage building has been approved.

Mike Freiderich, building maintenace superintendent for the Minnesota department of transportation in Crookston, said the state will share the 1,500 ton salt shed with the City of Thief River Falls and Pennington county. He said work on the building will continue through the winter, and hopefully, it will be completed for next winter. He said they hope to get funding for the main building and have it constructed in two to three years.

Volleyball team 3-0 winner over Lakers

It took and hour-and-a-half, but Thief River Falls came up with a 3-0 high school volleyball sweep at Detroit Lakes Monday.

The Prowlers, 5-2 overall, won their 1994 North Sub-Section 8AA debut 15-9, 18-16, 15-4 against the winless Lakers.

Thief River Falls overcame a 10-3 second game deficit en route to the sweep.

"It was obvious in Game 2 that we never gave up," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "We kept digging away at it to come up with the win."

The Prowlers struggled at times, especially while receiving serves. "Our serve reception was not a pretty sight," said Anderson. "We're going to have to change some things in this area."

Detroit Lakes won the junior varsity match 15-7, 7-15, 15-2 and took the C squad match 15-8, 15-4.

The Prowlers will host Bemidji Thursday in another North Sub-Section 8AA contest. A schedule change will find Thief River Falls entertaining Red Lake County Central Saturday beginning with the junior varsity match at 1 p.m.

Running behind blocks by center Robby Farbo and tackle Cayler Olson, Thief River Falls runningback Brian Howe tried to pick up some yards before Alexandria defender Shane Johnston (69) reached in to make the stop during Friday's high school football game at Prowler Field. Nick Haydt (40) and Aaron Crowser (33) of the Cardinals trailed the play. Alexandria won 32-20.

Cardinals shut down Prowlers in second half to win 32-20...

Alexandria comeback stops TRF

Thief River Falls put together a great first half, but couldn't match that success in the second half Friday and as a result lost a 32-20 high school football game to Alexandria.

It was the 1994 home opener for the Prowlers, whose 0-2 start includes losses to defending Class A state champion Detroit Lakes and an Alexandria team that figures to make noise in Class AA.

Thief River Falls stunned Alexandria with a pair of two-touchdown leads in the first half that ended 20-13. But the second half belonged to the Cardinals, who completely shut down the Prowlers' offense over the final 24 minutes.

In the first half, Thief River Falls netted 242 yards on 27 plays, picking up nine first downs along the way. In the second half, the Prowlers wound up with just 15 yards on 13 plays and did not have a first down.

"It was a beautiful first half," noted Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "Everything was going right. At first I thought we might have caught them flat-footed at the beginning. But when you do it again and again, you know you're doing something right."

However, after scoring the first three times they got their hands on the ball (a final possession that began with 1:27 left finished off the first half), Thief River Falls managed to get off just five plays in the first 15 minutes of the second half while falling behind 26-20.

"It was like two different teams out there," said Mumm, reflecting upon the Prowlers contrasting first and second half performances. "It was frustrating. We played so well the first half. In the second half we couldn't do anything. They (Cardinals) didn't make any adjustments defensively, but they still took everything away from us – incredible."

After converting two fourth-and-one calls into first downs, Thief River Falls finished off a 12-play, 63-yard game-opening possession on a 1-yard Brian Howe touchdown run off right tackle with 5:27 elapsed. A 33-yard Keith Anderson to Steve Burslie pass play was the big gainer on the drive.

It didn't take long for the Prowlers to double their lead to 12-0 when a 55-yard dash by Nick Chiodo keyed a 6-play, 72-yard scoring drive that culminated with a nifty-looking 13-yard Anderson to Burslie touchdown pass. The soft-touch throw settled into Burslie's arms in the right corner of the end zone with 1:42 left in the first quarter.

Alexandria answered with a 54-yard Andy Quist to Chris Howell touchdown pass as the Cardinals' quarterback aired out a long throw down the middle of the field that Howell ran under with 7:47 remaining in the first half.

But the Prowlers came right back on a long touchdown pass of their own – a 61-yard strike once against featuring Anderson and Burslie. The perfectly-thrown ball over the middle of the field was pulled in by Burslie, who beat two defenders on the play. A Keith Anderson to Nathan Anderson conversion pass made it 20-6 with 5:26 to play in the first half.

Keith Anderson, a 6-1, 175-pound junior who played the second half of the Detroit Lakes game, was a perfect 4-for-4 passing for 113 yards and two touchdowns in the first half of his first varsity start at quarterback. Burslie, a 6-4, 170-pound senior, was on the receiving end of all four passes.

"Our running game set up the play-action pass," explained Mumm. "They did a nice job with it."

But Anderson and Co. had second half trouble. He was 0-for-4 passing in the second half with two interceptions – both of which were converted into Alexandria touchdowns.

The Cardinals pulled even at 20-20 on a 1-yard Nick Heydt touchdown run that finished off a 10-play, 65-yard drive with 3:59 left in the third quarter.

Next Alexandria possession was a 12-play, 58-yard effort that set up a 4-yard Quist touchdown toss over the middle to Ryan Noetzelman for a 26-20 lead with 8:47 remaining in the game.

Thief River Falls had a chance to come back when two Alexandria penalties on ensuing kickoff set the Prowlers up at the Cardinals' 41-yard line. But four plays netted just four yards and after turning a third-and-15 into a first down with 2:25 to play, the winners sealed the decision on a 29-yard Noetzelman run with just 59 seconds showing.

"We knew we weren't going to contain them all night," acknowledged Mumm. "They have some very skilled people. We ended up with a lot of missed tackles, and we weren't in position to make some other tackles."

Noetzelman, a speedy 5-8, 161-pound senior, carried 15 times for 95 yards, while 214-pound R.J. Nodland had 12 carries for 66 yards and 166-pound Bill Zacher netted 61 yards on 10 carries. Chiodo's 55-yard first-quarter breakaway led to a team-high 64 yards on just four carries, while Tony Halsa gained 60 yards on 16 attempts.

Quist and Chad Hacker (1-for-1, 12 yards) were 8-for-12 in the air for 130 yards – completing passes to six different receivers.

Despite the second half frustrations and the loss, Mumm said it was a good show for the large crowd. "It was a good game," he noted. "It was fun. We gave them a scare."

Pioneers win on final play

■ 48-yard touchdown pass beats Worthington 6-3

Talk about your down-to-the-wire finishes. Northland opened its 1994 community college football season Saturday afternoon with a 6-3 win at Worthington when quarterback J.P. Lammers hooked up with wide receiver David Simmons for a 48-yard touchdown pass on the final play of the game.

A 28-yard field goal in the final seconds of the first quarter was the only other scoring in the defensive struggle.

It looked like it would be a 3-0 finish when a final Northland possession began at the Pioneers' 9-yard line with just 1:18 left in the game. To complicate matters, Northland burned its final time-out while correcting a play-calling mix-up.

Facing a fourth-and-7 from the Northland 12 with 48 seconds remaining, the Pioneers' unlikely comeback stayed alive when Lammers found Eddie Fleurant for a 40-yard pass to the Worthington 48.

It finally came down to a fourth-and-10 from that spot with 10 seconds showing on the clock. Lammers hit Simmons at the 35, and the receiver did the rest, breaking away from two tackles near where he caught the ball, then winning a foot race to the end zone as time expired.

There was no conversion attempt.

"It was great to win," said Northland coach Gene Klinke, but I wasn't real happy with the way we went about it – waiting until the final play to do it. We should have put it away before that. But the kids didn't give up. We saw a lot of positive things, especially on defense. It would have been a terribly disappointing game to lose after having our defense play that well."

The Northland defense held Worthington to just 96 yards worth of offense. The Blue Jays ran the ball 37 times and were stopped for no gain or for losses on 21 of those carries.

"Give this win to our defense," said Klinke. "They kept us in it until something broke for us offensively. The whole defensive unit from A (linebacker Rick Anteau) to Z (defensive back James Zephyrin) played well."

Northland's second stop on a three-game string of season-opening nonconference games will be a 1:30 p.m. outing Saturday at Fergus Falls. The Spartans began the season with a 26-18 win over highly-regarded Vermilion.

"It's going to be a tough one," acknowledged Klinke, whose team will make its home debut the following week against Willmar in the final nonconference tune-up.

Elsewhere in season-opening Minnesota Community Conference action Saturday, Rochester shut out Brainerd 27-0, Mesabi edged Willmar 7-3, Normandale handled Hibbing 51-6, and Itasca knocked off North Hennepin 16-6.

Football team will play next three on the road

This is familiar territory for Thief River Falls – winless two weeks into the 1994 high school football season.

The Prowlers faced the same scenario a year ago when they lost to Detroit Lakes and Alexandria before winning five of their final six regular season games.

The underdog against the Lakers and Cardinals – the toughest teams on the schedule – the Prowlers played them both tough in the first half but lost ground after intermission.

Now, even with three straight road games, the Prowlers will find themselves cast as the favorite when they face Wadena-Deer Creek, Staples-Motley and Park Rapids Area. The regular season schedule will end with home games against Crookston, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks. A 6-2 finish is possible, but hardly a lock.

"Looking at the competition we faced, we're not real worried about being 0-2 at this point," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "We're going to be really competitive the rest of the way, but we'll still be facing some tough teams."

Wadena-Deer Creek is 1-1 with a 34-8 first-week win over Pine River-Backus and a 25-14 Friday loss to Aitkin.

The Wolverines were dealt a blow this summer when tailback A.J. VanBruggen, who led the team in rushing last year, announced plans to skip his senior year at Wadena-Deer Creek to play junior hockey with the Sioux City (Iowa) Musketeers.

"Losing him (VanBruggen) really hurt them," acknowledged Mumm. "But they still have a lot of skilled people back. They have a good quarterback and some good receivers. They scare you because they can score from anywhere on the field."

Against Pine River-Backus, senior quarterback Ryan Carlson was 10-for-16 passing for 171 yards, and senior runningback Mitch Mohs carried 13 times for 97 yards.

Miami coach heads NCC baseball clinic

Miami area high school coach John Hofman will be the featured speaker at a mini-clinic for baseball coaches, scheduled to be held Saturday, Sept. 24, at Northland Community College.

Hofman is the athletic director and head baseball coach at Westminster Christian School in Miami. He ranks No. 1 on the Florida career victory charts with 602 wins as a baseball and football coach. His baseball teams have won five state titles, and 16 of his players have been selected in the professional draft since 1983 – including first round picks in 1987 and 1993 and second round choices in 1990 and 1993. Hofman, whose son Dave, is a current member of the Northland football team, was a 1993 American Baseball Association Hall of Fame inductee, and was named 1992 National High School Coach of the Year.

"We are fortunate to have such an outstanding coach and professional educator as our presenter," said Northland Athletic Director Rick Nelson. "We have hosted several football and basketball clinics in the past, and are excited to add a baseball clinic this year. We hope that local and area coaches will take advantage of this opportunity."

Registration fee of $5 will be taken at the door. For additional information, contact Nelson at 681-2181, or 1-800-628-9918.

Gators are off to 2-0 football start

Two weeks into the 1994 high school football season Badger/Greenbush-Middle River has matched its entire 1993 win total following a 15-13 Friday decision over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in Badger.

The Gators, who were 2-7 last fall, opened the year with a 22-6 win over Ada-Borup.

But despite the 2-0 start, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Steve Willman wasn't happy with his team's showing against the Ponies.

"It was a pretty ugly offensive display," he said. "It was really disappointing. It was an on and off-type thing. We had one outstanding drive all night. Fortunately, it came at a crucial time."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River produced only 17 yards worth of offense in the first half. But the Gators got a 7-7 tie out of it, thanks to the defense that scored on a 16-yard fumble recovery/return by Sheldon Ruud.

But in the third quarter, the Gators marched the length of the field for a 3-yard Ross Waage touchdown run, followed by what would prove to be a game-winning Rudd conversion pass to Matt Kuznia.

Waage finished with 100 yards rushing and played a strong defensive game at middle linebacker, pointed out Willman.

The Gators almost saw the lead disappear on a blocked punt with 2 1/2 minutes left that Warren-Alvarado-Oslo recovered at the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 5-yard line. Jeremy Boman scored from the 8, but the try for the two-point conversion run came up short, preserving the Gators' win.

The Gators will take on Red Lake County Central Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Oklee.

Eagles, Meyer out-scored Nordics

Offensively, Marshall County Central coach Kent Warne saw a big improvement in the Nordics' efforts from Week 1 to Week 2. But defensively, it was another rough outing Friday in a 58-30 Nine-Man high school football loss to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Stephen shut out Marshal County Central 43-0 in the Sept. 1 season-opener. The Nordics scored four touchdowns in their 1994 home opener, but the Eagles' Chris Meyer scored seven times.

Meyer's big night kept the Newfolden scoreboard operators busy as he reached the end zone on runs of 18, 1, 60, 2, 64, and 40 yards, along with a 70-yard interception return. He netted 253 yards on 16 carries.

"Meyer was pretty much a one-man wrecking crew," said Marshall County Central coach Kent Warne. "He has speed and some strength. If you don't get on him right away, you're in trouble."

It was far from perfect, but Warne was nevertheless much happier with the Nordics' play this time out. "We made a lot of progress," he said, "especially on offense. But we still have lot of things to work on offensively, and defensively we're still trying to find something that our personnel can be comfortable with."

Led by Craig Ranum, who netted 133 yards on 17 carries, the Nordics rushed for 327 yards against the Eagles. Brandon Olberg finished with 67 yards on 10 carries. Terry Olson was 2-for-7 passing for 19 yards.

Marshall County Central will play Tri-County at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Karlstad, a match-up featuring the Wildcats' speed against the Nordics' size.

Volleyball team fourth at Roseau

A 2-2 finish placed Thief River Falls fourth Saturday at the Roseau Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Warroad beat Thief River Falls 2-1 to start the round-robin pool play portion of the tournament. The Prowlers bounced back with wins over Blackduck 2-0 and Roseau II 2-1, but lost a 2-1 third place match to Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

It was a come-from-behind first-round win for Warroad, 4-15, 15-11, 15-13, including rally-point third game scoring. "We did a nice job at the net in Game 1," reported Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "In Game 2, we struggled with serve reception. Game 3 was a battle all the way."

The Prowlers beat Blackduck 16-14, 15-8 in Round 2. "We did a nice job of playing as a team," pointed out Anderson. "We played smart."

Anderson used her bench against Roseau II as the Prowlers won 12-15, 15-6, 15-5. "It was a very good experience for the non-starters to play together in the front and back row," she explained.

In a match featuring the third place finishers in the two pools, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River downed Thief River Falls 15-13, 5-15, 15-13. "We started too late," said Anderson. "We were down 8-0 in the first game. We started to click, but it was too late. We played exceptionally well in Game 2 – we got some really nice hits and blocks. I was also pleased with our coverage."

The rally-point third game was tied at 13-13 when the Gators won it with a Thief River Falls serve into the net and a deflection off a block.

"When we put our minds to it, we can really play well," noted Anderson. "I feel we could have been in the championship match, but lack of communication and some mental errors were costly."

Blue Devils lose 8-6 decision

A missed fourth quarter conversion attempt and muffed field goal opportunity in the final seconds cost Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Friday as the Blue Devils lost an 8-6 Nine-Man high school football game to Tri-County.

The Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke defense did not give up a touchdown. Only Tri-County score came on a 22-yard interception return by Curt Spilde early in the third quarter. A Jeremy Olson conversion run would prove to be the difference at the end.

A 2-yard Brady Wiseth touchdown run pulled Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke within 8-6 with about eight minutes left, but the try for the tying two-run conversion run was stopped short of the goal line.

The Blue Devils did get a shot at the end when a hard rush and a poor snap on a Tri-County punt gave Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke the ball at the Wildcats' 20-yard line in the final moments. But a bad snap on a potential game-winning field goal attempt from the 7 put an abrupt end to the kick.

The loss dropped the Blue Devils to 1-1 for the year. "In some areas we did all right," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen. "Defensively, the kids played very well. We just have to figure out a way to put some points on the board."

Jim Verbout led the Blue Devils offense with 81 yards on a busy 31-carry effort. Defensive lineman Aaron Miller was the leading Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke tackler with 12.

The Blue Devils will play Kittson County North Friday at 3:30 p.m. in Lancaster.

Grouse numbers rise

Grouse hunters who listen carefully can hear a flush of promise in the aspens and alders.

After a few years of population declines, ruffed grouse numbers are rising again or holding steady across most of Minnesota. The only exceptions are southeastern Minnesota and the central hardwoods, where spring drumming count surveys indicate 20 and 17 percent declines, respectively, from 1993.

"This year's grouse hunting season should be better than last year's," said Bill Berg, a department of Natural Resources wildlife research biologist. "We're entering the increasing phase of the 10-year cycle. The individual hunter may flush a few more birds. I expect the harvest to be appreciably higher than in 1993."

Last year, approximately 300,000 ruffed grouse were taken by hunters. That was down 45 percent form 1992, but still 65 percent above the harvest of 183,000 birds during the low point of the last cycle in 1983.

Spring surveys indicated an 89 percent increase in drumming activity in the northwest range. Drumming activity was up 25 percent in the north-central range and stable in the northeast.

"Grouse hunters should be aware that two things are happening this year," said Berg. "First, the 10-year cycle is on the upswing. Second, Mother Nature has been kind. The birds were blessed with ideal snow roosting conditions in winter, excellent nesting conditions in spring, and good brood-rearing conditions throughout summer because the heavy rains held off at least until mid-June."

League tournament went down to the final shoe, with Gary Donarski edging John Nelson for the title in Class B, while Dick Moen got by Gerald Nelson for first place in Class A.

Gerald Nelson and Dick Moen will carry their season into the state doubles tournament.

Park Rapids wins dual swim match against Prowlers

Park Rapids Area overwhelmed shorthanded Thief River Falls 113-72 Thursday in girls high school swimming.

It was the second dual loss in as many starts for the Prowlers, who have been forced to compete without a number of proven point-producers because of illness and injuries.

"We've had tough luck," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "The kids we have are swimming hard. They've been swimming well. But we haven't swam with a full squad yet, and that just kills us."

Mustangs beat Ada-Borup 24-6

Red Lake County Central had two runningbacks break the 100-yard barrier Friday as the Mustangs beat Ada-Borup 24-6 in a high school football game played at Plummer.

Eric Reinbold, a 5-8, 155-pound senior, gained 189 yards on 11 carries, while Scot Lorenson, a 5-11, 185-pound senior, netted 101 yards on 15 carries to lead a Red Lake County Central running game that produced 306 yards on 35 tries.

"Our offensive line did a nice job, and our backs ran hard," reported Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl.

The win evened the Mustangs' record at 1-1. They lost an 18-7 season-opener at Fosston the week before.

"We were more determined this time," acknowledged Brantl. "We played more inspired football, and we eliminated some mistakes."

Red Lake County Central jumped out to a 14-0 first quarter leads on touchdown runs by 35 and 96 yards by Reinbold.

Ada-Borup cut the lead to 14-6 by halftime, but the winners answered with a 46-yard Aaron Chaput field goal in the third quarter and a 57-yard Lorenson touchdown run in the final period.

"Aaron has a strong leg," pointed out Brantl. "You will probably see some more of those (field goals) before the season is done."

Linebacker Brett Bishop, along with ends Scott Waldal and Aaron Rosten, led the Mustangs' defense with five tackles each.

B/G-MR squad is third at Roseau Invitational

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was a third place finisher Saturday at the Roseau Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Roseau edged Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 16-14, 15-11 to start the round-robin portion of the two-division tournament format, but the Gators came back to defeat Tri-County 15-11, 15-10 and Kittson County North 15-5, 3-15, 15-8 to earn a spot in the third place match against Thief River Falls.

The Gators beat the Prowlers 15-13, 5-15, 15-13.

"Our serving let us down, and we could have been sharper with our passing," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Gwen Borgen, "but we did a lot of things well. The thing that impressed me the most is that every team has good blockers. You really have to work for points."

Hunters help to reload Minnesota's economy

With the hunting season upon us, Minnesotans might want to know that hunters will be doing more than just putting game on the table. They will also be spending hundreds of millions of dollars for their activities and supporting nearly 7,000 jobs.

According to the most recent national survey of fishing, hunting and wildlife recreation, Minnesota's 600,000 hunters spend nearly $300 million on food, lodging, gas and equipment each year. And because the majority of hunting activity goes on in farm and forest regions, most of these dollars are spent in the state's rural communities. It's sort of like annually reloading the state's rural economy with cash.

A study of the economic effects of hunting in Minnesota released in 1992 showed that a smaller amount of expenditures in 1985 ($228 million) supported 6,800 full and part time jobs in Minnesota. These jobs are directly associated with hunting, and are also in businesses that indirectly support hunting-related activities, such as rural motels an diners.

"With more than half a million hunters in this state, hunting is obviously a big part of Minnesota's cultural life," noted Tim Bremicker, Section of Wildlife chief. "But what's less well recognized is that the $300 million hunters spend each year makes hunting a big part of the state's economic life, too."

Ruffed grouse population

agers are seeing more and larger grouse broods than last year, said Berg. Still, that doesn't mean grouse hunting will be easy. It won't. Birds will be fairly scarce and successful hunters can expect to be whipped in the face by a branch or two and find themselves with sore, tired legs at the end of the day. And even the best wingshots will be humbled. Ol' ruff takes off like an F-14 fighter and is particularly tough to hit or see in September when leaves provide a green shield of protection.

Minnesota's grouse population rises and falls over a period of approximately 10 years. Typically, birds are most abundant near the end of the decade and are at their lowest level during the middle years. Population fluctuations generally appear first in northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota and, for unknown reasons, then roll across the lake states.

"Wisconsin and Michigan saw slight increases in their grouse populations this year, too," said Berg.

Why the grouse population rises and falls remains a mystery. A new Wisconsin study suggests that the bottom of the grouse cycle coincides with major hawk and owl migrations into that state. Goshawks and great horned owls are the major avian predators on grouse.

Other grouse cycle studies have focused on food sources. One study determined that the palatability of aspen buds – an important source of food for grouse food – can vary greatly over a period of years.

"In the past, grouse cycle research has been seeking to find the single reason. It's possible that the fluctuations are the result of several, subtle environmental changes working in concert with one another."

Berg encourages grouse hunters to wander from the beaten path and look for pockets of aspen with trunks "about as thick as your fist or bicep." If these areas contain patches of dogwood berries, holly berries, or clover, that's even better.

"Many wildlife management areas get hunted pretty hard," said Berg. "My advice is to hop in the car, look for an area that was logged a few years ago, get permission to hunt if you need it, and enjoy the day."

Medical forms assistance is now available

Through the medical forms assistance program, help is now available for senior citizens in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Norman counties who are having a problem with understanding their medical and Medicare billing.

Trained volunteers will help figure out the complicated paperwork involved. They do not represent any insurance company and do not sell insurance. The services are provided free of charge, although donations to help with costs such as postage, mileage and photocopying are gladly accepted.

The program is made possible, in part, under the federal Older Americans Act through a grant from the Northwest Minnesota Area Agency on Aging and Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Inc.

Persons who need help are invited to call the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Inc., in Crookston at 218-281-5834 or 1-800-201-3432 toll-free and ask for Lon.

State lottery promotes Powerball

Minnesota State Lottery is introducing a new promotion called Powerball Doubler, which could double some of the prizes.

Sales for the eight-draw event began Wednesday evening and offered players a chance to double the prizes of winning Powerball plays up to —and including — $100,000. (The jackpot will not be doubled.) The promotion works like this: beginning Saturday, September 10, a special Powerball Doubler drawing will be held following the regular, live Powerball draw. If the purpose Powerball Doubler ball is drawn, then all cash prizes for Saturday's draw will double. If the prizes don't double on the first draw (with odds of 1 in 8), then the odds will increase with each consecutive draw — guaranteeing the prizes will double at least once during the promotion. Players must purchase five Powerball tickets or more to be eligible for The Doubler.

Powerball is the multi-state lotto game in which players select five numbers from 1 to 45 and a Powerball, also from 1 to 45.

Beaver damage control project is progressing

To fund removal of beaver and beaver dams, the six-county Joint Power Beaver Damage Control Program has signed a contract with the Minnesota Department of Agriculture for $50,000 in support.

According to The Red River Messenger, a publication of the International Coalition for Land and Water Stewardship in the Red River Basin, the program has been implemented and involves 204 townships in the counties of Beltrami, Clearwater, Marshall, Pennington, Polk and Red Lake.

"The first Joint Powers meeting was scheduled for August 29," the newsletter states. "The Red Lake Watershed District board of managers is pleased with the activity that has occurred with the Beaver Damage Control program and has submitted a grant application to the Board of Government Innovation and Cooperation to expand the program in 1995 from six counties to 17 counties."

If funded under the new policy, the additional counties to be included would be Itasca, Hubbard, Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Becker, Norman, Cass, Mahnomen and Clay.

In addition to beaver and dam removal funding through the state, the watershed districts are asking to buy a super backhoe which would be used to remove the beaver dams.

The Carpetbagger, owned and operated by Glen and Ann Haugen, recently joined the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The Carpetbagger has been providing quality floor coverings to residents living in northwestern Minnesota for over 12 years.

Carpetbagger joins TRF Chamber of Commerce

For over 12 years, the Carpetbagger in Thief River Falls has been providing quality floor coverings to residents living in northwestern Minnesota. Recently they joined the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Glen and Ann Haugen, owners of the Carpetbagger, have over 20 years of experience in providing floor coverings.

Glen said that when they started it was for reasons most cited by other entrepreneurs — they had the urge to see if they could do it and be their own boss. When they started, it was on a shoestring budget. 1982 was not a good year to start a business. Interest rates were high and Arctic Cat was out of business. But they had faith in their own abilities and had acquired a following from previous work.

Today, much like it was when it started, the Carpetbagger is a family run operation; although, Glen said he is running out of family. The business has also grown and flourished. The marketing area for the Carpetbagger is most of northwest Minnesota. About 60 per cent of his business is from residential customers, and 40 per cent commercial.

Trends in the business have changed since he opened the Carpetbagger at its current location on Highway 59 South. People are more interested in quality now, Glen said. They're still interested in price, but quality seems to be more important. Ten years ago, he said, they seemed to be more interested in low end products and low prices.

Glen believes success comes from finding a product to suit a customer's needs and being honest with them. They appreciate it, he said and they'll be happier. He said he takes the time to visit with customers and find out what their needs are. If they need someone to help them make some decisions, he'll even go to their home or business.

For individuals just starting a business, Glen said it's important to have experience in the business and that "you have all your facts together." He also added that business owners have to be prepared for long days and a lot more work than just store hours.

The Carpetbagger is a complete floor-covering store. They have carpet, vinyl, hardwood, and ceramic floor coverings in many name brand carpet products, such as Mohawk, Congoleum, and Marrington and Coronet. They also have a complete line of floor care products, and a framed-mirror department.

The Carpetbagger is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Thursday until 8 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon. The Carpetbagger also provides free local delivery, professional installation and free estimates.

Cancer fundraisers causing confusion and some concern

The Cancer Center for Detection and Prevention of Topeka, Kansas, is going door-to-door seeking donations. It is not, and should not be confused with the American Cancer Society.

Law enforcement officials in Thief River Falls have received a number of inquiries regarding the Cancer Center for Detection and Prevention. Officials then contacted the Office of Attorney General's office and learned that the Attorney General's office had also received a number of inquiries regarding Pacific West Cancer Fund, which is currently soliciting under the name Cancer Center for Detection and Prevention.

The Attorney General advises residents that it has no authority to advise residents on whether they should make a donation to Pacific West or any other organization. In a letter written by Sheila Fishman, assistant Attorney General, it was explained that, "Pacific West Cancer Fund is a client of Direct Response Consulting Services (DRCS), formerly known as the Watson and Hughey Company, which provides direct mail fundraising advice to nonprofit organizations. In 1989, DRCS (and some of its charity clients) was sued by Minnesota and about 15 other states for causing certain deceptive solicitations to be mailed. Many of those cases settled in 1991." (The letter does not state that Pacific West was sued.)

The letter further states, "Because the Supreme Court has ruled that charitable solicitation is free speech protected by the First Amendment, the settlements did not include any relief barring DRCS or the charities involved from future solicitations. However, in Minnesota we were able to recover monetary damages and restitution of $110,000 and to stop the particular solication which we considered deceptive. We also obtained an agreement that future solicitations would include disclosures concerning the expenditure of funds.

"These disclosures are on the reverse side of Pacific West Cancer Fund's solicitations and are important for all recipients to read. They reveal that Pacific West Cancer Fund raised $5,613,780 last year and spent 5.235 per cent on program, 51.5 per cent on the public education information included in its appeal letters, 36.8 per cent on fund raising, 6.35 per cent on administration."

Calls to the law enforcement center and The Times seem to indicate some confusion over whether this organization was the American Cancer Society or is connected to the American Cancer Society. It is not. The American Cancer Society is easily identifiable with its logo — the sword of hope.

The Minnesota Attorney General's office has released the followin a list of tips for consumers and businesses about "Smart Giving":

1) Understand who is requesting a donation. Be certain of the identity of the charitable organization and the fund raiser. For example, law enforcement or fire fighter appeals seem to confuse consumers. Do not allow yourself to feel intimidated. Your local police or fire departments do not generally

MN Health Ins. nears anniversary

Governor Arne Carlson has announced that a new government-sponsored health insurance purchasing pool for small to medium-sized businesses has reached its first anniversary with impressive results.

The Minnesota Employees Insurance Program (MEIP), which stemmed from part of the MinnesotaCare health insurance reforms signed by the Governor, was created to offer businesses more affordable health insurance. By allowing small to medium-sized businesses the opportunity to pool together to form one purchasing unit, the program gives each business the insurance buying power of a large corporation. More affordable rates, high quality coverage and increased provider choices are program benefits.

"After just finishing its first year of operations, MEIP has achieved an impressive record of success," Governor Carlson said. "More than 2,300 employees and dependents are covered by the program, including 78 per cent who were previously not able to obtain coverage through their workplace."

The innovative program is open to any business in Minnesota with two or more employees. Enrolled groups represent a wide range of industries, from retail and service to manufacturing and farming. Participation in the program is voluntary, but once enrolled, businesses must contribute a minimum of 50 per cent towards the cost of employee coverage.

Hospice trains volunteers

Northland Community Hospice will conduct an informational meeting and initiate a training program on Monday, September 26, beginning at 7 p.m. in the north conference room of Northwest Medical Center. Completion of the program will lead to a certificate in caring for the terminally ill.

Northland Community Hospice, which became licensed in June of 1993, is required by the Minnesota Department of Health to train and use volunteers.

"Volunteerism is a strong force in hospice care," states Martha Wissmann, director of the Northland hospice, "because volunteers started hospices in this country over 20 years ago. Volunteers are what keeps the hospice focused. They keep us professionals on our toes, responsive to the family's and the patient's needs. Much of our job could not be done without the volunteer."

Northland Community Hospice is also applying for Medicare Certification which will reduce the financial burden on its patients and make Northland Community Hospice eligible for insurance reimbursement. The hospice does not charge a fee for its services and relies solely on local fund raising drives, the United Way and individual contributions for its income.

Volunteers perform a variety of functions and tasks depending on their interests and abilities. Some volunteers stay overnight at a patient's home so the family can rest. Others speak about hospice in the community, or deliver patient supplies, or help with office tasks.

solicit money. Police or fire fighter associations do request money for their purposes, rather than for charity.

2) Think about sending a check to your favorite charity without being asked. That way the charity has full use of your donation.

3) Be alert to the fact that organizations will sometimes have similar names. There are many cancer and heart charities and hundreds of law enforcement associations. Many sound impressive, even when their accomplishments are not.

4) Always donate by check, never give cash or by credit card.

5) If you haven't been told, ask if the solicitor is a paid fund-raiser and if your contribution is tax deductible. If it's important to you, don't count on the solicitor to volunteer the information.

6) If approached by telephone or at your door, exercise caution. Before you give to a charity you've never heard of, ask that information be sent to you. Don't be unduly swayed by emotional appeals and don't give under pressure.

7) Read a charity's material carefully. Look for a specific description of the charitable purpose.

8) Businesses are often approached to buy advertising in various publications to benefit a nonprofit organization or an association. Do not equate an advertising purchase with a charitable donation. Decide if the advertisement meets your business' needs to attract customers. If it doesn't, ask if the purchase will fulfill a charitable purpose and how.

9) Follow your heart, but use your head. Once your questions have been answered to your satisfaction, give what you can.

10) For more information, call the Attorney General at (612) 297-4613 or 1-800-657-3787, or the Charities Review Council at (612) 870-0657 or 1-800-733-4483.

BIBLE STUDY
Pure and undefiled religion

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

When we analyze James 1:27, we find out what God expects of us. "This is pure and undefiled religion in the sight of our God and Father, to visit orphans and widows in their distress, and to keep oneself unspotted by the world."

Whatever this "pure religion" is, it has to do with helping widows and orphans who are in need. This goes along with 1 John 3:17-18 and James 2:15-17. It also goes along with what John the Baptist told the people to do for repentance (Luke 3:10-11). Even Christ was teaching the message of compassion toward those in need in Luke 10:33-36. He taught us to put the welfare of others first and to be servants of the most (1 Cor. 10:24; Matt. 23:11; 20:26-28; Mark 9:35; 10:43-45).

Jesus said true disciples—the sheep—serve others in need, while false Christians do nothing (Matt. 25:33-46; Titus 1:16). These false Christians are considered goats or dogs, while true disciples worship in the Spirit of God, give the glory to Jesus Christ and put no confidence in the flesh (Phil. 3:2-3). True disciples glorify God by doing good works daily, allowing their lights to shine before men in such a way that they bring glory to the Father (Matt. 5:16).

Continually doing good for God's glory is our spiritual service of worship (Rom. 12:1). We worship God by presenting our bodies as a living and holy sacrifice, using the members of our bodies as instruments of righteousness only (Rom. 6:13). In this way, we become happy slaves of righteousness (Rom. 6:18-19; Eph. 6:6). God is well-pleased with this kind of sacrifice (Heb. 13:16).

Doing good is also how we put to death the evil deeds of the body and live to the Spirit, which is God (Rom. 8:13-14). When we walk in the Spirit by serving others for God, we will not carry out the desires of the flesh (Gal. 5:16). Instead, we will be overcoming evil by doing good for God in Christ's name (Rom. 12:21; 1 Peter 3:11; Col. 3:17). We will be keeping Christ's works and overcoming Satan by allowing the God of peace to crush him in our nature (Rom. 16:20; Rev. 2:26).

This is pure and undefiled religion, and this is how we keep ourselves unspotted by the world. This simple, pure devotion to Christ is simply walking as Jesus walked; and it is so easy and pleasant (2 Cor. 11:3; 1 John 2:6; Matt. 11:30)!

You have no excuse for your sins now that you know how to overcome them (John 15:22). When Jesus Christ returns to this earth shortly, will you be among those who are found overcoming evil by doing good in a dark world (Phil. 2:15; Luke 18:8)? Will you be prepared to meet the Lord (Luke 1:17)?

2,248 Tires Rationed To Date In County

"A total of 2,248 tires, or an average of .87 tire per motor vehicle, were rationed in Pennington county from January 1, 1942 to August 23, 1944, according to a tabulation by the Fargo OPA office. An aggregate of 2,581 motor vehicles were registered in the county, the survey says. Commenting on the value of the survey, Harold W. Bangert, district OPA director, told board chairmen that they could tell at a glance what kind of tire rationing job is being accomplished by each local board compared with others in the district.

"We realize that these statistical comparisons do not in all cases tell the entire story,' Mr. Banger said. 'Some of the counties having large cities, for example, stand as "best," having granted fewest tires per vehicle. Agricultural pursuits in other counties depend almost entirely on automobile transportation. In more urban counties such as some those heading the list, automobiles may be used infrequently and for non-business purposes.'"

Farm Safety Week Is Reminder To Be Alert To Hazards On The Farm

Just about everything that can be promoted has a national or at least a state week designated for it—mostly a time for emphasis to call attention of the product, organization or purpose to the general public. Few of these weeks draw a lot of attention, but one that should is being observed September 18-24. That is Minnesota Farm Safety and Health Week.

Perhaps farmers don't need to be reminded that they are engaged in a dangerous occupation, but maybe they do. Sometimes when you work close to danger all the time and it becomes familiar to you, there is a tendency to be just a little careless or take a few more liberties with safety than you should.

It is worth noting that farm accidents claimed the lives of 25 men, one woman and four children in the past year (July 1, 1993 through June 30, 1994). And it is also worth noting that the 30 fatalities were a 25 per cent decrease from the 40 lives lost in farm accidents the previous 12-month period.

The death records are compiled from news clippings and death certificates tabulated by the Minnesota Department of Health. As in previous years, machinery-related accidents accounted for most of the state's farm fatalities. Tractor roll-overs and entanglements with augers or power take-off shafts caused nearly 35 per cent of the fatal injuries. Other deaths were caused by suffocation in grain, electrocution and crushing.

The four children among the victims were a toddler, a five-year-old, an early elementary school youngster and a 12-year-old. Loss of children to accidents somehow seems all the more tragic. Farm parents may routinely expose children to dangers beyond their abilities to cope with them because of the daily routine that has those dangers always present and familiar.

Many farmers think having their children around when they are working where they "can keep an eye on them" are dealing safely with the situation. The Kevin Paap family at Vernon Center sends their two sons, ages six and three, to a childcare provider.

"We feel pretty strongly that farm kids as young as our boys are better off in daycare than they would be trailing us around all day," Kevin says. "When adults are working hard to get the crop in, too many dangerous things can happen to a child. And we love our boys too much to expose them to those risks."

In addition to being a farmer, Kevin Paap is an emergency medical technician and a member of the Vernon Center volunteer fire department.

"I've seen plenty of farm accidents involving kids," he said, "and believe me, I'd rather not see another one."

John Shutske, agricultural safety and health specialist for the Minnesota Extension Service, notes that many farm counties with little available daycare also show high numbers of child farm deaths over the past 10 years.

"Parents are always the best caretakers, but when parents are engaged in hazardous or even simply attention-consuming work, someone else should be watching the kids," Shutske says. Over the past 10 years, 68 farm children under the age of 15 have been killed in Minnesota farm accidents.

Older farmers may also find that they may be at greater risk due to physical changes such as faster onset of fatigue, reduced vision and/or hearing, slower reaction time, loss of strength or movement from arthritis or other maladies. Research shows that tractor drivers 65 years of age and older may be two to three times more likely to have a fatal tractor accident than persons in other age groups. It is important to recognize limitations and make adjustments to work within them.

Farm safety means more than just being careful around machinery and livestock, although those dangers can't be minimized. Today's farmers are exposed to the additional hazards of chemical and fertilizer handling, and dust of various kinds have always been a part of farm operations. Wearing the proper masks and protective clothing can be safeguards against long-range as well as immediate hazards from these sources of health danger.

Farm supply stores are becoming more aware of the need for protective equipment and are carrying the supplies that farmers should be using—such as masks when handling dusty grain or feeding livestock. People who work with farm products, such as grain elevator workers, also would benefit from masks which prevent them from inhaling harmful dust.

Many farm accidents happen during the rush of planting or harvest seasons when farmers are hurrying to take advantage of every minute of favorable weather. It is especially during these rush seasons that it is necessary for farmers to force themselves to take the time to shut down equipment before working on it and to be sure shields are in place. Taking the time to think just a little ahead of the moment could prevent a death or disabling injury.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

This letter is in response to your September 7, 1994 article entitled "Engineers Union President Reviews His Union's Position."

On the four issues that the BLE (Engineers' union) has taken exception to, the UTU (Trainmen's union) offers the following responses:

(1) BLE states: "An agreement that governs the exercise of seniority for engineers."

UTU response: First, the UTU agreed to withdraw this issue on August 9, 1994 at the Rail Chiefs meeting in Minneapolis, MN. Second, contrary to this statement, there is no "engineers' rule" that governs when an engineer may return to train service. As an issue separate from the strike and under the 1985 UTU National Agreement, we sought to limit the required exercise of seniority in engine service to the zone seniority BLE has in place before returning to ground service. In other words, engineers would not be required to go system wide as an engineer. They would go back into train service if they couldn't work as an engineer in their BLE zone, saving them from going hundreds of miles away from homes and families.

(2) BLE states: "Contrary to the provisions of the Railway Labor Act, UTU has demanded that the engineers pay full dues to the UTU while working as engineers in order to continue accumulation of train service seniority."

UTU response: First, seniority accumulation agreements are not illegal and, as you know, two courts of appeals have said so when the BLE sued UTU. Second, this is common practice. For example, such rail unions as BMWE, BRS and TCU have similar arrangements. Third, presently engineers on the Soo Line Railroad can belong to any union they choose. If the BLE does not move to establish an exclusive agreement on the Soo Line, the UTU will not move toward a seniority retention provision.

(3) BLE states: "While it is a standard practice that the carrier designate who is in charge of the train, UTU seeks, by agreement, that the conductor will be in charge of the train."

UTU response: First, BLE has tried to get agreements that the engineer is in charge of the train, without success, because the rule now is the conductor is in charge of the train. We only want our agreement to recognize existing reality. Second, the BLE has on a number of occasions, on various properties, attempted to enter into agreements that the engineer should be in charge of the train. The existing rules state that the engineer is in charge of the engines, the conductor is in charge of the train, but both the engineer and conductor are equally responsible for the safe operation of the train.

(4) BLE states: "In Presidential Emergency Board No. 219, BLE was awarded the right to exclusively represent engineers."

UTU response: First, the BLE leadership has failed to explain to their membership that it is illegal for one labor union to negotiate on issues under the jurisdiction of another union or has he merely overlooked this issue. Also addressed in issue 2, presently engineers on the Soo Line Railroad can belong to any union they so choose. If the BLE does not move to establish an exclusive arrangement on the Soo Line, the UTU will not move toward a seniority retention provision.

In closing, I would like to make some comments. Contrary to the article, AFL-CIO has tried to mediate a solution between the two parties. Lane Kirkland, president of the AFL-CIO, has been asked by UTU president G. Thomas Dubose to sit in on a meeting between the union heads. Mr. Kirkland has agreed and has written a letter to BLE president Ronald McLaughlin stating as much, but to this date Mr. McLaughlin hasn't replied. Also, if any evidence to support the BLE's allegations can be found, it should be produced; if not, perhaps it's time for the BLE's top leadership to be honest with its members.

Sincerely,
Tony Noel, Chairman

Job creation, retention number-one priority in MN

Commissioner of Trade and Economic Development Peter Gillette traveled in northern Minnesota this week to visit businesses and communities and follow up on economic development projects where DTED has invested financial or technical resources.

"Governor Arne Carlson has made job creation and retention a number-one priority of his administration. To grow more jobs in Minnesota, it's important that I hear first-hand about the progress of northern Minnesota communities and businesses, so I can help further the partnership between state government and the private sector," Gillette said.

During his tour of northern Minnesota, Gillette visited Duluth, International Falls, Baudette, Warroad and Thief River Falls.

Gillette also released new annual economic data for the northwest and northeast regions, covering third quarter 1992 through third quarter 1993. The data reports business births, dissolutions, expansions and contractions.

The new data shows that, for the northwest, there were 266 new business startups, creating nearly 1,200 new jobs. Compared to the previous year, the number of business failures and associated job losses fell by one-third. Expanding businesses in the region created the majority of new jobs, adding more than three jobs for each new job created by start-ups. Expansions in high-tech manufacturing such as industrial machinery, computers and scientific instruments created nearly 600 new jobs, two of every three expansion jobs in manufacturing.

Also in the northwest, employment growth was 1.7 per cent between 1990 and 1993, 40 per cent higher than the national rate. Personal income growth between 1990 and 1992 was 9.7 per cent, faster than both the national and state rates.

In the northeast, there were 622 business start-ups, creating nearly 2,900 new jobs. Compared to the previous year, the number of business failures fell by one-quarter. Expanding businesses created nearly three jobs for each new job provided by start-ups. Most expansions occurred in services and retail trade. Expansions by resource-based manufacturing (food and kindred products, lumber and wood products, printing and publishing, etc.) created two of every three expansion jobs in manufacturing.

In the northeast, employment growth was 2.1 per cent between 1990 and 1993, nearly twice as fast as the rest of the nation. Personal income growth between 1990 and 1992 grew 11.2 per cent, faster than either state or national rates.

"Northern Minnesota showed a positive economic strength from third quarter 1992 through third quarter 1993. This good news is a tribute to the hard-working people of this region," Gillette said. "Governor Carlson and I plan to continue working with the northern part of the state to help the area prosper."

State plans workshops to address solid waste policies

Statewide workshops to address Minnesota's policies on solid waste management began September 7 in Mankato.

The Legislative Commission on Waste Management met in Mankato in the first of five workshops. Among those testifying before the commission was Olmsted County Solid Waste Manager Gene Mossing. Mossing told the commission that more effective management of solid waste will involve placing more emphasis on controlling what actually enters the waste stream.

"Minnesota's integrated system of solid waste management is an effective one," Mossing said. "We don't need to devote extensive effort and resources to developing new technologies to manage the waste we produce." "Rather," Mossing said, "Our emphasis should be on supporting the current infrastructure and redirecting our energies to achieving significant gains in source control. that's our best hope for reducing the total amount of waste generated each year, as well as the likelihood of toxic substances appearing in the waste."

Mossing, who represents a trade association of Minnesota's composting and waste combustor facilities, also said that Minnesota's waste-to-energy facilities play a vital role in how Minnesota manages municipal solid waste. "A recent SCORE report found that those Minnesota counties that have combustion facilities also have the highest recycling rates in the state," Mossing said. "We manage almost half of all the waste generated each year, sending substantial amounts into recycling and composting facilities rather than into landfills."

Mossing added that Minnesota's waste-to-energy facilities play a key role in protecting the environment. He said not only do the combustion facilities reduce the volume of solid waste by as much as 90 per cent through combustion, they successfully capture toxic heavy metals and prevent them from entering the environment.

"The only method available that would provide more effective control would be to source control these metals, applying stricter safeguards on how they are used in the original manufacture of products and packaging that require disposal," Mossing said. "That's where we should focus our efforts".

The next Vision 2015 workshop will be held Thursday, September 8, in St. Paul. Other workshops are scheduled September 12 in Bemidji, September 14 in Morris, and September 19 in Duluth. For more information, call the Legislative Commission on Waste Management at (612) 297-3604.

Beginning each Sunday, from August 14 through October 16, a different crime prevention card is available to any youngster who requests one from a member of a participating law enforcement department. The crime prevention tip on Jack Del Rio's card is: "Drug Abuse Resistance Education is for everyone. Ask your friends if they know the eight ways to say no. Your police or sheriff have more information about DARE, give them a call."

Crime prevention collector cards are available from any member of a participating law enforcement department. The crime prevention tip on the back of Cris Carter's crime prevention card is: "Work together with your neighbors as a team, make your neighborhood a safer place to live. Looking out for each other is a good defense against crime. Report all unusual behavior to your police or sheriff."

Classes begin Monday at Challenger school

With an opening day enrollment of 991 students, the new $10 million Challenger elementary school opened its doors for classes Monday, September 16. The opening was two weeks later than the start of high school and middle school classes but more than two months earlier than what had originally been projected.

Construction continues in a number of areas of the building but extensive progress continues to be made on a daily basis. Classrooms are virtually completed along with attendant service areas. Main work remains to be done in large areas such as the media center, cafeteria/kitchen and gymnasium.

School officials were enthused about the participation in the orientation for parents and students Saturday and Sunday. Most classes had only two or three families which were not represented, several had 100 per cent representation and a number of teachers said they received advance calls from parents of students who would be out of town on the orientation dates. In general, there was about 90 per cent participation in the two sessions Saturday and third session Sunday.

Principal Glen Espe said that the orientation and opening day went generally well, and both benefitted from the presence of a number of volunteers.

"We can't say enough for the people who gave of their personal time on a beautiful weekend to help us make the transition to a new school a whole lot smoother," Espe said. "There was a minimum of confusion as the buses arrived on Monday morning, and greatly because there where enough adults on hand to welcome children, help them with their lockers and become situated in the right classrooms."

Espe said that some changes are being made in bus unloading and loading patterns but that should be stabilized by later this week. And while everyone at the school is eager for everything to be complet-

City plans to re-submit SCDP grant application

Less than a dozen people attended a public hearing Tuesday night in the city auditorium on the resubmittal of an application for a Small Cities Development Program grant. The grant application will be for $1.1 to $1.2 million, which will be used to rehabilitate commercial property, and low to moderate income residential property in the downtown business district of Thief River Falls.

The grant application was turned down last year, according to Joan Abercrombie who is writing the grant, because the grant was a little too broad. Abercrombie said many of the estimates have been refined and the target area limited to the area between First and Fourth and Duluth and the Railroad tracks in downtown Thief River Falls. Last year, the target area included properties between 6th and Model Laundry and from Duluth Avenue to the River. Instead of 82 residential rental units it will affect about 50 units. Instead of 36 commercial properties it will affect 35.

Mayor Robert Reeve said the public hearing Tuesday was one of the final steps in obtaining public input to a project that would mean a lot to the citizens of Thief River Falls.

Don Stewart, community development director, explained that the process began several years ago. Part of the process involved distributing a questionnaire. That questionnaire helped define several needs. Overall, the questionnaire identified the following needs: a bridge or railroad underpass, removal of sediment in the river, demolition of dilapidated buildings, and economic development. But, other needs were identified in the target area for the grant application. Needs identified for the target area in the questionnaire included: rehabilitation, water treatment plant improvements, sidewalk improvements, and retail and service development, as well as several other needs.

Federal guidelines for the grants establish categories for the use of the funds. Thief River Falls application is for two categories — commercial and residential.

Funds used for commercial property must meet slum and blight criteria. The funds can be used for foundations and structural repairs, weatherization, code violations, handicapped accessibility. Funds available under this program are low interest loans, 50 per cent of which will be a deferred loan secured by a four year mortgage.

County board sets levy limit

Pennington county board of commissioners approved a 9.7 per cent increase in its levy for taxes collectible in 1995.

At a meeting last Thursday, the board of commissioners noted that the increase would be 6.7 per cent but when state aid was removed the tax levy increase would amount to 9.7 per cent. Pennington County Commissioner Ken Murphy noted that a significant amount of the increase was due to a loss of about three per cent of the county's state aid.

The gross tax levy collected is expected to raise $3,725,250. The loss in state aid — local government aid and HACA — puts the amount at $2,897,585.

Pennington county's truth in taxation meeting will be held 5 p.m. December 13, 1994. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

Pennington county is accepting applications for a representative on the Northwest Multi-County board. Anyone wishing to participate on the board is encouraged to contact the county auditor's office at 681-4011.

Beaver control fund bills must be submitted to the county for collection by November 1. If the bills are not submitted prior to that date it is possible that the funds will be distributed to another county.

The county is still discussing the county-wide collection proposal. A number of options remain on the table, including one for collecting at central collection sites, and another that involves leaving three-yard dumpsters at every farm.

Howard Person, Pennington county solid waste officer, said the county could afford to let things slide for now because the county cannot handle all of the garbage it is currently receiving. Instead, he urged the commissioners to wait until SwisCorp is on-line with a new plant.

Commissioners noted that they would like to obtain input from other individuals and the county attorney as well, before making any formal decisions.

More public hearings about county-wide collection will be held before the county implements a county-wide collection system.

School board to hear levy recommendation Thursday

Board of education of School District 564 will hear a recommendation by its finance committee at a meeting Thursday noon regarding holding a special levy referendum at the general election November 8.

The board's finance committee includes board members Hank Hallstrom, Harry Sjulson and Larry [illegible] along with Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools and Harry Nelson, director of business affairs.

Local special levies are being presented to individual school districts as options for raising operating funds rather than increasing the state foundation aids. School District 564 voters approved a special levy in 1990 but the formula by which the state will participate has now changed substantially.

Should the board accept the finance committee's recommendation, the district's voters would be asked to approve a special levy of $726,582, of which $135,842 (19%) would come from local taxes and $590,739 (81%) from state aid.

The special levy would have a maximum of 10 years and the board would have the option of not levying the tax in any given year during that period. Given the nature of school financing, however, it is likely the special levy would be needed each year.

The additional levy would add to the amount of local property taxes paid by residents of the school district. Information provided by the Minnesota Department of Education to the local school district indicates that the additional tax on residential homesteads would be $11.31 for a $20,000 home, $22.62 on a $40,000 home and $33.93 on a $60,000 home.

Non-homestead agricultural property would be taxed on approximately the same ratio: $11 on $20,000 of market value, $23 on $40,000 of market value, $34 on $60,000 of market value, $45 on $80,000 of market value and $57 on $100,000 of market value.

Farm homesteads would have a referendum market value reduced from actual market value. A value of $100,000 would be reduced to $73,050 and pay $41 in additional taxes. A value of $200,000 would be reduced to $136,750 and pay $77 additional.

The county will inform individual taxpayers of the effect of the special levy on their taxes prior to the November 8 election.

Under terms adopted by the Minnesota Legislature, school districts will have the option of requesting a special levy only at the annual election. This means that the local districts will have only one opportunity to present the levy to the voters in any given year.

Should the board decide Thursday to pursue the special referendum, it will be faced with presenting a good deal of additional information prior to the general election, including how the additional funds would be used.

Supt. Duncan emphasized that the special levy is being considered for operational costs of the district only, and that it is totally unrelated to the bond issue for new school construction passed a couple of years ago. He said that the school building projects included in that $18 million bond issue continue to be within budget and are expected to remain that way.

ed, staff members have determined to make the best of the present situation and are generally happy with the facilities.

A few glitches—such as only one pencil sharpener being available early in the day Monday in the entire fourth and fifth grade schoolhouse—are considered inevitable.

Supt. Bob Duncan complimented the district's residents on their "tolerance level" in understanding the problems of adverse weather and other factors which caused construction and grounds preparation delays. He and Espe also commended the staff which pitched in with clean-up and other duties to make the school as presentable as possible for the orientation and start of classes.

Opening Day Enrollment Figures

Opening day enrollment of 991 at Challenger brings the total opening day enrollment for School District 564 to 2,332—down from 2,409 listed as the opening day number a year ago. Kindergarten took a major drop to 149 this year from 196 in 1993, accounting for most of the difference in an elementary enrollment drop from 1,043 a year ago. The elementary enrollment total includes 12 students in Early Childhood Special Education.

Challenger school will have additional activity when nursery school, Early Childhood Family Education and Head Start programs get underway later this month, but the opening day numbers account for all the students for which the district receives financial aid.

Grades 6-8 at Franklin middle school also declined slightly from 566 in 1993 to 560 this year. High school enrollment at Lincoln dipped to 723 from 730 a year ago and includes 58 full time equivalent students in the area learning center—the same number as a year ago.

A chart showing the enrollment by grade for the past dozen years is published in today's issue of The Times.

which is released after four years if the occupant remains in the building, 25 per cent is a low interest loan for up to 10 years, and the remaining 25 per cent must come from other sources.

Loans under the residential program are much the same. However, the loans will be for residential rental housing for individuals who meet low to moderate income guidelines.

The grant application is for $1.1 million to $1.2 million — $271,250 for small cities residential rehabilitation, $853,125 for commercial property rehabilitation, and $25,000 for administration costs.

Stewart and Abercrombie estimate that it will take about three years for the money to be used up if the grant application is successful. The application deadline is October 1. Grants will be announced in March.

Abercrombie noted that if the grant application is successful property owners will have to apply for the grant. Questionnaires filled out earlier were not loan applications. Property owners are also not locked in to the amount they stated in the questionnaires. Loan applications will be processed by a committee appointed by the city council to review the applications and prioritize them.

If the application is successful, property owners who wish to take advantage of the program should make their application as soon as possible.

Markets for recyclables show dramatic increase

The time and effort that Minnesotans spend separating their recyclables for collection is paying off in the marketplace.

Demand by manufacturers for Minnesota recyclables has grown dramatically since 1987, from 12 per cent for clear and brown glass to 5,000 per cent for PET; the plastic in pop bottles. Overall, manufacturers today are using three times the amount of recyclable materials they used in 1987.

The Report on 1993 SCORE Programs, published in August by the Minnesota Office of Environmental Assistance, includes the results of a study of all major end-markets that buy recyclables collected in Minnesota. The study found that market improvements occurred for every material commonly recycled, including some that have been traditionally viewed as "hard to recycle" and some for which markets were very poor just a few years ago. The 1989 SCORE recycling law, based on recommendations of the Select Committee on Recycling and the Environment, helps counties provide local collection programs and develops end-markets through grants, loans and other help.

The reason for the improvement in capacity is that growing amounts of clean, high-quality, recyclable materials are now available, said the study. Manufacturing companies are increasingly using recycled materials instead of virgin materials in their products.

"Given Minnesota's commitment to making recycling work, it is no surprise that our residents and businesses are providing a growing supply of high-quality recyclables," said Rodney Massey, director of the OEA. "Minnesotans are now recycling 40 per cent of their trash, one of the highest rates in the nation. The state's investment in recycling, through the SCORE program, is also paying off for taxpayers in the higher market value that collected recyclables now have."

The study also showed that 90 per cent of the materials collected in Minnesota are recycled locally, which helps to "close the loop" in recycling and create new jobs close to home.

Market capacity increased between 1987 and 1993 for the following materials.

- Corrugated cardboard - 300 per cent;
- Newspapers - 1,000 per cent;
- HDPE plastic - 500 per cent;
- PET plastic - 5,000 per cent;
- Magazines and catalogs - 2 per cent;
- Clear and brown glass - 12 per cent;
- Office paper - 200 per cent.

The end-market capacity is still growing as companies continue to use more recycled materials in manufacturing. There is now enough demand for materials such as mixed paper, mixed plastic, shingles, magazines and catalogs to make collection and recycling worthwhile. A few years ago, outlets for these materials did not exist.

"The growth of end-market capacity means that valuable materials are going back into productive use instead of being wasted," said Massey. "Minnesotans can be proud that their recycling efforts are resulting not only in the development of new jobs in recycling manufacturing industries in Minnesota, but also in the conservation of resources."

MMCDC given $2 million loan for development

Mid-West Minnesota Community Development Corporation (MMCDC) has been awarded a $2 million low interest loan from the Rural Development Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, for small business and community development.

Part of USDA's intermediary relending program, the loan will enable MMCDC to recapitalize an existing revolving loan fund. The program provides capital to local organizations like MMCDC, which then re-lends to businesses that create jobs or further other public purposes.

The funds may be reloaned to businesses in Becker, Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Mahnomen, Otter Tail, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Wadena counties, according to MMCDC president Arlen Kangas. Loans are limited to $150,000 to individual businesses.

One of the largest community development corporations in the midwest, MMCDC specializes in providing loans and technical assistance to new and expanding business in such areas as operations, finance, marketing and management.

"Since the inception of the Intermediary Relending Program, the MMCDC has demonstrated a successful record of relending," stated Congressman Collin Peterson in announcing the loan. "We are pleased that USDA has chosen to commit additional funding to this productive organization."

Operation Round-up has fund available

Organizations involved in community projects and charities are encouraged to apply for funds from Operation Round Up.

Operation Round Up is a program adopted by Red Lake Electric Cooperative of Red Lake Falls. Customers choosing to "round up" their monthly electric bill provide funds for this effort. Nearly 3,300 Red Lake Electric cooperative customers are choosing to contribute pennies each month to enhance their communities.

Funds will be donated primarily to non-profit organizations to help fund their specific projects or programs. In 1993, $11,300 was contributed to various organizations. The Red Lake Electric Trust board of directors determines contributions. Money will be donated for betterment of the community within the outside service area boundaries of Red Lake Electric Cooperative.

Organizations wishing to apply for funds should contact the Red Lake Electric cooperative office in Red Lake Falls at 253-2168. An application form must be completed and submitted along with an organization finance statement. The next semi-annual meeting to determine contributions will be held in October.

For more information, contact Ron Kennedy, general manager of Red Lake Electric Cooperative, at 253-2168.

Staff gets thanks for school start-up

Supt. Robert Duncan was high in his praise of the School District 564 staff when he reported at the regular meeting of the board of education last Monday in the school district service center.

He said the start-up at Lincoln high school went well as scheduled on September 6 but that Franklin middle school classes were delayed one day to give teachers a chance to prepare for students. In all cases he said that getting school underway as soon as it did would not have been possible without the total cooperation of the staff.

(Supt. Duncan this Monday also praised the elementary school staff for its hard work in many different ways to make it possible for classes at the new Challenger school to start September 19. He said the level of cooperation and participation was outstanding.)

It was reported by Pat Elzinga and Lanny Cyr of E&V Construction Management that loose ends such as paving, sidewalks and landscaping at Lincoln school are being completed and that mid-October has been established as the completion for Franklin middle school.

Gloria Bjorkman and Joyce Froschheiser reviewed for the board the Early Childhood Center at Challenger which will be unique in the state with Early Childhood Family Education, Early Childhood Special Education, Head Start and Nursery School all being housed and operated under one roof. The Early Childhood Shared Decision Making matrix was distributed for the board to review.

Nancy Tofte, who chairs the district's Planning, Evaluating and Reporting (PER) committee, presented the Education Project 2000 Strategic Plan which has been put together by the community under the leadership of Jean Heinrichs after months of meetings and discussions. The board will review the plan with approval expected at the September 26 meeting.

Carl Clark, who chaired the board negotiating team, reported that the maintenance/custodial group had agreed to a freeze in salaries for 1993-94 with a three and one-half per cent increase for 1994-95.

Resignations were received from Audrey Maki, educational assistant; LuWana Hinden and Helen Jacger, cleaners; Donna Reiner, Rae Reiner, Gerold Erickson, Connie Hesse and Jerome Hesse, bus drivers; Jill Buck, kitchen helper; Jeff Mumm, boys junior varsity basketball coach; and Cynthia Klien, administrative support person.

Approved for employment were Jodi Lee, SLD long term sub at Lincoln; Deonne Bakken, nursery school teacher; Clara Olson, kitchen helper at Franklin; John Lindahl, Rebecca Olson and Kathy Leonard, cleaners in the district; Kent Hudson, Gerald Odegaard and Roger Erickson, bus drivers; Kathy Erickson, transportation assistant; Marianne Fuller, transportation assistant long-term sub; and Sue Dupree, ALC learner manager.

A letter of understanding between the TRF Education Association and the board providing for additional extra-curricular positions and placement was approved as presented.

Assignments approved for the 1994-95 school year included Rob Almquist, seventh grade boys basketball coach; John Anderson, high school wrestling coach; Kay Anderson, high school wrestling cheerleader advisor; Elaine Grovum, high school student senate advisor; Jeff Loe, high school assistant boys basketball coach; Diane Marshall, spelling bee; Regina Olson, 10th grade class advisor; Meri Jo Paschke, high school basketball cheerleader advisor; Darcy Reese, high school head musical and high school Swingsations director; Tom Schafer, eighth grade boys basketball coach; Bryan Thygeson, ninth grade boys basketball coach; Jill Tunberg, high school football cheerleader advisor; and Sally Wiltse, high school girls basketball coach.

Lane changes for the following staff members were approved:

Leslie Nordheim and Amy Roche, BS to BS15; Sharon Baron, Pat Beauchane, Glenn Chiodo, Ken Fletcher, Marcy Mickelson, Diedre Nordin, and Rod Rothschadl, all BS15 to BS30; Rebecca Erickson, Julie Olson and Tim Olson, BS30 to BS45; Lois Benson and Sharon Philion, BS45 to BS60; and Tom Hunt, BS30 to BS60.

Head maintenance positions were discontinued effective immediately for Washington/District Service Center, Northrop and Knox schools. Maintenance personnel assignments approved include Ployd Erickson, temporary head maintenance at Challenger; Ken Beauchane, temporary half-time head maintenance at the district service center/half-time district-wide maintenance crew; and Zeffy Puppe, temporary maintenance at Challenger.

Laid off immediately were Podda Haj, educational assistant; Judy Nelson and Linda Schommer, administrative support personnel.

Next regular meeting of the board will be September 26 at 7 p.m. in the district service center board room.

Congressman again views wet farmland

Congressman Collin Peterson overflew areas of his district pummeled by rain during the past week to survey the additional crop damage and met with area farmers.

"I'm deeply concerned about the affect of continuing rains on the ability of our farmers to get in their remaining crops, and when I return to Washington on Monday I'll be letting my fellow representatives know just how bad the situation is out here," Rep. Peterson said on Sunday.

"It's urgent that the Congress pass out the full assistance package proposed in July, and get it in place as quickly as possible.

"As of this past week, the House leadership has appointed conferees to work out the differences between the House and Senate Agriculture Appropriations bills. I'll be urging them to act quickly, so we can get disaster relief programs in place," he added. "The sooner we get this program passed into law, the sooner ASCS can begin to set up the process for applying for assistance."

The assistance was added to the Senate Agricultural Appropriations bill in July and conferees are now working out the details. As proposed, the program will be identical to that enacted last year.

Participation will not require a disaster declaration. The program will be administered by ASCS, and farmers should contact their county ASCS office for details once the program is enacted.

UMC releases enrollment figures for '94

Over 1,400 students are enrolled for classes on the University of Minnesota at Crookston campus. The number includes post secondary enrollment act students and Northwest Technical College-East Grand Forks students, according to the registrar's office.

Students found many changes in the campus electronic environment. New notebook computers were available for all students and faculty. All first-year students take an information management course to introduce them to the uses of the computer. Sessions include lessons on word processing, spreadsheets, financial management, using the notebook to access libraries and the Internet, and intense usage of all the capabilities of the pre-loaded software.

This year brings about 20 new faculty and staff to campus, as well as an increased number of part-time faculty.

There are major changes in the athletic calendar, too. All sports teams will be played this year at the four-year level. The men's football team and women's volleyball team are playing four-year colleges in the region. By next year, most of the teams will be a part of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

FAMILY HEALTH

Farm Safety Week Is September 18-24

Accidents are a major cause of death and injury among agricultural workers. A study by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health showed that farmers also have the highest rates of death as a result of stress-related conditions. Heart and artery disease, hypertension, ulcers and nervous disorders top the list of killers.

America's farmers and ranchers have to cope with more stress than the average worker. Droughts, floods, pests, long hours, financial concerns and other complications can lead to feelings of isolation and frustration.

Experts agree that there are steps people can take to help cope with stress in their lives. These are not meant as "instant solutions." If one feels overwhlemed, there are many people and organizations available to listen and help.

To help reduce stress, the West Virginia University Extension Service and the National Safety Council suggest the following:

- Acknowledge that stress exists in your life.
- Don't minimize your reactions to stress. If you keep stress buried inside, it is likely to create mental and physical problems.
- Talk about your problems with family, friends, clergy or professional counselors. This will help you clear your head and focus on eliminating or reducing anxiety and stress-related ailments.
- Eat well-balanced meals and try to limit caffeine and alcohol intake. If you smoke, quit.
- Get enough sleep. If you have trouble sleeping, try light reading or listening to relaxing music.
- Keep all machinery in good condition. Eliminating possible breakdowns will help reduce stressful moments.

Statistics show that women involved in agricultural work may be at an increased risk for certain types of accidents. While men are involved in more tractor rollovers, women are at a higher risk of being run over by tractors and other farm machinery, according to preliminary data from the National Safety Council. Farm and ranch experts say that women often assist their spouses by helping hitch equipment to

Our Saviour's church will present "Come the Morning"

Rev. Del Palmer and the members of Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls invite everyone to attend the outstanding new film, "Come the Morning," on Sunday, September 25, at 7 p.m. at the church at 401 South St. Paul Avenue.

"Come the Morning" is the newest dramatic film from World Wide Pictures, the motion picture ministry of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

In the film, 13-year-old Ben Gibson, played by Travis Knight, learns some hard lessons about life. His father, Clyde, played by D. David Morin, has abandoned his family without an explanation. His mother, Constance, played by Susan Howard, packs up their few belongings, along with Ben and two younger siblings, and journeys across the country to Los Angeles on the hope that they can find their father and be together again.

Money is spent or stolen and the family is forced to seek shelter on the streets. Ben and his family must come face-to-face with the horrors of a homeless way of life in a strange city.

Throughout the ordeal, Constance relies on her faith in Christ to sustain her own low spirits, but Ben cannot overcome his bitterness against God for allowing his father to leave them. He befriends a homeless man named Nick (J.D. Hall), who seems to reinforce his conviction that God either isn't there or doesn't care enough to intervene.

With the help of a kind church member played by John Schneider, the Gibson family eventually finds shelter with the Salvation Army. A staff member (Andi Chapman) takes them under her wing. She radiates faith and is instrumental in bringing hope back to the desperate family.

"Come the Morning" uses the contemporary issue of homelessness as a backdrop for the timeless message of man's need to reconcile himself to God. For more information about the film, contact the church office at 681-4643.

Farm Safety Week Is Sept. 18-24

tractors. This activity may expose them to injury or death.

Another area of increased risk for women is working with farm animals and livestock. Preliminary data from farm states shows women often tend livestock while men work with farm tractors and other machinery. As a result, women may suffer disabling injuries from farm animals. In order to prevent accidents, the National Safety Council reminds women who participate in farm chores to take preventative measures such as the ones offered below.

— Wear clothing and safety gear that is appropriate for the tasks or chores at hand. Boots and shoes should be fully laced and loose clothing tucked in to prevent power take-off and equipment entanglements.

— Keep your hair neatly tucked under head gear or tied up when working around wrap points such as power take-offs.

— Be extremely careful when helping to hitch implements to tractors. Do not get caught in a tight location between a tractor and other farm machinery. Learn the common hand signals associated with safe hitching procedures.

— Always face unpredictable livestock so you can watch them at all times. Larger farm animals such as bulls and horses may panic or become aggressive and inflict serious injury. Swine, especially sows with young pigs, can be very protective of their young and may injure a person when aggravated.

— Do not go along as an "extra-rider" on a farm tractor. Bumpy, uneven ground, quick turns and excessive speed may increase your risk of falling and being run over by the tractor or trailing equipment.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Jeni Halling
Lincoln High School

My first taste of a medical career was during my "shadowing" experience as a student in Medical Careers. Medical Careers is a class taught at Lincoln high by Ila Flesch. In this class we learn the basics of anatomy, physiology, and medical terminology. We are trained in First Aid and are CPR certified.

In the spring after we had studied different areas of the medical field, we chose a few careers where we could shadow a professional. Most of the time was spent observing or participating along side the other worker. The areas I chose to shadow were the Day-Night Unit, Occupational Therapy, Medical Records and Discovery Place.

Although all of them were very interesting, one of my favorites was Discovery Place. I enjoyed working one-on-one with the small children and observing them play with one another. I was very impressed with how well organized and how smoothly Discovery Place is run.

Of course, confidentiality was stressed in all areas where I shadowed. We were in professional settings and had to behave professionally ourselves. We quickly learned the importance of confidentiality and practiced it.

Also through Medical Careers I had the opportunity to take part in the Summer Health Care Intern Program conducted at Northwest Medical Center and the Falls Clinic. Mike Parker, Director of Human Resources, came to my class to set up mock interviews and gave tips on how to make a good impression at job interviews. This greatly eased my tension during the interview with Jan Nyflot, Clinic Administrator.

This was the first job I had ever applied for and was very nervous until the next day when I got a call to let me know I could start the following week in the Medical Records Department at the clinic. I worked 40 hours a week at five dollars an hour.

Another student was also hired to work in Medical Records with me. Our job was to pull charts, organize the papers in them, and then bind them into new folders. Again confidentiality was very important and constantly stressed.

The part I enjoyed most about my job was just the chance to be in the clinic's professional atmosphere. Everyone in the Medical Records Department was absolutely wonderful. They are a great bunch of people who could make a work day very enjoyable.

After being in an office eight hours a day, the other student hired and I saw many humorous things which made the days pass quickly. Occasionally, we created our own humorous situations. For instance, our office had a couple of phones which were never used, so I decided to have one next to my desk — not that I needed it. I removed the phone from near the window and put it by my desk which was out of sight from the doorway.

As luck would have it, in just a few minutes, a doctor entered and glanced over to where the phone used to be. With a confused look, he asked where the phone had gone. He stated he could have sworn he had used it earlier in the day. Before I had the chance to tell him the new location of the phone, he chuckled, shook his head, and left the room. Needless to say, after having a good laugh, I put the phone back.

But we also worked very hard at our job. This also taught me self-discipline by making me get up and be to work on time. This was a great learning experience which helped me make some decisions about my future. I am thankful for the Summer Health Care Intern Program and Medical Careers for helping me set goals and learn how to accomplish them.

SPEAKING OF

. . . Fall is Coming

Fall is coming. Yes, it is. You may not think so after this past weekend of warm weather, but the cool weather is coming and it won't be long now and I'm glad.

Evenings are getting cooler and cooler, just right for sleeping snuggled under a quilt. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

Acorns are falling off the trees and the squirrels are rushing to collect each and every one of them. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

The yellow leaves are falling from the trees and the leaves that are still on the trees are turning lovely shades of red and orange. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

Sweaters and turtlenecks are emerging from closets where they have been hidden for the summer months. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

The air smells of smoke and ripening fruits and feels a little dusty. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

Most of the mosquitoes are disappearing (slowly, I know) and those little gnats even seem to be getting fewer as each day passes (I hope). The bees and flies are out seeking warm spots to sit in before the frost comes to get them. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

Although it may be a little early, stores have displays of jack-o-lanterns, ghosts, ghoulies and goblins and Halloween candy has made its appearance around town. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

There are colorful orange pumpkins and deep green squash for sale at markets and in the stores, along with yellow corn, red and gold apples and bright gourds. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

Any day now there will be the spooky sound overhead of ducks and geese flying south for the winter. The deer and moose have already begun to make their appearances on roads and highways. Fall is just around the corner and I love it, although I don't like those deer and moose on the roads.

Soon there will be hunting and the smell of roasting game in the house, along with guns in the corners, shells on the table and hunting clothes in the laundry basket. Fall is just around the corner and I love it.

Soon there will be pilgrims and turkeys and pumpkin pies and families gathering around a crackling fire.

There is just one problem with fall being right around the corner, though. It goes too fast — first it is just around the corner, then it is here, and then, almost immediately, too quickly, it is gone and winter has come. The trouble with winter is, I don't love it.

Dear Readers,

It is senseless to try to protect children from pain when a death has occurred. Children are perceptive, sensing when something is wrong. They pick up on facial expressions, overhear conversations, and see adults crying. If they are told there is nothing wrong, they feel confused and alienated. It is best to tell them what has happened and help them learn that painful things happen in life, but people do survive them.

Respectfully,

ON MY MIND

Better Belize It!

As a journalist, I've been able to write about a variety of experiences. Without my job as a writer, I wouldn't have had the opportunity to see and do many things. I've met dozens of fascinating people; I learn something new with each story I write.

Some of the most memorable experiences include suiting up as a firefighter and entering a burning house, watching a cornea transplant, being physically removed from a Groundswell meeting, and interviewing a Russian teacher.

But perhaps the most intriguing assignment was traveling to Belize in Central America. I was contracted to write promotional materials by a Minnesota company that arranges travel exclusively to Belize.

Approximately the size of Massachusetts, Belize is tucked between Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and Guatemala and is bordered by the Caribbean Sea to the west. The government is a parliamentary democracy with English as the official language. The main industries are fishing, lobsters, sugar, citrus, bananas and tourism.

Belize's geographic diversity and tropical weather attract many travelers. The Caribbean sea and the world's second-largest barrier reef beckon snorkelers, scuba divers and fishermen. The mainland contains the mysteries of the ancient Maya as well as miles of jungle that posses wildlife, rivers and mountains.

My three women companions are travel agents whose primary function is to arrange vacations to Belize. They toured resort properties while I interviewed the owners and managers. We explored the country from north to south and from mountains to sea. We traversed Belize by plane, by four-wheel drive, by boat and on foot.

I never imagined I would have the opportunity to visit such a land. For me, our two trips to Belize were both educational and exciting. During our second excursion last April, we literally had a breath-taking experience.

Our itinerary included one night in the Mountain Pine Ridge - an area noted for its warm days and cool comfortable sleeping nights. The pine trees gave me a feel for home, but the presence of sugar cane told me it was not.

Julian "Bull" Headley, originally from Poplarville, MS, owns 18,000 acres in the Mountain Pine Ridge. When he bought the land in the early 1960's, he was unaware that there were several waterfalls on his property. We had the opportunity to see one of them close up.

Our crew of seven set off about 9 a.m. We drove amid towering pines and dense jungle. At the end of the road we got out to the vehicle and hiked into the jungle, led by our Belizean guide wielding a machete. He warned us not to reach for branches to steady ourselves because the branches might actually be snakes.

We trudged uphill and downhill, following a small trail that ran parallel to a bubbling stream, while our guide continually pointed out bird species. As we came upon some water running over rocks our guide proclaimed, "This is it." We thought to ourselves, "We hiked all the way for this!" Not knowing what to expect, we believed him.

He was joking. So we continued to follow him over log footbridges and jungle terrain, all the while dodging branches and anything that could be mistaken for a snake.

Then, the trail ended. We were in full view of Butterfly Falls - a 100-foot waterfall with water cascading from above. The bright sun bounced off the water and created a brilliant sight. It was reminiscent of a scene right out of "National Geographic." We had also hiked up a sweat. Luckily, we had our swimming suits on beneath our clothing.

One by one, we slipped into the pool by the waterfall. We don't know if the experience was just so exhilarating or if the water was that cold, but swimming in that pool beneath the waterfall took our breath away; the feeling is almost indescribable. One of the adventurous women climbed the rocks of the waterfall and jumped into the pool below. I just swam over, touched the rocks and let my face feel the splatter of the falling water.

Afterwards, we basked in the warmth of the sun marveling at the wonder and watching butterflies flit by.

Our guide informed us that only about 100 people have seen Butterfly Falls since it was discovered on the property in June of 1993. For the rest of our trip, that was the topic of conversation. We were thrilled that we had the chance to see one of Belize's wonders.

It's experiences like this that have shaped who I am.

ACTIVITIES

Bleeder Applesauce

This applesauce is very easy to make and tastes great. You will need six apples, 1/2 cup of honey, a few drops of water, a peeler, a plastic knife and a blender. Peel and care the apples. Cut them each into four pieces. Put the apples, honey and a small amount of water into the blender. Blend until the mixture is smooth. Yum, yum!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need your time.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Delton, Judy. My Mom Made Me Take Piano Lessons. Little Archie wasn't too thrilled when his mom arranged for piano lessons, and even less enthusaistic when she made him practice every day. Then came the first day of school, and because of his wanderful new talent, he became the center of attention.

Lasky, Kathryn. The Solo. Grace is determined to dance solo at the spring concert in front of the whole school even though she's been kicked out of the dance group for being bossy. Marvel at Grace's determination to prove that the show will go on!

PARENTING TIPS

Learning to Share

Sharing is an important skill youngsters need to master. And parents sometimes worry that their children won't learn how. Here are some tips to encourage sharing:

- When friends come to play, help your child put away the special toy she doesn't want to share.
- Help your child select "share toys" that won't break or get used up.
- Buy or collect toys that are good for sharing, such as construction sets or outdoor play equipment.
- Model sharing. Show your child how to share by your example. You might say, "This apple is good. Would you like some of mine?" Or ask your child to share and then say, "Thank you for being such a good sharer."
- Play games that require taking turns.
- Don't expect perfection. Learning to share takes time...and practice.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Remember your young child may not know what the word share means. Therefore you will have to explain it in terms that he/she can understand or through example.

Scott Stokke, son of Richard and Phyllis Stokke of Mound and grandson of Mrs. A. O. Stokke of Thief River Falls, has attained the rank of Eagle Scout. He is now enrolled in a pre-engineering program at De Peuw University in Indiana.

Over 500 attend Grinding Day at Old Mill State Park

An estimated 571 people attended Annual Grinding Day at Old Mill State Park Sunday, September 4.

Visitor's were greeted at the Park entrance by Harriet Hodne. A hike to look at the last flowers of summer and the changing leaves was taken and tree cookies were decorated by visitors at the Gladwin Lynne's morning programs. The Case steam engine No. A 359 was fired up and the mill stone began turning to grind wheat all afternoon with engineer Kent Broten and several others volunteering their time.

Gladwin Lynne, Greg Dahlin, Jerome Johnson, Lavonne Mattson, Emily Moehring and Mary Henry bagged the wheat flour and bran. David and Betty Conely poured wheat down to the stones and helped bag the wheat while answering many questions from visitors. Sixty-seven bags of fresh ground wheat flour and 51 bags of bran were purchased by visitors at the site.

Pioneer period dress by Lavonne Mattson, and weaving by Avis Mattson were held at the cabin. Francis and Wilfred Welin's hand-cranked churn with fresh cream from the San Loma Dairy farm of John and Nancy Hess allowed several people to try their hand at making butter. The whole wheat bread with jelly samples and fresh butter, served by Tracy Safranski, was popular.

The hand-turned victrola of Mrs. Ruth Jensen provided music inside the cabin while the Steam Engine whistle could be heard blowing off steam outside. Robert Broten, Steve Broten and Arlin Tunheim provided live music near the Mill Cabin.

The park staff and the Marshall County Historic Society would like to thank all of the volunteers who made "Grinding Day 1994" a success. Visitors to Old Mill State Park can start to enjoy the changing leaf colors soon. Fall hiking, picnicing and camping can be a relaxing, bug-free time. During the winter the park is open for cross-country skiing, sliding, and snowmobiling in with a shelter building to warm up at.

Many elementary students in Thief River Falls began a new experience with the opening of Challenger elementary school Monday. Riding the school bus to the new building south of Thief River Falls was a change from walking to one of the neighborhood elementary schools. Knox, Northrop, Washington and Mark Twain elementary schools are now no longer used for elementary classes. In the top photo a student boards the bus beginning its run near Sixth Street and Main Avenue near Zion Lutheran Church. In the middle photo, youngsters board a bus stopping for them at Second Street and Arnold Avenue near the former Washington elementary school. In the bottom photo, buses arrive to unload students on the north side of the new Challenger elementary school where final construction is still continuing.

Helper Nancy Hendrickson at Challenger elementary school was a real helper Monday morning when this youngster needed to change from boots to sneakers. Students at the new school all have their own lockers for clothes and personal items.

First grade teacher Julie Olson gets acquainted with Jonathan Richards during opening day at Challenger elementary school on the south edge of Thief River Falls Monday.

Finding their lockers and putting away some of their jackets and other school items was one of the new experiences for students at Challenger elementary school Monday. A number of volunteers were on hand to assist faculty and aides in providing students with needed help.

School lunches for approximately 650 students were carefully packed in boxes printed to resemble school buses Monday morning at the new Challenger elementary school. All kitchen equipment has not been installed at this time, making some adjustments necessary. Packing the lunches above are Carrie Nicholson (left), cashier and Doreen Enge, head cook.

Carol Schmitz talks to her first grade class Monday during opening day at the new Challenger elementary school. Despite a two-week postponement in the opening due to construction delays, teachers were ready to meet their eager and excited students.

Ava Kong and Joel Lunsetter put away some of their belonging in lockers just their size at Challenger elementary school. The first day for students at the new school was on Monday. Volunteers, teachers and staff helped make the transition go smoothly. It was also Ava's and Joel's first day of kindergarten.

TRF city council interested in multi-county housing project

Thief River Falls will send a letter expressing the interest of the city council to participate in a Northwest Multi-County Housing and Re-development Authority project. The project will involve construction of several housing projects with essential function bonds.

The project and several other items were on the agenda for the city council meeting held Tuesday evening at the city auditorium.

City Attorney Paul Ihle explained that the city did not participate in a similar project last year because he was worried that the city would be responsible for projects in other cities if they failed. Under an operational deficit agreement in this project, the city would not be legally responsible if a deficit occurred in any of the projects, but morally responsible. Ihle explained however, that "it's the only game in town."

Don Stewart, community development director, explained that the city has attempted to attract private developers, but the tax situation in the state is such that it is extremely difficult to encourage private development. At least with this project, he said, the city would be able to get something done.

A meeting to discuss what the projects involve will be held in October. At this time, the city has only agreed to send a letter expressing its interest in the program.

Thief River Falls has established its tax levy at 5 per cent higher than last year. It is expected to raise $955,800. The city's truth in taxation hearing has been scheduled for 5 p.m. December 6 at the regional library in Thief River Falls because it is handicapped accessible.

The city council has approved a job description for a public works director. The position was recommended by an agency hired to make recommendations regarding government restructuring.

The public works director, under limited supervision, would perform complex professional and administrative work coordinating and supervising construction and maintenance operations of the city public works department. The public works director is responsible for activities of the department's engineering, street, sanitation, airport and building operations plus clerical support staff, and delegates direct supervisory authority.

Approval of the job description only places the city in the position of being ready to advertise if they do decide to advertise for the position.

An increase in the dog pound fee was approved by the city council Tuesday. There has been no change in the first day $10 charge. Each day after, however, will result in a charge of $5 instead of the present $2.50.

In other business, the council: approved a resolution relating to $800,000 general obligation improvement bonds and calling for a public sale; adopted preliminary governmental budgets; accepted the resignation of volunteer firefighter Bill Jalowiec and called for a replacement; approved a pawn broker's license for Tim Paul Nelson; approved a handicapped parking stall at the Tourist Park bathhouse; approved a progression raise for Police Officer Denielle Winskowski; approved a slum and blight resolution for the SCDP grant application; approved a resolution to approve application for an SCDP grant; approved an additional $1,500 for Soo Line Depot preservation advertising; approved membership in the Greater Minnesota Cities organization; approved a progression raise for Cliff Habedank; authorized the deputy city clerk to act as city corporate representative on transactions with Edward D. Jones; charged off $710.29 in uncollectible 1993 NSF-checks as bad debts expense; approved a recommendation to participate in a Salvation Army Heat Share program; and noted that the Pennington county board is considering raising the tipping fee at the solid waste facility to $55 per ton instead of $45 effective January 1, 1995.

Options for Scab control on erodible lands provided

Minnesota Soil Conservation Service (SCS) has granted variances to eight counties allowing farmers to till highly erodible land (HEL) to help manage the risk of scab and other crop diseases next year.

Those counties are Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman, Mahnomen, and Becker.

In counties not included thus far, farmers should contact their local SCS officials, who may request a county-wide variance from the state SCS office allowing tillage of HEL for disease management.

Another option in unnamed counties may be to arrange a personal hardship provision through local SCS offices, allowing an individual to deviate from conservation compliance plan requirements. For counties granted a variance based on disease problems, the following guidelines will apply:

- On fields with less than three per cent slope, fall moldboard plow leaving untilled strips 15 feet wide at 200-foot intervals across the field. These untilled strips may be moldboard plowed during spring seedbed preparation.
- On fields or portions of fields protected by field windbreaks (land within 10 times the windbreak tree height) farmers may moldboard plow without leaving untilled strips.
- On any field, HEL or not, consider chiseling leaving 30 per cent surface residue cover going into winter and then incorporating all residue during spring seedbed preparation. The SCS recommends leaving residue over winter and using spring tillage to bury residue.

Producers granted a residue variance for 1995 who follow these practices on HEL fields will not be found out of compliance based on lack of residue cover requirements for 1995, says Gary Nordstrom, Minnesota SCS chief.

However, all other conservation compliance plan provisions must be followed, and an individual plan must be reinstated in its entirety for the 1996 crop. Contact your local SCS office for more details.

"We believe that this is a reasonable approach to managing this problem to reduce the risks associated with scab for the 1995 cropping season," says Nordstrom, whom the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers had contacted early in August to urge state cooperation in granting compliance plan variances.

Prowlers beat Wadena-Deer Creek 40-12 ...

TRF handles Wolverines

Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm was looking for three solid quarters of football from his Prowlers Friday in a Section 8A high school match-up against Wadena-Deer Creek. He got it, and although the sequence was a bit out of order, those 36 minutes led to a 40-12 win over the host Wolverines.

In losing back-to-back season-opening games to Detroit Lakes and Alexandria, Thief River Falls played solid first half football, but faltered after intermission. Friday, the Prowlers stretched two strong quarters into three, jumping out to an early 20-6 lead, then smothering the Wadena-Deer Creek offense in the second half.

"We wanted three (good) quarters," said Mumm. "We thought maybe we could play the first three quarters strong. We ended up playing a very good first quarter. We took the second quarter off, but then we came back and played a good second half."

The Wolverines were limited to 10 second half plays as the Prowlers used their size to grind out three long, time-consuming drives.

"We were a lot bigger than they were," acknowledged Mumm. "We wanted to run the football, and we did a nice job with it."

Thief River Falls finished with 514 yards of offense, including 384 on the ground, where Brian Howe netted 181 yards on 18 carries. Tony Halsa had 87 yards on 16 attempts and Nick Chiodo collected 61 yards on 10 tries.

Howe scored on a 1-yard run to get things going. Wadena-Deer Creek quarterback Ryan Carlson answered with a 20-yard touchdown run to tie it 6-6, but a 22-yard run by Howe and a 47-yard Keith Anderson touchdown pass to Steve Burslie supplied the Prowlers with a 20-6 cushion as the first quarter ended.

The second quarter was a stalemate, but a 6-yard touchdown run by Halsa made it 28-6 in the third quarter and short touchdown runs by Halsa and Justin Stevenson in the final period opened up a 40-6 gap.

Scoring ended on the final play of the game as Mike Richards and Josh Sperling hooked up on an 18-yard pass for the Wolverines.

The Prowlers' ground game was complemented by 130 yards in the air as Anderson hit 4 of 7 passes, including three to Burslie for 115 yards.

Wadena-Deer Creek netted just 45 yards on 17 running plays. The Wolverines' quarterbacks were 10-for-23 for 158 yards.

"Defensively we did a nice job," said Mumm. "Carlson is the best quarterback we'll see all year. We had a good pass rush, and our defensive backs did a nice job covering his receivers."

TRF 3-2 volleyball winner over RLCC

Maren Thorson had 25 kills Saturday to lead Thief River Falls past Red Lake County Central 15-4, 11-15, 12-15, 15-5, 15-5 in high school volleyball.

Thorson, a 5-9 junior, became the center of the Thief River Falls attack when Kelly Skeim was limited to back row play because of a thumb injury and Carrie Lawrence missed the matinee match because of illness.

Sarah Huschle contributed 13 kills and Kendra Dimich was credited with 25 assists as the Prowlers improved to 6-3 for the year.

Red Lake County Central gave the Prowlers a run, but still wound up falling to 1-6. McKenzie Malwitz led the Mustangs with 11 kills.

"It was chaotic at times, but a win is a win," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "When your starting line-up is disrupted and you are forced to make changes, you just hope you can adjust and do the best you can. Maren had an excellent match. She found the holes and was very effective."

Sophomore Katie Kraemer inherited Skeim's setting duties and was effective working in combination with Dimich, according to Anderson.

Thief River Falls struggled at the service line in a 3-1 loss to Bemidji Thursday, but missed only one serve in grabbing a 1-0 lead against Red Lake County Central.

Tips proved effective for the Mustangs as they won Games 2 and 3, but the Prowlers controlled play in tying, then winning the match.

"Our serves and passing allowed us to set it up – making it easier to attack," explained Anderson.

Thief River Falls won the junior varsity match 15-7, 15-6. Red Lake County Central won the C squad match 15-3, 15-11.

Blue Devils tip Cougars in overtime

Jim Verbout was the go-to guy in the effective Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke running game, but at the end the Blue Devils went to the air Friday for a 26-20 overtime win in a Nine-Man high school football match-up with Kittson County North at Lancaster.

Verbout carried the ball 35 times for 220 yards and two touchdowns, and Trevor Kiesow netted 98 yards on just 9 carries for the 2-1 Blue Devils.

The game-winner, however, came on a 3-yard Brady Wiseth touchdown pass to Jamie Lunsetter in overtime.

Wiseth was just 2-for-4 passing for 8 yards, but both completions went to Lunsetter for touchdowns.

The Blue Devils opened the season with a 50-0 romp over Ulen-Hitterdal, but the last two games went down to the final play, including an 8-6 loss to Tri-County in Week 2.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke will play Marshall County Central Friday at 3 p.m. in Grygla.

■ 20-point fourth quarter stops Pioneers 32-7

Fergus Falls put together a goal-line standing at the end of the third quarter to protect a 12-7 lead, then scored 20 fourth quarter points Saturday to beat visiting Northland 32-7 in community college football.

The loss put the Pioneers at 1-1 heading into their 1994 home opener Saturday against Willmar. Northland opened the year with a 6-3 win at Worthington.

"We played 200 percent better against Fergus Falls than we did against Worthington," said Northland coach Gene Klinke. "For 45 minutes we played the No. 15-ranked team in the nation nose to nose. If we would have played anybody else in the conference other than Fergus Falls, or maybe Vermilion, we would have won the game."

Northland ran into trouble with 19 penalties – totaling 185 yards – including six pass interference calls.

Klinke understandably wasn't happy with every call, but he didn't try to make excuses. "We have to quit blaming the officials," he said. "We didn't stay focused in the fourth quarter. The head coach takes the blame for this one, not the officials and not the players. The kids played well. We're very happy with their efforts."

A 1-yard touchdown run by Robert Carlson finished off a Northland drive and, coupled with a Ray Reinhart conversion kick, cut a 12-0 deficit to 12-7 at halftime.

The Pioneers had a chance to take the lead with a first-and-goal opportunity at the Fergus Falls 7-yard line late in the third quarter, but were stopped inches short of the goal line on fourth down.

Fergus Falls promptly scored on runs of 11 and 17 yards by Jeremy Pederson and on a 15-yard run by Jamie Scherber to seal the outcome.

"We're not depressed because we lost," noted Klinke. "We're a little frustrated with the finish, but we didn't expect to go 8-0."

Northland netted only 33 yards on 34 running plays, including 23 yards on 8 carries by Brent Miller before he was hobbled by a foot injury. Quarterback J.P. Lammers was 13-for-32 passing for 114 yards. Erik Hamre caught 7 passes for 68 yards.

Giauque sets record for Park Rapids pool

Theresa Giauque remained unbeaten in individual competition Saturday by winning the 200 and 500-yard freestyle races as the Thief River Falls girls high school swim team competed at the Park Rapids Invitational.

The Prowlers have been involved in five dual or multiple-team meets this fall and Giauque, a senior co-captain, has not lost a race while competing in a variety of events. She set a Park Rapids pool record in the 500.

Bemidji won team honors at Park Rapids with 363 points, followed by Fergus Falls with 208, Moorhead 205, Detroit Lakes 196, Park Rapids Area 125.5, Crookston 120.5, Thief River Falls 117, Warroad 34, and Staples-Motley 26.

"For the most part, we swam well," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "There were a lot of good efforts. I was very pleased with the way they swam."

The Prowlers did not take any divers to the meet because the board at the Park Rapids pool isn't suited to their style, explained Lokken.

B/G-MR volleyball team is beaten 3-0

Roseau swept Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 15-9, 15-12, 15-5 Monday in high school volleyball.

"We didn't do a very good job communicating with each other on the court," said Gators coach Gwen Borgen. "Our serving is getting better, but we're not getting the ball up to our hitters."

The loss dropped Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to 5-3.

Sophomore squad defeats Crookston

Paul Kopari and Jon Blomker both had 4-yard touchdown runs as Thief River Falls edged Crookston 14-6 Monday in a sophomore high school football game played at Crookston.

Richard Vaughan added a two-point conversion run after the Kopari touchdown to give Thief River Falls an 8-6 halftime lead.

The 3-1 Thief River Falls sophomores will be at Roseau Tuesday for a 6 p.m. game.

Mustangs knock off Gators

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River made its debut in the Class C state rankings last week, but Red Lake County Central likely made it a short stay by beating the No. 9 Gators 16-7 in high school football at Oklee.

The result left both teams at 2-1.

"It was a hard-hitting football game," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "Both sides played hard; intense football."

And both sides played defense. The Mustangs nursed a 9-7 lead out of the first half and scored the only touchdown of the second half when back-to-back stops by defensive tackle Jeff Aakhus forced a Badger/Greenbush-Middle River punt, leading to an 18-yard Eric Reinbold pass from Bryce Huotari.

"Our defense played well the entire game," said Brantl. "They did a fine job from start to finish. They were really aggressive."

A 1-yard Scott Lorenson touchdown run and Aaron Chaput conversion kick gave Red Lake County Central a 7-0 first quarter lead.

It became 9-0 when Aaron Rosten tackled the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River punter in the end zone. But the Gators recovered a Red Lake County Central fumble at the Mustangs' 8-yard line with just over a minute remaining in the first half, leading to a 5-yard Matt Kuznia touchdown run.

Lorenson led the Mustangs' offense with 64 yards on 13 carries. The winners were held to 108 yards on 35 running plays and 49 yards on 4-for-12 passing.

Defensively, Rosten had 6 unassisted tackles, 3 assisted stops, a sack and the safety. Brett Bishop was credited with 7 unassisted tackles, Lorenson 6 and Reinbold 5.

Both teams face 7:30 p.m. Friday challenges when the Mustangs head to Waubun and the Gators take on Red Lake Falls at Badger.

Scoring

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | T |

RLCC - Scott Lorenson, 1-yard run; Aaron Chaput kick.

RLCC - safety, Aaron Rosten tackled punter in the end zone.

B/G-MR - Matt Kuznia, 5-yard run; Heiko Stehle kick.

RLCC - Eric Reinbold, 18-yard pass from Bryce Huotari; Chaput kick.

Nordics still looking for a win

A week earlier Marshall County Central got its offense going, but couldn't do the job defensively in a 58-30 high school football loss to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Friday, the Nordics' defense played admirably, but the offense sputtered in a 30-6 defeat at the hands of Tri-County.

Marshall County Central head coach Kent Warne is now awaiting the day when both the offense and defense will be on the same page.

An 0-3 start hasn't yet undermined the team's enthusiasm for the game, according to Warne. "The kids' attitude has been really good," he said. "They're working hard, and they still enjoy playing."

But a win would be nice, admitted Warne, whose team was 0-8 last fall.

Tri-County took a 14-6 first quarter lead and turned it into a 30-6 halftime advantage. The second half was a scoreless draw.

"We played well in the first quarter," noted Warne, "and the third and fourth quarters the defenses took over. It was mostly a case of bad field position that gave us problems in the second quarter. We just couldn't get out of the hole."

Curt Spildo scored three touchdowns for the winners on runs of 1, 4 and 3 yards. Terry Olson of the Nordics and Jeremy Olson of the Wildcats supplied the other two touchdowns.

The Nordics mustered just 136 yards worth of offense, including 128 on the ground. Lee Kuck led the Marshall County Central efforts with 63 yards on 10 carries.

MCC Invitational title won by host Nordics

Championship honors went to the host team Saturday at the Marshall County Central Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The Nordics beat Kittson County North and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo to earn a spot in the finals of the seven-team event, where they defeated Argyle 15-8, 15-5.

"It was a really even tournament," reported Marshall County Central coach Mark Jargenson. "There was no one outstanding team; they were all pretty equal. Everyone had a shot at it, and that made it kind of fun."

Three tournament wins boosted the Nordics to 5-2 for the year.

"We came together as the day went along," explained Jargenson. "They started to communicate with each other on the court."

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke snapped a season-opening four-match losing streak by beating Stephen 15-4, 12-15, 15-12 in first round play, but then lost a close three-game match to Argyle and dropped a 15-1, 15-11 third place match to Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in falling to 1-6 for the year.

"We played really well against Stephen," mentioned Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode. "We hit the ball well, and our serving is becoming more consistent."

Prowlers reach midway mark of football season

Midway point of the 1994 regular season high school football schedule will be reached Friday when Thief River Falls faces Staples-Motley in a 7:30 p.m. game at Staples.

It will be the second straight trip down Highway 10 for the Prowlers, who beat Wadena-Deer Creek 40-12 Friday for their first win in three starts. They will be facing a Staples-Motley team that in the past two weeks ended an 18-game losing streak and began a winning streak by beating East Grand Forks 28-14 and Park Rapids Area 36-8.

The Cardinals were winless in both 1992 and 1993, and started the 1994 season with a 14-7 loss to Foley. They proved the win over the Green Wave was no fluke with the victory over the Panthers when quarterback Erik Kelly threw a touchdown pass, ran for a touchdown and added a two-point conversion. Jason Becker scored on a 74-yard run and caught the 10-yard touchdown pass from Kelley.

"Kelly is a good athlete," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "He does a nice job with the option."

The Prowlers will face Park Rapids Area next week in their third straight and final road game of the regular season. They finish with home games against Crookston, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks.

Detroit Lakes beat Crookston 33-13 in last week's other Section 8A match-up. Results for the rest of the Section 8A teams included a 26-6 Perham loss to Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton, a 38-6 Long Prairie-Grey Eagle defeat at the hands of West Central Area, and a 13-6 East Grand Forks setback at St. Paul Johnson. Fergus Falls had an open date.

Wade Chiodo scored on a pair of 60-yard runs and Jeff Beste had a 1-yard-touchdown as the Franklin Middle School eighth grade A football team beat East Grand Forks 26-0 Monday. A Wade Haviland two-point conversion pass to Jeff Rislov completed the scoring for the winners.

Touchdown runs of 55 yards by Jason Hanson and 15 yards by Darin Bjerknes led the Franklin eighth grade B team past East Grand Forks 14-8. Bjerknes also had a two-point conversion run.

Dates, limits set for waterfowl seasons

Minnesota duck and goose hunting regulations have been finalized for the 1994 season. The goose season will be similar to last year, but 10 days have been added to the duck season, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

"Both the continental duck populations and goose populations important to Minnesota have increased since last year," noted Tim Bremicker, chief of the DNR Section of Wildlife. Public comments were divided over early proposals for a 30-day, four-bird season versus a 40-day, three-bird season. "We decided on the 40-day season," said Bremicker, "because it will allow more hunting opportunities and eliminates the complexity of a split season."

The 1994 Minnesota duck hunting season will open at noon Saturday, Oct. 1, and continue through Wednesday, Nov. 9 – a continuous 40 days. Expect for October 1, when shooting hours are noon to 4 p.m., shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. daily through October 21, and from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset beginning Saturday, Oct. 22, through the close of the seasons.

Daily bag limit of ducks is three, and may include no more than two mallards (only one of which may be a female), two wood ducks, one black duck, one pintail, one redhead, and one canvasback. The possession limit is double the daily bag limit. Canvasback hunting will be open statewide except on Lake Christina in Douglas and Grant counties, and North Heron Lake, South Heron Lake, North Marsh Lake, and Duck Lake in Jackson County, which are closed to canvasback hunting.

The daily bag limit of mergansers is five, only one of which may be a hooded merganser, and the possession limit is twice the daily bag limit. The daily bag and possession limit for coots are 15 and 30, respectively.

"We are excited by the dramatic response of duck populations to the improved habitat conditions, and look forward to the 40 days of duck hunting this year," said Bremicker. "The longer season allows us to drop the split season that was in place the past three years and still provide opportunity for those who like to hunt waterfowl later in the fall."

Goose season lengths, bag limits, and zones in Minnesota will be the same as last year. The Minnesota goose season will begin statewide at noon Saturday, Oct. 1 – the same day as the duck opener. Shooting hours will be the same as for ducks. The bag limit will be seven geese daily, including no more than two white-fronted geese, two brant, one Canada goose in the West Central, Lac qui Parle, West, and Northwest goose zones, and two Canada geese in the remainder of the state. Possession limits are double the daily bag limits.

Damage done by deer is addressed by state

Although Minnesota deer hunters have enjoyed record harvests in recent years, there is a down side to Minnesota's successful deer management program: increased reports of agriculture and other property damage caused by deer. So notes Mike DonCarlos, a wildlife depredation specialist for the Department of Natural Resources.

"Wildlife damage to agricultural crops and suburban landscapes has increased as both wildlife and human populations have increase," said DonCarlos. The 1993 Minnesota Legislature passed a governor's initiative that increased and improved the level of service provided by the DNR to people who have problems with wildlife damage. "Since the 1993 legislation, we've expanded wildlife damage management services statewide," noted DonCarlos.

Funds are appropriated from Minnesota's Game and Fish Fund, derived from hunting and fishing license fees. The program provided for the creation of two field wildlife damage extension specialist positions. Bob Welsh in New Ulm and Kent Solberg in Brainerd have been able to assist DNR staff and the public in implementing the latest and most effective wildlife damage management techniques and programs, according to DonCarlos.

The use of energized fencing is one of the most effective methods to prevent wildlife damage, he said. Other highlights of the program include: Continued development of the Wildlife Geographic Information System (GIS) to integrate information on populations, habitats, harvests and depredations problems so that wildlife population management can be adjusted as necessary to reduce agricultural damage.

Increased production and distribution of technical assistance brochures, training manuals and demonstrations; One-time provision of supplies and materials for emergency wildlife damage management for agricultural specialty crops (fruit orchards, vegetables, tree farms, nurseries, turf farms and apiaries); Funding for research and special surveys pertaining to wildlife damage; and Provisions for landowner preferences for no-cost deer management permits i vulnerable areas.

"The DNR's primary focus is still to take a preventive approach by managing wildlife populations at levels that minimize damage," said Solberg.

Welsh and Solberg encourage individuals experiencing specific wildlife damage to property or agricultural crops to contact their DNR area wildlife managers. For further information, contact Solberg in Brainerd at (218) 828-2427.

GRIEVANCE HEARING
August 29, 1994 5:30 p.m.
S.T.S.C Conference Room A

A Grievance Hearing with the Teamsters Local #320 Maintenance Group of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, August 29, 1994, at 5:30 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Larry Belmont, Carl Clark, Dennis Kiesow, Jean Larson, Harry Sjulson and Darla Twomey. Also present were Superintendent Robert Duncan, Business Manager Harry Nelson, and Legal Counsel Paul Ihle.

Chairperson Dennis Kiesow called the hearing to order and Clerk Darla Twomey established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by D. Twomey and seconded by H. Sjulson to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Chairperson Kiesow read the grievance as submitted concerning the assignment of overtime hours.

Maintenance representatives Craig Lindahl and Floyd Erickson explained the grievance indicating they felt Article XIV, Overtime, Section 14.1 of the Labor Agreement was being violated in that overtime was not being distributed equally.

Superintendent Duncan reviewed his response to the grievance indicating he denied the grievance at his level as he felt it was not timely and that any change at this point would violate past practice and could bring about a counter grievance for that reason.

Legal Counsel Paul Ihle reviewed his findings indicating the practice had been established for the past 10-20 years and that in that time the Labor Agreement had been negotiated at least three times allowing an opportunity for the language to be changed if there was a problem with it. Mr. Ihle indicated the request for compensation for the difference in overtime hours is not a valid claim in that the practice shouldn't have been new to anyone and indicated a solution might be to consider the issue during negotiations.

Closing remarks were made by the Teamster representatives and the District's Legal Counsel.

Chairperson Kiesow indicated the grievance would be considered at their Regular Meeting of September 12, 1994.

CORRECTION:

An article appearing in the last edition of The Times incorrectly listed an amount allegedly accepted in kickbacks by Rodney Lynn Bjerklie. Among charges Bjerklie pled guilty to last week was an allegation that he received over 90 kickback checks totaling about $111,574, not $11,574 as listed in the article.

Health check to be offered at Goose Festival

A free health check offering blood sugar screening will be held in the ambulance garage at Middle River during the 20th annual Goose Festival Saturday, October 1, from 9 to 11 a.m.

The screening is provided by the Marshall County Nursing Service and door prizes will also be offered.

CORRECTION:

An article appearing in the last edition of The Times incorrectly stated that Mayor Bob Carlson would act as a moderator for a candidate forum in East Grand Forks last week. Actually, Mayor Robert Reeve had been scheduled to act as moderator. The Times regrets the error.

Coordinating board to meet September 28

Regional Coordinating Board for 15 counties in northwestern Minnesota will meet Wednesday, September 28, from 2 to 5 p.m. at 421 Sixth Street NE in Bagley.

Seminar on academics at Best Western Inn in TRF on September 27

"Improving the Climate for Academic Achievement In Our Schools" is the topic of a seminar arranged by the Minnesota Academic Excellence Foundation for Tuesday, September 27, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The one-day seminar will feature a presentation by Steve Schroeder-Davis, president of the Minnesota Council for Gifted and Talented; a roundtable discussion by high school students about their experiences as academic achievers; and suggestions on how to improve the climate for academic achievement in school settings.

Cost of the seminar is $20 and attendance is appropriate for parents, students, teachers and other people interested in education. Contact Korla McKenzie at 218-744-2624 to register.

"Achieving academic excellence often is not a primary goal of the American society," states Shoron Hoffmann of the Minnesota Academic Excellence Foundation. "It generally takes a back seat to sports and entertainment. As a result, students from the United States lag behind their international counterparts in the areas of science and math."

Construction crews were performing a road bore underneath Marshall County 14 near the Snake River last week. The walls of the ditch are terraced to eliminate the possibility of the walls collapsing on workers. With this summers rain, such precautions were very important. The construction crew is using a bore machine which drills a hole beneath the road. The smaller pipeline is then threaded through the hole and bent with special equipment to meet requirements. The general contractor is Greggory and Cook Inc. of Houston TX.

Lakehead Pipe Line project edges closer to completion

Construction of approximately 135 miles of new 20-inch outside diameter steel pipe along existing rights-of-way for Lakehead Pipe Line Co. is progressing so well that hydrostatic tests are being conducted on parts of the line already. A representative of Lakehead Pipe Line Company said he expects to see the project close to being buttoned up in two to three weeks.

Lakehead Pipe Line transports natural gas liquids from Edmonton, Alberta, to Sarnisa, Ontario, via the upper Peninsula of Michigan. Crude oil is transported through the entire pipeline system.

The Lakehead system carried approximately two thirds of total western Canadian crude oil production to markets in the United States and Eastern Canada in 1992. The system transported 35 per cent of all deliveries to the Chicago area, 75 per cent of all deliveries to Minneapolis-St. Paul, and virtually all deliveries to Ontario, Canada. In 1992, it delivered more than 1.2 million barrels per day to refineries in the Midwestern United States and Eastern Canada.

Construction of the current pipeline went through the area counties of Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Clearwater. Construction of the pipeline meant hundreds of temporary employees moving into the area. Campgrounds, motels, restaurants and businesses were impacted by their presence.

Don Stewart, community development director for Thief River Falls, couldn't estimate the impact their presence had on the community and surrounding area.

Greggory and Cook Inc., Houston, TX, is the general contractor on the project. During the summer, 288 employees worked on the pipeline. They were divided into two spreads. Spread I was from Canada to Viking, and spread II from Viking to Clearbrook.

According to a representative of Greggory and Cook in Thief River Falls, except for the rain at the start of the project, it has proceeded real well. They expect to complete the project in mid October.

CRP meetings seek intentions of owners

To find out what options land owners are considering for their post CRP acres and what information they need to pursue their ideas, a series of meetings will be held during the first two weeks of October in six northwestern Minnesota counties.

"The Conservation Reserve Program has been getting national attention as Congress debates the issue of renewing or concluding the contracts of land owners participating in the CRP program," notes Cheryl Sistad of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District in Grygla.

"A number of agencies have organized in northwest Minnesota to address the issue of CRP land that possibly will not be re-enrolled in the program. This coalition is known at the Northwest Minnesota Post-CRP Management Education Coalition."

First objective of the coalition is to find out what CRP contract holders are thinking about doing with their land. Several options may be available, including returning the land to crop production, using the existing cover for livestock grazing or wildlife habitat or renting it to another producer.

Dates and locations for the meetings planned are as follows:

Wednesday, October 5—9:30 a.m. at the Oklee Community Center and 1:30 p.m. at Grygla;

Thursday, October 6—9:30 a.m. at the courthouse in Thief River Falls and 1:30 p.m. in the city hall basement in Red Lake Falls;

Tuesday, October 11—7:30 a.m. at the Community Center in Greenbush, 12:30 and 4 p.m. at the library/museum meeting room in Roseau;

Wednesday, October 12—9:30 a.m. at Lancaster and 1:30 p.m. at Lake Bronson;

Thursday, October 13—9:30 a.m. at the Community Center in Newfolden, 1 p.m. in Middle River and 7 p.m. at the Community Center in Newfolden;

Friday, October 14—7:30 a.m at Baudette.

An overview of the Conservation Reserve Program and a legislative update will be given to start each of the meetings. Most of the two hours, however, will be spent in identifying conventional and innovative uses of post-CRP land. From this information the coalition will develop workshops that will provide information to implement these ideas.

All CRP contract holders are encouraged to attend at least one of the meetings convenient to them. However, the public is also invited to any of the meetings as CRP has affected all the residents of this area.

For more information contact the local Soil Conservation Service, Soil and Water Conservation District, Minnesota extension service or the Pembina Trail Resource Conservation and Development office.

Lincoln readies for 1994 Homecoming

King and queen candidates and attendants have been selected, a parade is planned, dress-up days are designated and a dance has been scheduled in the new gymnasium as Lincoln high school student senate prepares for the 1994 homecoming celebration October 3-7.

The homecoming football game Friday against Crookston Central will start at 6 p.m. at Prowler field.

Senior class candidates for homecoming king and queen and junior, sophomore and freshman class attendants were selected in a student vote last week, with each class voting for its class members only. The entire student body is involved in the vote for homecoming king and queen.

Coronation will take place at special ceremonies Monday, October 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln auditorium. Selected as queen candidates are Sarah Mugaas, Jana Johnson and Mandy Johnson. King candidates are Nathan G. Anderson, Danny Bjerknes and John Davis.

Elected by their class members as attendants are juniors Jill Dekkers, Leah Helgenset, Keith Anderson and Aaron Ehrenstrom, sophomores Alicia Bakken, Kyla Skiple, Kyle Nelson and Jay Tanner and freshmen Desirae Alberg, Rebecca McKercher, Barry Belcher and Chris Manning.

Special types of dress have been designated for the week and all Lincoln students have been encouraged to participate in the spirit of the event. Monday will be Dress-Up Day, Tuesday is Come As You Are Day, Wednesday is Senior Citizen Day, Thursday is Summer/Winter Day and Friday is Spirit Day.

On Summer/Winter Day students' outfits should be made up of half summer clothes and half winter clothes. Spirit Day winners will be announced at the pep fest scheduled for 1 p.m. Friday in the old gym at Lincoln. In order to be eligible to claim the prize, Spirit Day candidates must be properly attired and in attendance at the pep fest.

In order to promote participation in the dress-up days, the sponsoring Lincoln student senate will be giving away a free ticket to the homecoming dance or $5 certificate from the Pizza Hut to the best-dressed male and female students and staff member on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Winners will be announced at the pep fest.

Homecoming parade will start at 2 p.m. Friday following the pep fest. A separate story on the parade is included in today's issue of The Times.

Homecoming dance will be held in the new gymnasium from 9 p.m. to midnight Friday. Dancers are to be in stocking feet or wear slippers. Music will be provided by SLV Entertainment Systems with a giant video screen and spectacular light show. Tickets are $5 for singles and $9 for couples. Doors will close at 10:30 p.m.

Heather Anderson Miss Middle River

Heather Anderson, 18, daughter of Dale and Lois Anderson of Middle River, was selected to wear the crown of Miss Middle River Saturday at the 20th annual Miss Middle River pageant in the school auditorium.

Heather won the evening gown and on-stage personality and the personal interview divisions of the competition.

Heather Anderson
Miss Middle River 1994

Stephanie Berg, 17, daughter of Earl and Lynette Berg, was named first runner-up and Molly Rantanen, 17, daughter of Dan and Becky Rantanen, earned second runner-up honors.

Molly Rantanen won the swimsuit division and was awarded the Miss Congeniality award voted among the contestants.

Other contestants were Brianna Geer, 17 daughter of Barb Geer and Danny Geer, who won the talent division with a piano solo and Tanja Lundmark, 17, daughter of Karin Lundmark, Roland and Milayne Lundmark.

Crowning her successor was Alexis Bengtson, Miss Middle River of 1993. Alexis will represent Middle River in the 1995 Miss Marshall County pageant and Heather will compete in the county event in 1996.

The new Miss Middle River receives her crown, a plaque, $250 and sponsorship in the Miss Marshall County pageant from the sponsoring Middle River Community Club. She also receives $250 from the Middle River Jaycees, a $150 scholarship from American Legion Post 444 and a number of gifts from other donors.

Pageant theme this year was "Small Town Girl."

Parade will recognize homecoming at Northland and Lincoln

To observe Lincoln High School and Northland Community College homecoming celebrations, a community parade is being planned for Friday, October 7, at 2 p.m. in Thief River Falls.

Northland Community College football team will be playing Itasca Community College at 7 p.m. on Thursday, October 6. The Lincoln Prowlers football game against the Crookston Pirates will be at 6 p.m. Friday, October 7.

The parade Friday will form at the Pennington county fairgrounds at 1:30 p.m. Parade units will follow a route east down highway 59 to LaBree Avenue, south on LaBree Avenue to First Street and west on First Street to Lincoln high school where it will disband.

For the safety of children it is requested that units in the parade not throw candy along the parade route.

Entry forms to participate in the parade are available from and must be returned to the Community Education Department of School District 564, located in the school district service center. Line-up information will be given to participants at 1:30 p.m. at the formation area on the fairgrounds.

Save the Depot committee is running on enthusiasm

With the half-way point coming up in October, Chairman Larry Rohlf of the Historic Depot Preservation committee admits to being "a little nervous." The committee has set October 15 as the date to reach $100,000 in its fund drive—half the amount needed to save the Soo Line Depot building in Thief River Falls.

"Right now, the committee is being carried by the enthusiasm of the community," Rohlf said. "We sold out of promotional buttons and had to reorder. In fact, 300 were sold in two hours alone during Everybody's Market. It was incredible."

Even with such community support, Rohlf said the halfway point is an important milestone.

"I suppose we are about a quarter into the campaign with $50,000 in pledges and donations, so in some ways we're right on track. But I would feel a lot more comfortable if we were ahead of schedule."

Last summer the depot owner, the Canadian Pacific Railroad, began to take bids for demolition of the 80-year-old landmark west of the Soo Line tracks along Third Street. The building, which last housed the local chamber of commerce office, has been vacant since 1989.

The preservation committee was able to negotiate a purchase agreement, dependent on a public/private partnership, to find a new commercial use for the building and guarantee its future. The plan includes $200,000 in public donations, matched by another $200,000 already pledged by a private benefactor.

In addition to fund raising of the $200,000 in matching funds, the committee must find a private developer to add another $200,000 to $300,000 to the project. Rohlf said that Thief River Falls community development director Don Stewart has had two developers express interest in the depot. One would use the site for a restaurant, the other for retail and office space.

"There seems to be a lot of inter-

Snowmobilers add money to TRF economy

Results from a conversion study on the economic impact of the 1993-94 winter snowmobile marketing program initiated by the Thief River Falls Convention and Visitors Bureau indicate that the program was successful in generating an economic contribution of $38,400 to the Thief River Falls economy.

Julie Olson of the Convention and Visitors Bureau said that 419 inquiries as a result of four different promotional vehicles were included in the study completed by the state department of trade and economic development as part of a partnership program. The promotional vehicles were Minnesota Snowmobiling, Snowmobile Destinations and SnoGoer magazines and a direct mail component.

The study showed a 24 per cent conversion to the Thief River Falls area among survey respondents in that they took at least one trip to Thief River Falls. Results also indicated that the program was successful in generating "new" business for the Thief River Falls area, Olson said, because 66 per cent of the visitors had not visited the Thief River Falls area on winter pleasure trips during the previous five years.

Average length of stay of visits here was just over three nights. The average party size was 5.1 persons and average party expenditure in this area was $686. Multiplying that average times the 56 traveling parties involved provides the $38,400 direct local expenditure.

Olson also noted that this expenditure generates approximately $2,500 in state sales tax.

Among respondents who did not take a 1993-94 winter trip to the Thief River Falls area, 14 per cent indicated that they definitely would visit the area before the next winter and another 70 per cent responded that they maybe would.

Of those responding to the survey, the conversion of visitors to Thief River Falls by geographic location included Manitoba, 43 per cent; Minnesota, 29 per cent; North Dakota, 28 per cent; Iowa, 20 per cent; Wisconsin, 14 per cent; and other states, 25 per cent.

"According to the Department of Trade and Economic Development, the average snowmobile party increases the economic contribution threefold compared to the average winter traveler," Olson said. "Indeed, the snowmobile market has mega impact on the winter tourism industry, a piece of the pie that the Thief River Falls Convention and Visitors Bureau will continue to strive to obtain."

Save the Depot comittee runs on enthusiasm

est and we want to find the right developer to guarantee the future of the building," Rohlf said. "We don't want to find ourselves right back where we started a couple years from now."

Rohlf said the committee welcomes community and service clubs to join the effort by sponsoring fund-raisers to "Save the Depot."

"The individual contributors are super," he said, "but it's going to take a total community effort to save the building. We will give promotional support to any group that wants to lend us a hand."

Rohlf said the different levels of contributions and memorials will be recognized with a tribute that will become part of the property renovation.

"It's an exciting project," Rohlf said. "If this building were taken down tomorrow, it would be gone forever. You can't recreate history; you can only work to preserve it. We can let this landmark be destroyed without giving our best effort to try to save it."

Selecting instrument is key to enjoying music for beginning students

by Doug Schmitt
Schmitt Music Company

Fall signals the beginning of school instrument programs, and if your child is entering fifth or sixth grade (when most schools' band and orchestra programs begin), it's an ideal time to get started.

One of the first decisions children and parents must make is choosing the best instrument for the child. The multitude of options for instruments, from oboe to tuba, must seem both endless and confusing. But there's no reason for panic. Some simple guidelines can help you and your child make this very important decision.

First, there are a few physical considerations to take into account when scouting for an instrument. If your prospective musician has yet to hit a growth spurt, there is a decent chance that he or she won't be able to reach every position of the slide on a trombone. Fully covering all the holes and keys on a woodwind instrument also can be a problem for children with small fingers. Unlike string instruments, brass and woodwind instruments generally are not made in smaller sizes for children.

However, don't get caught up in any of the myths surrounding the relationship between physical characteristics and aptitude on certain instruments. For example, because of the lung capacity required, a bigger child may very well be better off with the flute than the tuba. That's because the flute requires a larger and more consistent amount of air pressure than the tuba, meaning a smaller child would probably have an easier time playing the tuba than coaxing an even tone from the flute.

The child's mouth shape and teeth structure also can influence ability to excel on different instruments. Thin lips are an advantage for certain brass instruments, and children with an overbite should see the dentist before choosing a woodwind instrument, which could worsen the condition. Orthondontic devices also can hamper a child on some brass instruments, especially trumpet and French horn.

Musical aptitude and level of motivation also should play a role in the choice of instrument. Instruments such as the French horn, oboe, bassoon and any string instrument, usually require a higher level of skill and devotion. This doesn't mean that a musically inexperienced youngster can't master these instruments, it just might take a little more effort.

Cost is, of course, a significant factor for most parents. Price levels on various instruments vary greatly. A good flute, clarinet or trumpet can be had for less than $500, while saxophones or French horns may cost more than $1,000.

However, there is good news — most musical instrument shops have reasonable rental or trial plans with affordable monthly payments and flexible return policies. Used instruments also are available, but should be purchased with care. Playing a poorly constructed or maintained instrument could be disastrous for your child's musical enjoyment and development. Before purchasing, always have the used instrument checked out by a respected instrument-repair shop.

While all these guidelines should be considered, your child's interest is by far the most important factor in the decision: Playing an instrument should first and foremost be fun for children, and persuading them to play an instrument they aren't excited about is a sure recipe for disaster.

If you still have any questions about your child's instrument choice, talk with your school's music director or check with a local instrument shop. The public library also should have several books and videotapes with information on the various instruments.

Good luck to you and your child in this musical adventure. Learning to play an instrument can be the start of a lifetime of musical growth and enjoyment.

If you have any questions about music education that you would like answered, send them to Doug Schmitt, Music Questions, Schmitt Music, 88 South 10th Street, Minneapolis, MN 55403.

Investors affected by new ruling of SEC

A new Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) ruling scheduled to take effect June 1, 1995, could dramatically impact the way individual investors conduct their securities transactions. Specifically, investors will have three business days, rather than the current five, to pay for securities purchases or to deliver certificates after a transaction. The rule is commonly referred to as "T+3," which stands for "trade date plus three days."

Regan A. Rohl, the Thief River Falls representative for the financial-services firm Edward D. Jones & Co., said, "T+3 is designed to help curb the risk in the securities market. Over the past 20 years, we've seen an incredible increase in the use of computerized trading as well as growth in the sheer volume on the New York Stock Exchange; yet, the business of paying for all those securities has remained basically the same. In addition, most other nations have already reduced their settlement periods to three days or less. This new initiative will enable us to keep pace with technology, with the volume of trading and with other world markets."

According to Rohl, the new ruling also means that investors will receive the proceeds from selling securities two days earlier. "Reinvestment dollars will be put to work more quickly than in the past," Rohl said.

A shorter settlement may also affect the way many investors transact their securities business. In most cases, using the postal service to remit payment or send in certificates for a trade will no longer be fast enough. Rather, payment for securities may need to be on deposit in the investor's account at the time a transaction is executed.

"To avoid trading delays when the June 1, 1995, ruling takes effect investors should begin preparing today," Rohl said. "A portfolio review is a good first step, and many investors will want to consider establishing accounts that offer a money-market option to provide easy access to the cash they need to pay for purchases and that also offer safekeeping of securities so that certificates are readily available for sale."

For more information on T+3 contact Rohl at 312 North Main or call at (218) 681-8380.

Child Behavior Management cards offered

In an educational endeavor to provide parents with information on effective behavior, the Pennington County Child Abuse Prevention Council has undertaken a project to distribute Child Behavior Management cards.

Racks to hold the cards and a supply of cards have been purchased by the council to be located at Jubilee Foods and Hugo's supermarkets in Thief River Falls. Through cooperation of these stores the cards will be readily accessible and available free of charge to the public.

The project is being undertaken by the council with a mini-grant received from the Minnesota Children's Trust Fund. Previous mini-grants have been used to purchase videotapes to enhance prevention awareness and education.

Studies have shown the informational cards to have helped the knowledge and awareness of parents and that many have found them helpful in changing how they feel about and deal with child behavior.

Topics of information on the cards include the following:

Accidents: What Should I Do?; Bedtime Problem: Bed-wetting; Crying: What Should I Do?; Discipline; Divorce: Telling the Children; Divorce: The Full-Time Parent; Divorce: The Part-Time Parent; Feeding Problems; Kids and Television; Lying: What Can I Do?; My Child Bites; My Child Plays With Fire; My Kids Fight;

Also My Child's Afraid: What Should I Do?; My Child Is Late Again; My Child Is A Picky Eater; My Child Stutters; Report Card Time; Rules: What's Fair?; Stealing: What Can I Do?; Swearing: What Can I Do?; Tantrums: What Should I Do?; Tattling: What Should I Do?; Toilet Training: When and How?; Toilet Training Problem; Thumbsucking: What Should I Do?; What Should I Do When My Child Is Playing Doctor?; When My Child Interrupts; When My Child Says "No!"

Information on the cards is intended to help parents understand more about their children's or child's behavior and learn effective alternatives to abusive responses to parenting problems.

Know the Warning Signs of Arthritis

What you don't know about arthritis can hurt you, warns the Arthritis Foundation, Minnesota Chapter.

Arthritis affects an estimated 37 million Americans; that is one in every seven people. It is the country's number one crippling condition, and although there are no cures for most forms of arthritis, much of the pain and crippling can be prevented or delayed by early diagnosis and treatment.

"Knowledge is the most important defense against arthritis," says Kurt Zimmerman, M.D., volunteer with the Arthritis Foundation's Minnesota Chapter. "Becoming familiar with the warning signs is one way people can educate themselves as well as take an active role in their health care."

For those people who think they might have arthritis, the Arthritis Foundation notes that there are a number of warning signals, but the three most common are pain, swelling and stiffness or loss of movement in or around joints. If you have any of these symptoms for more than two weeks, you should see a doctor, explained Zimmerman.

According to the Arthritis Foundation, there are an estimated six million Americans who are self-diagnosed. Dr. Zimmerman explained that this group includes people who think they have arthritis, but have not yet seen a doctor.

Medication, along with a combination of exercise, joint protection and rest, are frequently part of the total treatment plan for arthritis prescribed by a doctor. These treatments are designed to help control pain and to maintain movement. In some forms of arthritis, certain medications can produce remission and prevent disability.

For more information or to request a copy of the brochure, "Basic Facts," contact the Arthritis Foundation, Minnesota Chapter, at 612-874-1201 or 1-800-333-1380.

The Arthritis Foundation is the source of help and hope for an estimated 37 million Americans who have arthritis. The foundation supports research to find ways to cure and prevent arthritis diseases, and seeks to improve the quality of life for those affected by arthritis.

Arries named youth director at United Methodist church, TRF

Chris Arries, a candidate for ordination and youth ministry specialist from East Grand Forks, has accepted the position of full-time youth director at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls.

Arries is a junior at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. He has served as a youth coordinator and confirmation mentor at Zion United Methodist church in Grand Forks, and as a youth counselor for the Dakota United Methodist church conference. He also has experience as a Sunday School teacher and as summer camp counselor at Wesley Acres, a Bible camp in Dazey, ND.

Arries says he rediscovered youth ministry as a camp counselor. "I think it's really God's joke on me. I turned 18 and cast out kids. I thought camp counselling would just be a way to spend a great summer relaxing in the sun." Arries says what he found was refreshing to his own view of faith and Christianity. "Especially junior and senior high youth. They're just coming into their own convictions. They have few preconceived notions about being a Christian, and are very open."

Arries enjoys music. He plays piano, French horn, trumpet and guitar. He will step into the youth ministry program developed by Steve and Ginny Anderson who were recently called to serve the United Methodist church in Roseau.

Arries says the program includes weekly after-school activities for elementary students, confirmation, campus ministry, UMYF (United Methodist Youth Foundation), and Sunday morning activities in Sunday School and worship.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

Gretchen Belto

Last week I surprised my family and guests by announcing we were going on a night tour of Thief River Falls. I called it a mystery tour, and no one could guess where we were going. In September, evening dusks come early, and so after dinner we took a nighttime drive around the city.

Our first stop was the airport, where we stopped the car and delighted in seeing the forms and colors of the new neon sculpture on the keystone atop the new hangar. The glowing forms were installed just a few weeks ago, and they readily identify the Northwest Technical College Aviation Mechanics Hangar.

The glowing red outline and supports of an airplane wing is the dominant feature. It remined us of designs of airplane wings of the 1930's when aviation was first brought here by barnstorming pilots. Slowly we began to see that faint colors were washing the inner surface of the wing--colors were shifting and subtly changing as we looked. This may not be an aurora on the plains, but it is fun to watch.

But before we could digest all that, we commented on the spinning blue circular form in the center of the sculpture. Was it a radial engine or a representation of a whirling propellor maybe the suggestion of a fan jet?

Below these airplane forms was a glowing golden horizon line, so appropriate for September with our horizon stretching out with harvest fields of grains.

A plumb bob from the horizon line ends in a light above the doorway into the hanger, giving some vertical development.

While the sculpture is also attractive in the light of day, we decided nighttime is the best time to view this newest artwork of Thief River Falls --the darker the night, the better.

Although the sculpture is best viewed from the left of the aviation classrooms, we drove to the far side of the parking lot to see how it looked from afar. The outlines of wing and engine indeed were brightly visible and added sparkling blue, green, gold, red to the glowing vermillion curving lights on the roof of the hangar, a new polychromatic silhouette to the prairie night sky.

Next time we want to drive further out airport road to see how it looks from afar.

The new Challenger School has interesting shapes and colors, and its lights enabled us to view its pleasing forms. It is an impressive addition to our city.

We enjoyed driving past the parks beside the river with streetlamps gleaming over the riverwalks. A special pleasure was seeing the ever-moving waters of the river, glinting in the lights of the bridges as we crossed the river twice, admiring cozily lighted homes and stores on our way to Chief's Park.

We drove into the parking lot of Chief's Park and turned off the ignition. The statue of Chief Mons-Si-Moh was floodlighted and looked especially dramatic and imposing at night.

The tall flowers surrounding the base seemed to echo the bright reds and golds of the Chief's coat and the beaded decorations on his crossed bandoliers.

Chief Mons-Si-Moh stands tall, looking across the meeting of the two rivers' waters to the College woods, where his village once was. He stands holding his calumet, the decorated pipe of peace. This was a place to think about the past and what it means for our lives today.

. . . Giggles are Good

A little giggle once in a while is supposed to be good for a person. I stole the following giggles from a recent "Across Our Desk" column in the Fertile Journal.. Surely you will be able to find one or two that tickle your funny bone today.

What Happens:

Old bankers never die — they just lose interest.
Old golfers never die — they just putter away.
Old volcanoes never die — they just blow their tops.
Old quarterbacks never die — they just pass away.
Old cows never die — they just kick the bucket.
Old teachers never die — they just lose their class.
Old principals never die — they just lose their faculties.

I can relate to several of these signs of age:

You Are Getting Old When:

— You need less mileage and more roughage,
— Prime time is bed time,
— You have morning-afters without the night-befores,
— You feel the only one who understands you is your recliner,
— The snap-crackle-and pop is coming from you and not your cereal,
— You start ordering oatmeal in Mexican restaurants,
— You stop dressing for success and start dressing for support,
— You spell relief N-A-P,
— All print is too fine.

Haven't you seen some almost as funny as the following in your "local" paper? I have, too.

Mad Ads:

"A superb and inexpensive restaurant. Fine foods expertly served by waitresses in appetizing forms."

"Dinner Special: Turkey $2.35; chicken or beef, $2.24, children, $2.00."

"For Sale: Antique desk suitable for lady with thick legs and large drawers."

"For Sale: A quilted high chair that can be made into a table, potty chair, rocking horse, refrigerator, spring coat, size 8 and fur collar."

"We do not tear your clothing with machinery. We do it carefully by hand."

"Mr. and Mrs. John Doe were Friday sinner guests at the Angus Smith home."

Some Things to Think About:

Eternity: Paying for a car on the installment plan.

Happiness is not having what you want, but wanting what you have.

Fame is a vapor, popularity an accident, riches take wings. Only one thing endures — character.

You grow up the day you have your first real laugh — at yourself.

Never try to teach a pig to sing. It wastes your time and annoys the pig.

We need old friends to help us grow old and new friends to help us stay young.

Humor: The hole that lets the sawdust out of a stuffed shirt.

All of us are smart at ages five and 18. At five we know all the questions, and at 18 we know all the answers.

Children are like cement — whatever falls on them makes an impression.

Remind me not to do that again!

That's what I said last year after playing chauffeur for my mom and two of my aunts. They needed someone to drive them to the Twin Cities for the Renaissance Festival. When I dropped them off at the end of the trip, I exclaimed to my husband, "Make sure I never do that again!"

But, when my mom asked me to drive again this year, my memory had lost some of its clarity and I had forgotten about the things that drove me crazy the last time. I relented, and a couple of weeks ago I drove my mother and her twin sister to Minneapolis. In fact, I acted as a mini-tour operator, arranging everything from transportation to tickets and lodging.

For any of you who embark on a trip with your mother and her sister, or any other combination of relatives, here is a list of pointers that might come in handy.

1. Before placing the car in drive, check to see if your passengers have any medical problems that require a special seating arrangement. In this case, my aunt gets carsick if she sits in the back seat. By all means, have her sit in the front.

2. Administer a mild sedative to passengers or make them wear blinders. If you're driving, they should do the riding. There's nothing worse than a passenger saying, "Why are you going this way? The other way is shorter." This makes me question why I'm driving if they think they know where they're going.

And, hearing shrieks from the back seat makes me a little ornery. You want to prevent your companions from hollering, "Eek, watch out for that car."

3. Designate an official map reader. Be sure the designee knows which is north and south and can differentiate between rivers and roads. It helps if the map reader is the same person who gets carsick in the back seat and has to sit in the front.

4. You will also need a decision maker – head honcho, boss man, ringleader. This person is in charge of many important decisions, such as where to eat, when to leave, when to go and what to do. It is much too difficult to arrive at a consensus between more than two people within a reasonable time – say 24 hours. Remember, the decision of the head honcho is final.

5. Always request separate checks when eating in a restaurant. Try splitting the tab when the smallest bill anyone has is a twenty. By the way, how much was my hamburger and pop?

6. Draw numbers for use of the hotel bathroom. If you're on any kind of schedule, it's important that everyone knows when it's their turn to shower and makes good use of their time in the bathroom. No lollygagging or bathroom hogging is allowed. (And that goes for towels, too. One bath towel per person.)

7. Don't forget to pack your earplugs. Or, try to fall asleep before the others. There's nothing like a cacophony of snorers to ruin a good night's sleep. No pillow of any size wrapped around your head in any fashion can drown out the sound.

8. Settle up for all costs immediately. It's difficult to keep track of who paid and who owes. Let's see...I paid for lunch, but I owe you for the tickets, but I paid for supper two nights ago. I guess we're even.

9. Give your passengers a short course in manners before departure. You can't have them embarrassing you in a restaurant by stacking their plates, eating with their elbows on the table, or by crumpling their cloth napkins on their dirty plate. Remind them that a finger bowl is for dipping, not washing their hands.

10. Relax and have fun. It only happens once a year. Next year you'll say, "I guess it wasn't that bad. Was it?"

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

Autumn Song

Here is a cute song to sing in the fall. It is sung to the tune of "She'll Be Coming Around the Mountain."

When the leaves are red and yellow
in the fall, (clap, clap)
When the leaves are red and yellow
in the fall, (clap, clap)
When the leaves are red and yellow,
then the apples taste so mellow,
When the leaves are red and yellow
in the fall. (clap, clap)

Oh, the air is crisp and colder in the fall, (brr, brr)
Oh, the air is crisp and colder in the
fall, (brr, brr)
Oh, the air is crisp and colder, and the wind is getting bolder,
Oh, the air is crisp and colder in the
fall. (brr, brr)

Catch Your Child Being Good!

There is a great deal of information available about how to handle children when they are misbehaving. But parents don't hear often enough about the value of praising children when they are behaving.

One educator has said, "What's rewarded gets repeated."

This means that if you want to see better behavior from your child, watch what she's doing and comment on her positive behavior.

When she carries her plate to the sink, tell her "Good job, Sara!"

When he is sharing his toys with a playmate, say, "Jason, I like the way you share your toys with Bryan."

When she goes to bed quietly and with no fuss, tell her "I noticed how helpful you were about going to bed this evening. That's a good thing to do."

Sometimes children are embarrassed by too many compliments, but most enjoy a pat on the back for their accomplishments.

Listen to what you're saying to your children. If your comments are more negative than positive, it's time to make an effort to change.

Watch what kids do, catch them being good, and reward them with a smile and a "Well done!"

It only takes a minute and it can make a difference in your child's behavior.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Tell your child that you like what he has done. Make your statements short and in words he can understand.

(Contributed by the Early Childhood Family Education department of School District 564.)

Board on Aging seeks input on needs of older adults

Minnesota Board on Aging is seeking involvement by citizens interested in identifying the needs of older adults by becoming one of 450 delegates to the State White House Conference on Aging in October or preparing a position paper with recommendations and strategies for implementation.

Especially urged to attend and voice their concerns are seniors of color and seniors with low incomes. Deadline for submission of position papers is October 1.

For information on how to apply to become one of the delegates for the October 31-November 1 conference or to prepare a position paper, contact the Minnesota Board of Aging at 612-296-2770 or 1-800-882-6262.

Topics for policy development include elder rights and surrogate decision making; employment and continued productivity for middle-aged and older persons, including training; future of aging services; issues of seniors of color; pension issues, especially for women; health care reform; long term care; and home and community based services.

Policy recommendations generated at the state conference and regional conferences will be forwarded to the National White House Conference on Aging May 1-5, 1995. That will be the last White House Conference on Aging in this century. Over the next decade policy decisions about programs affecting older adults will be developed from recommendations elected at the state and national conferences.

Previous conferences have brought about such things as Medicare, the Older Americans Act, Area Agencies on Aging, food stamps, nutrition programs, Retired Senior Volunteer Program, transportation services and Supplemental Security Income.

FmHA plans Customer Service Day on October 13

Customer Service Day will be observed by the county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) October 13 when state headquarters staff will participate in front-line employee activities at the county office level.

"The main goal of the day is to demonstrate to our field employees and our customers that top-level management is serious about improving service to customers," Daley said.

"Rural residents are encouraged to stop by their local FmHA office October 13 and see for themselves how their government is striving to be better," Daley added.

Safety prevents carbon monoxide poisoning deaths

If this fall follows the pattern of previous years, several Minnesotans may die in their homes from carbon monoxide poisoning. These tragedies are most often the result of carbon monoxide gas being released into homes by malfunctioning furnaces.

"The start of the heating season is the most dangerous time of year, as people turn on furnaces which may not be in peak operating condition," warned Minnesota Department of Public Service (DPS) commissioner, Kris Sanda.

DPS is urging homeowners to call the department's energy information office if they have questions or concerns regarding the safety of their heating systems.

Carbon monoxide is an odorless, colorless gas. If you experience any of the following symptoms, it may be an indication of carbon monoxide build-up in your home:

- Headaches;
- Nausea and other flu-like symptoms;
- Disorientation; and
- Unusual sleepiness.

If these symptoms are at all intense or persistent, immediately let fresh air into the house and call your utility company's emergency number to have your home tested for poisonous gases.

Several factors could cause carbon monoxide build-up:

- A dirty furnace burner;
- Poor flame adjustment;
- Leaks or cracks in the furnace or pipes; and
- Inadequate supply of oxygen in the house.

Inadequate oxygen is also known as a lack of "combustion air." If the indoor supply of fresh air is not adequate, combustion gases will spill into the house rather than venting outside through the chimney.

Frequently, the use of a fireplace is a major contributor to this problem. A fire uses large amounts of air, competing with the furnace, water heater or other fuel-burning appliances for the air they need to operate. The result can be back drafting, which causes carbon monoxide to spill back into the house. To prevent this:

- Turn the furnace off while the fireplace is in use, and keep a window in the room open an inch to two.
- Make sure the fireplace damper is kept open until the fire is completely out — the coals should be cold.

"These tragedies are preventable," Sanda said. "If everyone is well enough informed of the dangers that exist, we hope we can reduce the instances of carbon monoxide poisoning in Minnesota to zero."

- Have a professional perform a complete cleaning and tuning, including a check of the condition of the burner and the flame adjustment, as well as for leaks.
- Have the service person test for an adequate supply of combustion air in the home. (There is also a test you can do yourself — call DPS for the information.)

Also, carbon monoxide monitors which can detect the gas in your home are available at most hardware stores.

DPS can offer advice over the phone and can send out information, including publications on performing a combustion air test and a furnace and boiler tune-up checklist. Call 296-5175 in the Twin Cities, or 1-800-657-3710.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Kari Larson
Lincoln High School

Have you ever hear, "Turn that music down!!" I've heard it plenty of times. I guess being a teenager in today's society is just like our parents' society was. The older generation has always thought modern music was too loud. In our parents' era, rock and roll was coming to a head and their parents hated it. Today's music has the same effect on our parents, and they hate our music.

My parents listen to a variety of music, but mostly country music. Once in a while, teenagers get a wild rebellious feeling. For the most part, you just cannot get wild and crazy to country music, though I like to listen to country music when I feel depressed or upset.

The music that most young people listen to today relates to our problems, fears and hopes: drugs, alcohol, sex, suicide, AIDS, unwanted pregnancies and not being accepted in society. Country music touches on these subjects, but rarely from a young person's view. Country music conflicts usually deal with marital problems such as my husband/wife is leaving me, cheating on me, or beating me. How many teens do you know who are married? So how can we relate?

Though some country music talks about drugs and alcohol ("Little Rock," Collin Raye), adultery ("Does He Love You?" Reba McEntire, Linda Davis), suicide ("Independence Day," Martina McBride), and AIDS ("His Name Was John," Reba McEntire), yet it's from an adult standpoint. The last few years, however, country music has become more popular among some teens. Some fav's are Brooks & Dunn, Collin Ray, Garth Brooks, Confederate Railroad and Travis Tritt, just to mention a few.

Rock music has changed dramatically over the last two decades from Elvis to the Beatles to the Stones to Bruce Springsteen to Metallica. Elvis' songs were about love, sex, loneliness and what not. This was forbidden land for our grandparents. His gyrating hips were the main issue on "American Bandstand." His pulsating pelvis had sexual implications, so they said. The Beatles and the Stones were wild punks that played music too loud; that often got our parents in trouble. Some parents held assemblies where they would burn and break albums.

A decade later, when my mom was younger, it seemed like everyone loved Bruce "The Boss," and I remember my mom listening to him.

Our generation, however, has changed rock and roll 180 degrees but one thing is still the same-the older generation still objects to it. Today, some adults object to our music because they think that the music we listen to encourages us to have sex, experiment with drugs or alcohol, join gangs, or become violent. But I feel if a child does act up because of the lyrics of the music, there is something wrong with the child that runs deeper than the music. Mentally healthy teenagers wouldn't be that affected by the lyrics. For those who may be too immature, perhaps they should sit and watch Barney instead.

Music can also alter a person's mood positively. I personally like rock-rock ballads, some country and easy listening. The music that teenagers choose usually relates to their current mood. If we're having a good time and are hyper, we'd probably listen to rap or rock. If our moods are softer, maybe rock ballads. If the world seems to be coming down on us, probably some real sappy songs, or an up-beat song to get us in a better mood. Isn't it strange that the music we listen to can alter our moods for the better or worse?

In the past when rock and roll, or any vocal music came out, the words were often the main point of the song. Now, mostly the beat of the song makes it popular. Sometimes the lyrics are so covered by the instruments, you have to look inside the jacket of the cassette or CD to find out what they're actually saying. Some people say that's not music. I think anything that has a rhythm can be classified as music. Some of the most popular groups that are out now that teenagers like are "Greenday," Candlebox," "Crackers," "Snoop Doggy Dog," "Dr. Dre," "Boys II Men," and "Collective Soul."

Music gives me a way to relax, be carefree and release my tensions. If there were no music in this world, I think I'd wither up and die!

Dear Readers,
Death is one of life's most difficult crises, and families are often under deep emotional stress when funeral arrangements are made. This is one reason so many people consider pre-planning. It is much easier to discuss funeral arrangements before the need arises - quietly, professionally, and without emotion. Today, more than ever before, people are turning to prearrangement.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

Local runners headed for Twin Cities Marathon

by David Hill
Times Associate Editor

Several local runners will soon take up the challenge of the Twin Cities Marathon.

I am a runner; so, I believe I understand the motivation for, and the reasons why runners put themselves through all manner of stress in preparation for this marathon. Each of the nine individuals who will participate in this event, however, have to find their own reason for running the 26 mile 385 yard race. Perhaps in running the marathon they will find a reason not to run another in their lifetime. Perhaps they will be looking forward to another marathon five minutes after they finish.

Of the eight Thief River Falls residents and one area resident, who will line up at the start with 6,000 other runners on October 2, none expect to cross the finish line some 26 miles later in first place. Instead, they expect to win by crossing the finish line and winning the battle against fatigue and aching muscles. It is a very personal contest against self. It is an act that legitimizes their sport. It is an opportunity to testify with others to the benefits of health and exercise.

Twin Cities Marathon is widely considered one of the most beautiful marathons in the United States. The course starts at the metro dome and winds its way around many of the lakes in Minneapolis that are surrounded by trees, which will now be shrouded in fall colors. About 6,000 runners participate in this annual event and they are supported by 4,000 volunteers and roughly 200,000 cheering spectators. The course concludes with a spectacular view of the State Capitol.

The local runners participating in this event come from many different occupations. Jan Puttbrese is a pharmacist, Dee Larson, an RN, Anita Hendrickson, an RN, her brother Arlan Anderson, an insurance agent in Argyle, Tom Ronchetti, a claims adjuster, Darrell Magner, a business owner, Dr. Martin Duchscher, a dentist, Dr. Richard Heinrichs, a physician, and Ken Cedergren, a plumber. Each has a slightly different story about why they decided to run a marathon and how they trained for that goal.

Jan Puttbrese, 38, and Dee Larson, 49, train by minutes or time. They subscribe to a widely followed training schedule, which lists how long, not how far, they should run each day. They also plan two weeks of hard training and one week of rest. At the beginning it amounted to about 25 miles a week. Recently, they peaked out at about 48 miles per week. Their longest run was 20-miles long.

Both have run in marathons before so they are hoping to improve on previous efforts. Dee wants to run an ultra-marathon, which is generally anything over 30 miles. She will reach a milestone in her life this year and would like to match it with something very impressive. She's been getting assistance in training for an ultra-marathon from local ultra-marathoning guru Jim Grindley. Jan's goal is to qualify for Boston, but she doesn't have much confidence in herself quite yet. She believes age more than training will allow her to reach her goal.

In addition to running an ultra-marathon, Dee says she found running is the easiest way to contain her weight, and the races give her the motivation to keep running.

Perhaps in a pre-marathon funk, which comes from miles and miles of training, Jan said she isn't quite sure why she wants to run another marathon. "Cause it's there, I guess," she said recently.

Both include in their training special concerns about diet. They try to eat low fat, and Dee recently came up with a special tune to the "I Love You" tune so often heard on Barney - "With beans and bagels we are often seen, ice cream only in our dreams". (Editor's note: I think they need to drink more fluid on those long runs.)

Tom Ronchetti, 44, has followed a training schedule similar to that utilized by Jan and Dee — a schedule based on time instead of miles. He is one of the few in this group that enjoys getting up very early in the morning to put in his training. He added that he actually goes two days easy and one day hard and peaked at about 62 miles in a one-week period. He has been running for nine years and has nine marathons under his belt - or running shoe.

Although he runs primarily for his health, Tom isn't too concerned about diet when running, because runners tend to burn up a lot of calories. When he isn't running he's very selective about what he eats. His goal for this marathon is to run the course in under 4 hours.

He said he runs for the challenge and his family is very supportive.

Anita Hendrickson, wife of KTRF's Big Red, is up by 4 a.m. and out the door by 4:30 a.m. for her training runs. This is her third marathon and she's eying a goal she barely missed last year. It's a goal Clark Hendrickson might have to worry about because if she reaches her goal, he's going to have to put on his running shoes again. Last year, Anita just missed beating her husband's previous best marathon time. In an effort to encourage her to run, Clark agreed that if she beat his time he would begin a running program.

Anita also follows a training scheduled based on time instead of miles, but her longest run was 18 miles.

She is a little more serious about her diet than many marathoners, who tend to over indulge in Dairy Queen treats every once-in-awhile and subscribe to the motto - "we run to eat". She doesn't eat meat, and eats mostly vegetables and potatoes.

She says she runs because it makes her feel good and helps her keep the weight off. She also runs because "it's such a great sense of accomplishment and self-fulfillment to complete a marathon." She noted that in one of the articles in a runner's magazine a runner said, "five minutes before a marathon you're asking why, and five minutes after you're asking yourself what's next."

Anita said jokingly of her family that if they aren't supportive they don't get fed.

Ken Cedergren, 43, is one of the most congenial and talkative marathoners anyone could ever meet on a running course. Sometimes it's difficult to know if he's just kidding or whether he's serious, but he said he eats a lot of donuts and candy in preparation for a marathon and runs so he can get out of house work. His wife Cindy, quickly agreed, adding that he does a fine job of that.

Like the other marathoners, however, Kenny puts in many miles in preparation for the marathon. His goal this year is to beat his previous time at Grandma's this year, which he said won't be difficult considering the conditions during Grandma's race.

Of the race, Cedergren said he's not sure if it's a challenge, but it's a nice way to spend a weekend in Minneapolis.

Arlan Anderson, of Argyle is Anita Hendrickson's brother. He's been training for his second marathon in order to qualify for the Boston Marathon, which he hopes to run in 1996. He ran his last marathon in 1987. In order to qualify for the Boston Marathon, Anderson hopes to complete the course in under 3:25.

His training has consisted of putting in many miles - up to 50 miles in one week.

Anderson said his wife has been biking with him - even on long runs. "She's my support team," Anderson said.

Having run one marathon before he knows what it takes, and also knows what a feeling of accomplishment you get after finishing. He also uses running to get rid of stress. "It's my therapy after work," Anderson said.

For Dr. Richard Heinrichs running a marathon is his commitment to his 50th year. He explained that he told his friends at his birthday that he was going to run a marathon. Now his friends and pride are making sure he goes through with it.

The Twin Cities Marathon will be his first marathon. His training started in May. Since then he has been running one long run per week. His longest long run before June 19 was the Winnipeg half marathon which took him 2:03 to complete. After that, he had a 20 mile run which took 3:20 to complete. Laughing, he said his diet has consisted of anything his wife, Thief River Falls' Vice Mayor Jean Heinrichs, puts in front of him. During the last week or so, however, he plans to load up on foods high in carbohydrates.

Jean has been real supportive and when she heard of his commitment to run a marathon said, "Wow, go for it!"

Darrell Magner, president of Independent Machine Service in Thief River Falls, said he's a little concerned about his training for his first marathon because he fell a little behind after a mid-summer injury. He has been in a lot of shorter races but his weekly distance only crept up to the 40-miles per week range. He said he plans to run in the race anyway even if it means doing some walking. He added that if he's not able to complete the race he plans to complete the race next year. He said he really enjoys running. He admits his diet has been nothing special, but he has tried to eat better and lighter. His goal is simply to finish this year.

Martin Duchscher, DDS, is also running his first marathon. Marty has been plagued by a cold during the past two weeks but is fairly confident of his training. He's been following a training scheduled based on time. He has been surprised and pleased that knee problems and back problems that have plagued him in the past have not bothered him at all this year. His goal is to enjoy the race and finish without any serious injury.

Not unlike the reaction of many, Marty said his wife thinks he's "out of his mind". It is however, something he has always dreamed of doing. By carefully following a strict training schedule, it's a goal he soon hopes to achieve.

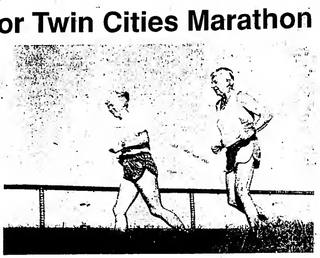
As a marathoner I too understand that at mile 22 their "legs will feel like telephone poles wearing combat boots". Some will feel so slow they will sullenly look to the sky above for vultures that must surely spot a slow and easy meal. Near the finish line, however, crowds of cheering people will encourage them to find enough self-esteem to make a supreme effort to jog across the finish line instead of crawl in agony. So why do these people want to run a marathon?

President John F. Kennedy said of the challenge to reach the moon and of other challenges that we choose these challenges "not because they are easy, but because they are hard; because that goal will serve to organize and measure the best of our energies and skills; because that challenge is one we are willing to accept and unwilling to postpone, and one we intend to win."

Perhaps that's why people run marathons.



Dee Larson and Jim Grindley of Thief River Falls are members of the Thief River Falls Fleet Feet running and walking club. The club meets for a short run or walk every Thursday at the CNC unit behind Northwest Medical Center at 5:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. Dee is one of nine local and area runners planning to run in the Twin Cities Marathon on October 2. Jim recently ran in the Walker Marathon and is preparing for another ultra-marathon (50-miles).

GOOD LUCK TC MARATHON RUNNERS!

Minnesota receives funding to develop Goals 2000 program

Four additional states will receive federal funds to develop comprehensive, statewide school improvement plans, U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley announced, brining the number of states approved so far to 12.

Receiving grants are: Arkansas, $895,400; Colorado, $1,061,663; Minnesota, $1,357,251; and New Mexico, $726,202.

"With a dozen states already funded and about a dozen pending, we are pleased by the growing interest in achieving high academic standards," Riley said. "Goals 2000 marks a new beginning as communities and states join together in a common commitment to create safe, disciplined classrooms and to improve education for all students.

"As we approach the start of a new school year, I encourage concerned adults across the country to work with teachers and school officials in a concerted effort to revitalize American education," Riley said.

Under Title III of the new law, the states and communities within the states will have the opportunity to develop and implement comprehensive school improvement plans to:

- set challenging academic and performance standards that establish what students should know and be able to do in core subjects such as math and English;
- increase parent involvement;
- integrate technology into their school improvement efforts;
- develop assessments that measure how well students are doing;
- offer training and professional development that equip teachers to provide high quality instruction consistent with the high standards the state adopts;
- Improve the governance, accountability and management of the state's education system;
- encourage local reforms that promote a community-based approach;
- meet the needs of school-aged children who have dropped out of school;
- coordinate reform efforts with school-to-work and vocational education programs.

In applying for Goals 2000 funds, states were asked to describe how school improvement plans will be developed through a broad-based panel and through outreach strategies involving parents, educators and communities members; how sub-grants will be made to communities for local reform, professional development activities and pre-service teacher education; and how plans to use technology to improve teaching and learning will be developed.

Each state's share of $91.5 million in fiscal year 1994 funds is calculated on a formula based on allocations under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. To assist states and communities in implementing their Goals 2000 education plans, President Clinton has requested $700 million in the next fiscal year, increasing to $1 billion in subsequent years.

The Goals 2000 law requires that at least 60 per cent of the first-year funds go to local education agencies and individual schools, with the percentage increasing to at least 90 per cent in future years.

Hanson, Neumann on TRF Foundation board

Orville Honson was reelected and Curtis Neumann was elected to succeed James Winjum on the board of directors when the Thief River Falls Foundation met Monday afternoon at the Northern State Bank board room.

Jason Funk was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Ron Hanson. Marvin Lundin was reelected president and Paul Ihle was reelected vice president. Other members of the board are James Motson, Ronald Trontvet, Milton J. Reierson, Everett Kompelien and Donna Quam.

Approval was given by the directors to once again donate a $100 scholarship to one student each at the Northwest Technical College and Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

The Foundation provides loan funds up to a maximum of $5,000 per student to area students attending post high school educational institutions. The loans have a seven per cent interest rate and are repayable following graduation.

Repayment of principal and payment of interest permits the organization to make new loans available each year. Currently the Foundation has 27 loans outstanding for a total of $73,403.

At the end of the 1993 fiscal year the Foundation had total assets of $87,434, including the $73,403 in loans outstanding and $14,031 in checking and savings accounts.

Prior to the next annual meeting the Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws of the Foundation will be reviewed and changes suggested to bring them up to date will be presented to the membership.

Recreational property owners organize and hire a lobbyist

A coalition of owners of seasonal recreational property announced recently that it has organized to combat extraordinarily high property taxes on their lake shore homes and cabins. And it has hired the Messerli & Kramer law firm to assist in lobbying with the legislature during the next session.

"Property taxes on cabins and other seasonal property are discriminatory and excessive," states Dick Wray, newly-elected chairman of the Minnesota Seasonal Recreational Property Owners Coalition (MSRPO). "The taxes on cabins are two to four times higher than taxes paid on similarly valued properties that are homesteaded."

Organized earlier this year, the coalition has 1,700 members. There are approximately 160,000 parcels in Minnesota that are classified and taxed as seasonal or recreational property. Under current tax law, these properties are taxed at a much higher rate than homesteaded property and they do not receive the significant tax relief that is provided by homestead and taconite credits.

"Our membership is growing by several hundred every month as more seasonal recreational property owners are made aware of the coalition and its objective to reduce property taxes," Wray said.

"We are very serious about this issue. Members of our coalition have had enough, and by hiring a lobbying firm we are demonstrating our commitment to see that property taxes are reduced on seasonal recreational property owners."

Wray may be contacted at MSRPO, P.O. Box 50869, Mendota, MN 55150 or calling 612-854-1317.

George Mostue: "He's Tough As Boiled Owl"

George Mostue, a member of the Thief River Falls Rotary Club since 1938, was recognized by the club in honor of his 95th birthday anniversary at the club's regular noon meeting September 19.

Club president Ev Ault, assisted by District Governor Bob Russell of Fergus Falls, presented Mostue with a plaque recognizing his 95-year milestone. The plaque reads, "Presented to George Mostue in honor of your 95th birthday, Thief River Falls Rotary Club, September 1994."

A brief historical sketch written by George's wife Inez was read to the club. It was entitled "He's Tough As Boiled Owl." Text of the history is as follows:

George's father was an ordained minister who couldn't support his family on donations of chickens and potatoes, so he left the ministry. True to the old saying about ministers' kids being the worst, George lived up to it, according to the 1919 yearbook at Lincoln high. The caption under his photo reads, "The good die young; don't worry, George."

After leaving the ministry, George's father became the superintendent of schools in Pennington county. The family rode a steam boat up the river to Thief River Falls from their farm.

George helped publish the first Prowler yearbook in 1916 and was vice president of his class that year. He did the illustrations and lettering for all yearbooks from 1916 to 1919.

The caption under the basketball section of the Prowler read, "Let George do it." He played both center and guard and was team manager.

George also played football, was captain of the team and his coach was quoted as saying, "With four or five players of Mostue's and Barzen's caliber, I would not be afraid to oppose any high school team in the state."

George also helped organize hockey in Thief River Falls and played on a team. He won the city golf championship in 1929 and was on the committee that selected the site for the present golf club.

He was a salesman for Gamble Robinson, owned the Hillard & Mostue Grocery Store and owned and operated the Mostue Floral Company for over 30 years.

George Mostue joined the Rotary Club in November, 1938. He has two sons—Brooks, who is an architect in Boston and Brian, who is a landscape architect and civil engineer in Oregon.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

SOCIAL SECURITY Q & A 12/1

Q. When did Social Security cards come into use?

A. The Social Security Act was effective Jan. 1, 1937, and the first Social Security number (SSN) applications were distributed in late November, 1936. Initially these were distributed by the Post Office and card applications were mailed to employees at their place of employment. Completed SSN applications were collected by the Post Office which then forwarded them to newly established Social Security field offices. By June, 1937, direct Post Office involvement in the SSN enumeration process ended.

The 1936 design for the original Social Security card was by an artist and photo engraver, Frederick Happel, who according to an old article, also designed the Flying Tiger emblem for General Chenault in World War II.

The first SSN was issued in New York state but the lowest SSN went to a lady in New Hampshire. Original estimates were than over two million employers and 26 million employees would be involved. Since then more than 352 million numbers have been issued. During October, 1993, the Grand Forks district processed 555 SSN actions which includes original cards, replacements and name changes.

Replacing a lost Social Security card, changing your name or getting an original Social Security number for a child is easy and there is no charge to you.

For all SSN actions, you need to complete the application (SS-5). Full information is on the application. In all cases, Social Security staff must work from original documents (no photocopies) and the evidence is returned to you. Evidence needed will vary but usually will be as shown below:

(a) Replacing a lost card: SS-5 and current I.D.

(b) Name change: SS-5 and evidence showing both the new and old names such as marriage, divorce or adoption record.

(c) Original SSN for a child: SS-5, child's birth certificate, I.D. for the child such as school or medical records or medical assistance card and I.D. for parent signing the application. Foreign born individuals will also need proof of citizenship or immigration status.

Q. At the start of the year I had expected to earn about $15,000 and Social Security held back my checks to account for this estimate. With all the rain hurting my work I now expect to earn much less. Do I still have time to change my estimate and get more Social Security?

A. Yes, you can still change your estimate either upward or downward and have adjustments made to your overall Social Security checks for the year. Remember that even if you revise your estimate, an actual annual earnings report would still be required at year's end.

This question refers to the annual earnings test for those receiving monthly Social Security for other than disability. You can continue to work while receiving Social Security as long as your earnings are under certain limits. In 1993, the limits are $10,560 for those age 65-69 and $7,680 for those under age 65. Earnings over these amounts can reduce Social Security benefits for the year.

In the year that a person attains age 70, the annual earnings test applies only for months before the month age 70 is attained. Earnings limits involve gross wages or net self employment but the self employed are also asked about the number of hours worked and the type of work performed. A special monthly version of the earnings test exists for those in their first year of Social Security benefits.

OUR ADVERTISERS SAVE YOU MONEY!

Local law enforcement officials have crime prevention tip cards available which feature Viking players. The crime prevention tip on the back of Bernard Dafney's card states: "If a stranger, relative or friend touches you in a way that hurts or doesn't feel right, say no, get away and tell someone you trust. Never keep it a secret."

Scottie Graham is featured on a Viking crime prevention tip card. The tip states: "Dial 911 for police, sheriff, fire or medical assistance. Also use 911 to report or prevent a crime anywhere in Minnesota. Dialing 911 from pay phones is free."

Landowners' Rights Ass'n. is organized

Minnesota Landowners' Rights Association is the name selected for the statewide organization formed at a meeting in St. Cloud two weeks ago "to protect the constitutional rights of private property owners."

It is planned to organize initially by U. S. Congressional districts and subsequently by Minnesota Legislative districts. A temporary steering committee was set up with Loren Hentges of Blaine as acting chairman.

Individual membership fee of $20 was agreed upon and the committee believes a top priority is to enroll individual members to provide a base for start-up costs of incorporation, mailings, newsletters and other administrative activities.

Additional meetings are planned for October 19 in Thief River Falls and October 26 in St. Cloud. Details on those meetings will be announced in the near future.

Wetlands issues were deemed the most urgent and will be a top priority for the organization, at least for the short term. Many other issues have also been identified as concerns of the Landowners' Rights association.

Local runners headed for Twin Cities Marathon

by David Hill
Times Associate Editor

Several local runners will soon take up the challenge of the Twin Cities Marathon.

I am a runner; so, I believe I understand the motivation for, and the reasons why runners put themselves through all manner of stress in preparation for this marathon. Each of the nine individuals who will participate in this event, however, have to find their own reason for running the 26 mile 385 yard race. Perhaps in running the marathon they will find a reason not to run another in their lifetime. Perhaps they will be looking forward to another marathon five minutes after they finish.

Of the eight Thief River Falls residents and one area resident, who will line up at the start with 6,000 other runners on October 2, none expect to cross the finish line some 26 miles later in first place. Instead, they expect to win by crossing the finish line and winning the battle against fatigue and aching muscles. It is a very personal contest against self. It is an act that legitimizes their sport. It is an opportunity to testify with others to the benefits of health and exercise.

Twin Cities Marathon is widely considered one of the most beautiful marathons in the United States. The course starts at the metro dome and winds its way around many of the lakes in Minneapolis that are surrounded by trees, which will now be shrouded in fall colors. About 6,000 runners participate in this annual event and they are supported by 4,000 volunteers and roughly 200,000 cheering spectators. The course concludes with a spectacular view of the State Capitol.

The local runners participating in this event come from many different occupations. Jan Puttbrese is a pharmacist, Dee Larson, an RN, Anita Hendrickson, an RN, her brother Arlan Anderson, an insurance agent in Argyle, Tom Ronchetti, a claims adjuster, Darrell Magner, a business owner, Dr. Martin Duchscher, a dentist, Dr. Richard Heinrichs, a physician, and Ken Cedergren, a plumber. Each has a slightly different story about why they decided to run a marathon and how they trained for that goal.

Jan Puttbrese, 38, and Dee Larson, 49, train by minutes or time. They subscribe to a widely followed training schedule, which lists how long, not how far, they should run each day. They also plan two weeks of hard training and one week of rest. At the beginning it amounted to about 25 miles a week. Recently, they peaked out at about 48 miles per week. Their longest run was 20-miles long.

Both have run in marathons before so they are hoping to improve on previous efforts. Dee wants to run an ultra-marathon, which is generally anything over 30 miles. She will reach a milestone in her life this year and would like to match it with something very impressive. She's been getting assistance in training for an ultra-marathon from local ultra-marathoning guru Jim Grindley. Jan's goal is to qualify for Boston, but she doesn't have much confidence in herself quite yet. She believes age more than training will allow her to reach her goal.

In addition to running an ultra-marathon, Dee says she found running is the easiest way to contain her weight, and the races give her the motivation to keep running.

Perhaps in a pre-marathon funk, which comes from miles and miles of training, Jan said she isn't quite sure why she wants to run another marathon. "Cause it's there, I guess," she said recently.

Both include in their training special concerns about diet. They try to eat low fat, and Dee recently came up with a special tune to the "I Love You" tune so often heard on Barney - "With beans and baggies we are often seen, Ice cream only in our dreams". (Editor's note: I think they need to drink more fluid on those long runs.)

Tom Ronchetti, 44, has followed a training schedule similar to that utilized by Jan and Dee — a schedule based on time instead of miles. He is one of the few in this group that enjoys getting up very early in the morning to put in his training. He added that he actually goes two days easy and one day hard and peaked at about 62 miles in a one-week period. He has been running for nine years and has nine marathons under his belt - or running shoe.

Although he runs primarily for his health, Tom isn't too concerned about diet when running, because runners tend to burn up a lot of calories. When he isn't running he's very selective about what he eats. His goal for this marathon is to run the course in under 4 hours.

He said he runs for the challenge and his family is very supportive.

-Anita Hendrickson, wife of KTRF's Big Red, is up by 4 a.m. and out the door by 4:30 a.m. for her training runs. This is her third marathon and she's eying a goal she barely missed last year. It's a goal Clark Hendrickson might have to worry about because if she reaches her goal, he's going to have to put on his running shoes again. Last year, Anita just missed beating her husband's previous best marathon time. In an effort to encourage her to run, Clark agreed that if she beat his time he would begin a running program.

Anita also follows a training scheduled based on time instead of miles, but her longest run was 18 miles.

She is a little more serious about her diet than many marathoners, who tend to over indulge in Dairy Queen treats every once-in-awhile and subscribe to the motto - "we run to eat". She doesn't eat meat, and eats mostly vegetables and potatoes.

She says she runs because it makes her feel good and helps her keep the weight off. She also runs because "it's such a great sense of accomplishment and self-fulfillment to complete a marathon." She noted that in one of the articles in a runner's magazine a runner said, "five minutes before a marathon you're asking why, and five minutes after you're asking yourself what's next."

Anita said jokingly of her family that if they aren't supportive they don't get fed.

Ken Cedergren, 43, is one of the most congenial and talkative marathoners anyone could ever meet on a running course. Sometimes it's difficult to know if he's just kidding or whether he's serious, but he said he eats a lot of donuts and candy in preparation for a marathon and runs so he can get out of house work. His wife Cindy, quickly agreed, adding that he does a fine job of that.

Like the other marathoners, however, Kenny puts in many miles in preparation for the marathon. His goal this year is to beat his previous time at Grandma's this year, which he said won't be difficult considering the conditions during Grandma's race.

Of the race, Cedergren said he's not sure if it's a challenge, but it's a nice way to spend a weekend in Minneapolis.

Arlan Anderson, of Argyle is Anita Hendrickson's brother. He's been training for his second marathon in order to qualify for the Boston Marathon, which he hopes to run in 1996. He ran his last marathon in 1987. In order to qualify for the Boston Marathon, Anderson hopes to complete the course in under 3:25.

His training has consisted of putting in many miles - up to 50 miles in one week.

Anderson said his wife has been biking with him - even on long runs. "She's my support team," Anderson said.

Having run one marathon before he knows what it takes, and also knows what a feeling of accomplishment you get after finishing. He also uses running to get rid of stress. "It's my therapy after work," Anderson said.

For Dr. Richard Heinrichs running a marathon is his commitment to his 50th year. He explained that he told his friends at his birthday that he was going to run a marathon. Now his friends and pride are making sure he goes through with it.

The Twin Cities Marathon will be his first marathon. His training started in May. Since then he has been running one long run per week. His longest long run before June 19 was the Winnipeg half marathon which took him 2:03 to complete. After that, he had a 20 mile run which took 3:20 to complete. Laughing, he said his diet has consisted of anything his wife, Thief River Falls' Vice Mayor Jean Heinrichs, puts in front of him. During the last week or so, however, he plans to load up on foods high in carbohydrates.

Jean has been real supportive and when she heard of his commitment to run a marathon said, "Wow, go for it!"

Darrell Magner, president of Independent Machine Service in Thief River Falls, said he's a little concerned about his training for his first marathon because he fell a little behind after a mid-summer injury. He has been in a lot of shorter races but his weekly distance only crept up to the 40-miles per week range. He said he plans to run in the race anyway even if it means doing some walking. He added that if he's not able to complete the race he plans to complete the race next year. He said he really enjoys running. He admits his diet has been nothing special, but he has tried to eat better and lighter. His goal is simply to finish this year.

Martin Duchscher, DDS, is also running his first marathon. Marty has been plagued by a cold during the past two weeks but is fairly confident of his training. He's been following a training scheduled based on time. He has been surprised and pleased that knee problems and back problems that have plagued him in the past have not bothered him at all this year. His goal is to enjoy the race and finish without any serious injury.

Not unlike the reaction of many, Marty said his wife thinks he's "out of his mind". It is however, something he has always dreamed of doing. By carefully following a strict training schedule, it's a goal he soon hopes to achieve.

As a marathoner I too understand that at mile 22 their "legs will feel like telephone poles wearing combat boots". Some will feel so slow they will sullenly look to the sky above for vultures that most surely spot a slow and easy meal. Near the finish line, however, crowds of cheering people will encourage them to find enough self-esteem to make a supreme effort to jog across the finish line instead of crawl in agony. So why do these people want to run a marathon?

President John F. Kennedy said of the challenge to reach the moon and of other challenges that we choose these challenges "not because they are easy, but because they are hard; because that goal will serve to organize and measure the best of our energies and skills; because that challenge is one we are willing to accept and unwilling to postpone, and one we intend to win."

Perhaps that's why people run marathons.

Dee Larson and Jim Grindley of Thief River Falls are members of the Thief River Falls Fleet Feet running and walking club. The club meets for a short run or walk every Thursday at the CNC unit behind Northwest Medical Center at 5:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. Dee is one of nine local and area runners planning to run in the Twin Cities Marathon on October 2. Jim recently ran in the Walker Marathon and is preparing for another ultra-marathon (50-miles).

GOOD LUCK TC MARATHON RUNNERS!

Minnesota receives funding to develop Goals 2000 program

Four additional states will receive federal funds to develop comprehensive, statewide school improvement plans, U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley announced, bringing the number of states approved so far to 12.

Receiving grants are: Arkansas, $895,400; Colorado, $1,061,663; Minnesota, $1,357,251; and New Mexico, $726,202.

"With a dozen states already funded and about a dozen pending, we are pleased by the growing interest in achieving high academic standards," Riley said. "Goals 2000 marks a new beginning as communities and states join together in a common commitment to create safe, disciplined classrooms and to improve education for all students.

"As we approach the start of a new school year, I encourage concerned adults across the country to work with teachers and school officials in a concerted effort to revitalize American education," Riley said.

Under Title III of the new law, the states and communities within the states will have the opportunity to develop and implement comprehensive school improvement plans to:

- set challenging academic and performance standards that establish what students should know and be able to do in core subjects such as math and English;
- increase parent involvement;
- integrate technology into their school improvement efforts;
- develop assessments that measure how well students are doing;
- offer training and professional development that equip teachers to provide high quality instruction consistent with the high standards the state adopts;
- improve the governance, accountability and management of the state's education system;
- encourage local reforms that promote a community-based approach;
- meet the needs of school-aged children who have dropped out of school;
- coordinate reform efforts with school-to-work and vocational education programs.

In applying for Goals 2000 funds, states were asked to describe how school improvement plans will be developed through a broad-based panel and through outreach strategies involving parents, educators and communities members; how sub-grants will be made to communities for local reform, professional development activities and pre-service teacher education; and how plans to use technology to improve teaching and learning will be developed.

Each state's share of $91.5 million in fiscal year 1994 funds is calculated on a formula based on allocations under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. To assist states and communities in implementing their Goals 2000 education plans, President Clinton has requested $700 million in the next fiscal year, increasing to $1 billion in subsequent years.

The Goals 2000 law requires that at least 60 per cent of the first-year funds go to local education agencies and individual schools, with the percentage increasing to at least 90 per cent in future years.

Jason Funk was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Ron Hanson. Marvin Lundin was reelected president and Paul Ihle was reelected vice president. Other members of the board are James Matson, Ronald Trontvet, Milton J. Reierson, Everett Kompelien and Donna Quam.

The Foundation provides loan funds up to a maximum of $5,000 per student to area students attending post high school educational institutions. The loans have a seven per cent interest rate and are repayable following graduation.

Recreational property owners organize and hire a lobbyist

A coalition of owners of seasonal recreational property announced recently that it has organized to combat extraordinarily high property taxes on their lake shore homes and cabins. And it has hired the Messerli & Kramer law firm to assist in lobbying with the legislature during the next session.

"Property taxes on cabins and other seasonal property are discriminatory and excessive," states Dick Wray, newly-elected chairman of the Minnesota Seasonal Recreational Property Owners Coalition (MSRPO). "The taxes on cabins are two to four times higher than taxes paid on similarly valued properties that are homesteaded."

Organized earlier this year, the coalition has 1,700 members. There are approximately 160,000 parcels in Minnesota that are classified and taxed as seasonal or recreational property. Under current tax law, these properties are taxed at a much higher rate than homesteaded property and they do not receive the significant tax relief that is provided by homestead and taconite credits.

"Our membership is growing by several hundred every month as more seasonal recreational property owners are made aware of the coalition and its objective to reduce property taxes," Wray said.

"We are very serious about this issue. Members of our coalition have had enough, and by hiring a lobbying firm we are demonstrating our commitment to see that property taxes are reduced on seasonal recreational property owners."

Wray may be contacted at MSRPO, P.O. Box 50869, Mendota, MN 55150 or calling 612-854-1317.

George Mostue: "He's Tough As Boiled Owl"

George Mostue, a member of the Thief River Falls Rotary Club since 1938, was recognized by the club in honor of his 95th birthday anniversary at the club's regular noon meeting September 19.

Club president Ev Ault, assisted by District Governor Bob Russell of Fergus Falls, presented Mostue with a plaque recognizing his 95-year milestone. The plaque reads, "Presented to George Mostue in honor of your 95th birthday, Thief River Falls Rotary Club, September 1994."

A brief historical sketch written by George's wife Inez was read to the club. It was entitled "He's Tough As Boiled Owl." Text of the history is as follows:

George Mostue is a product of Grafton, North Dakota. He moved east of Thief River Falls when a small child. While his parents were building a home, the family lived in the hay loft of their barn for one entire winter.

George's father was an ordained minister who couldn't support his family on donations of chickens and potatoes, so he left the ministry. True to the old saying about ministers' kids being the worst, George lived up to it, according to the 1919 yearbook at Lincoln high. The caption under his photo reads, "The good die young; don't worry, George."

After leaving the ministry, George's father became the superintendent of schools in Pennington county. The family rode a steam boat up the river to Thief River Falls from their farm.

George helped publish the first Prowler yearbook in 1916 and was vice president of his class that year. He did the illustrations and lettering for all yearbooks from 1916 to 1919.

The caption under the basketball section of the Prowler read, "Let George do it." He played both center and guard and was team manager.

George also played football, was captain of the team and his coach was quoted as saying, "With four or five players of Mostue's and Barzen's caliber, I would not be afraid to oppose any high school team in the state."

George also helped organize hockey in Thief River Falls and played on a team. He won the city golf championship in 1929 and was on the committee that selected the site for the present golf club.

He was a salesman for Gamble Robinson, owned the Hillard & Mostue Grocery Store and owned and operated the Mostue Floral Company for over 30 years.

George Mostue joined the Rotary Club in November, 1938. He has two sons—Brooks, who is an architect in Boston and Brian, who is a landscape architect and civil engineer in Oregon.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

SOCIAL SECURITY Q & A 12/1

Q. When did Social Security cards come into use?

A. The Social Security Act was effective Jan. 1, 1937, and the first Social Security number (SSN) applications were distributed in late November, 1936. Initially these were distributed by the Post Office and card applications were mailed to employees at their place of employment. Completed SSN applications were collected by the Post Office which then forwarded them to newly established Social Security field offices. By June, 1937, direct Post Office involvement in the SSN enumeration process ended.

The 1936 design for the original Social Security card was by an artist and photo engraver, Frederick Happel, who according to an old article, also designed the Flying Tiger emblem for General Chenault in World War II.

The first SSN was issued in New York state but the lowest SSN went to a lady in New Hampshire. Original estimates were that over two million employers and 26 million employees would be involved. Since then more than 352 million numbers have been issued. During October, 1993, the Grand Forks district processed 555 SSN actions which includes original cards, replacements and name changes.

Replacing a lost Social Security card, changing your name or getting an original Social Security number for a child is easy and there is no charge to you.

For all SSN actions, you need to complete the application (SS-5). Full information is on the application. In all cases, Social Security staff must work from original documents (no photocopies) and the evidence is returned to you. Evidence needed will vary but usually will be as shown below:

(a) Replacing a lost card: SS-5 and current I.D.

(b) Name change: SS-5 and evidence showing both the new and old names such as marriage, divorce or adoption record.

(c) Original SSN for a child: SS-5, child's birth certificate, I.D. for the child such as school or medical records or medical assistance card and I.D. for parent signing the application. Foreign born individuals will also need proof of citizenship or immigration status.

Q. At the start of the year I had expected to earn about $15,000 and Social Security held back my checks to account for this estimate. With all the rain hurting my work I now expect to earn much less. Do I still have time to change my estimate and get more Social Security?

A. Yes, you can still change your estimate either upward or downward and have adjustments made to your overall Social Security checks for the year. Remember that even if you revise your estimate, an actual annual earnings report would still be required at year's end.

This question refers to the annual earnings test for those receiving monthly Social Security for other than disability. You can continue to work while receiving Social Security as long as your earnings are under certain limits. In 1993, the limits are $10,560 for those age 65-69 and $7,680 for those under age 65. Earnings over these amounts can reduce Social Security benefits for the year.

In the year that a person attains age 70, the annual earnings test applies only for months before the month age 70 is attained. Earnings limits involve gross wages or net self employment but the self employed are also asked about the number of hours worked and the type of work performed. A special monthly version of the earnings test exists for those in their first year of Social Security benefits.

Landowners' Rights Ass'n. is organized

Minnesota Landowners' Rights Association is the name selected for the statewide organization formed at a meeting in St. Cloud two weeks ago "to protect the constitutional rights of private property owners."

It is planned to organize initially by U. S. Congressional districts and subsequently by Minnesota Legislative districts. A temporary steering committee was set up with Loren Hentges of Blaine as acting chairman.

Individual membership fee of $20 was agreed upon and the committee believes a top priority is to enroll individual members to provide a base for start-up costs of incorporation, mailings, newsletters and other administrative activities.

Additional meetings are planned for October 19 in Thief River Falls and October 26 in St. Cloud. Details on those meetings will be announced in the near future.

Wetlands issues were deemed the most urgent and will be a top priority for the organization, at least for the short term. Many other issues have also been identified as concerns of the Landowners' Rights association.

The weather is beautiful today and here's hoping it will stay that way for a while. I thought I took along the rain to Montana but Roy says it really did rain a lot while I was gone. Out there they are looking for more as the fires are still going and the dust is getting deep in the woods.

Descending into the muck, workers on the Lakehead pipe line extension prepare to weld two sections of a boring machine together. They were working on a section of the line near the Snake River on Marshall County 14. Project completion is expected in mid October.

Rock and dirt is carried back through the bore and pushed out of the bore by paddles. Crews working on the Lakehead Pipe Line were conducting a road bore near the Snake River and under Marshall County 14 last week. A total of 288 employees have been working on the pipeline from Canada to Clearbrook. Construction is expected to be completed in mid October.

Prowlers roll for second straight week...

TRF ground game racks up numbers

Strong runners operating behind a big offensive line has produced impressive numbers for Thief River Falls over the past two weeks as the Prowlers rebounded from an 0-2 start with one-sided high school football wins over Wadena-Deer Creek and Staples-Motley.

Friday, Tony Halsa carried 13 times for 178 yards and two touchdowns, while Brian Howe had 14 carries for 92 yards and three touchdowns as the Prowlers rolled to a 54-20 win at Staples. The ground game accounted for 393 of the winner's 435 yards of offense.

The previous week, Howe rushed for 181 yards and Halsa netted 87. And they both scored twice as the Prowlers rushed for 383 yards and totaled 514 yards of offense in a 40-12 win at Wadena.

It's the kind of offensive production Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm envisioned at the start of the year. "Offensively, our people up front are doing a great job," he said," and our backs are running hard. We're not very flashy, but I think we wear people down."

Thief River Falls' defense has been solid, too, noted Mumm. "The kids are doing a nice job defensively," he noted. "They're doing what they're supposed to do. They're not making any mental mistakes."

A pair of Thief River Falls touchdowns were long-range strikes as Halsa broke off an 84-yard run and Steve Burslie reached the end zone on a 93-yard kickoff return.

Knights beat Prowlers to win invitational title

Climax/Fisher stopped Thief River Falls 15-4, 15-3 Saturday in the finals of the Pony Invitational high school volleyball tournament in Warren.

Wins over Argyle, Tri-County and Crookston in the two-pool, round-robin portion of the tournament put Thief River Falls in the finals, but the Prowlers' title bid was smothered by the Knights.

"We played very well as a team in the first three matches," reported Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "They (Prowlers) were successful in numerous attempts at different plays. It was fun to watch."

But it was a different story in the finals. "It was like a different team on the court," said Anderson. "We were unable to put up an offense. They (Knights) have a very good team. Everyone on their team can hit and block."

Results put the Prowlers at 9-5 for the year.

Hunter warm-up set for Thief Lake WMA

Third annual Goose Hunter Warm-Up – a practical hunting clinic to help hunters sharpen their skills and improve their performance – will be held on opening day of the 1994 waterfowl season at the Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area.

Saturday, Oct. 1 activity will take place from 3 to 7 p.m. two miles south of the Moose River campground, southeast of Thief Lake. There is no admission charge for participants or spectators.

The warm-up includes a shotgun patterning range and a waterfowl range-estimating demonstration. The events will be conducted by area wildlife managers from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and instructors from the DNR Hunter Education Program.

During shotgun patterning, participants will be able to test fire (pattern) their own guns on paper targets while comparing several different steel-shot loads to find out which load works best in their gun.

Paper targets have been donated by Blandin Paper Co. and a variety of steel-shot shells have been donated by Federal Cartridge Corp. of Anoka. Hunters are also welcome to bring their own loads to test.

Range-estimating demonstration features several life-size goose silhouettes placed at varied distances in the field, with size-to-distance charts of flying geese for comparison.

"The response from Hunters has been very favorable the past two years," said Paul Telander, manager of Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area, "and we hope more hunters visiting the Thief Lake area will take advantage of the warm-up this year."

"With the 40-day season and population estimates for most goose and duck species being the best in recent memory," said Telander, "we expect more hunters will be coming back to duck and goose hunting this fall. The warm-up is a good opportunity for both experienced hunters and those new to the sport to learn more about shooting steel-shot, and how to judge shooting distance more accurately under field conditions."

Warm-up participants will be eligible for a free prize drawing to be held after the event – with boxes of shotgun shells to be given away.

Participants should bring their own shotguns, and all guns must be cased or handled with the breech open when not shooting.

Prowlers to complete road schedule against Panthers

Another road game awaits Thief River Falls Friday – a 6 p.m. Section 8A high school football assignment against Park Rapids Area.

It's the away game in five starts for the Prowlers and their third straight Friday away from home. But it'll also be the final regular season Thief River Falls road game. The Prowlers will finish with games at home Oct. 7 vs. Crookston, Oct. 13 vs. Fergus Falls and Oct. 19 vs. East Grand Forks.

The Panthers and Prowlers are both 2-2. Park Rapids Area began the year with a 9-6 win over West Central, lost to Crookston 21-7 and fell to Staples-Motley 36-8 before bouncing back to beat Wadena-Deer Creek 21-6 Friday.

Kicker Mark Jacobson came up with a couple of big plays in the Panthers' win over the Wolverines, hitting a 45-yard field goal and then scoring on a 54-yard open field run out of punt formation after he mishandled the snap.

"They've got some quickness," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm, "and whenever we see speed, we're concerned."

Thief River Falls lost to Detroit Lakes 21-8 and Alexandria 32-20 to start the year, but handled Wadena-Deer Creek 40-12 and Staples Area 54-40 the past two weeks. Meanwhile, the two-time defending Class A champion Lakers and the Class AA Cardinals remain unbeaten.

Firearms safety class will be offered during October

Third firearms safety class of the summer/fall season is being offered before the Nov. 5 start of the 1994 Minnesota firearms deer hunting season.

Because of conflicts with students' sports activities on a Monday-Tuesday-Thursday rotation, the new session will feature Monday-Wednesday-Friday classes over a two-week period – Oct. 3-5-7 and Oct. 10-12-14.

Field test will be held Sunday, Oct. 16.

Location of the classes and field test site will be announced later.

The classes will be held if at least 10 students register for the program. The limit is 30. To register, call 681-1901.

The program includes parent/student interaction during a special Parents Night Class, which covers hunter ethics, hunter responsibility, knowledge of firearms (how it works/safety in the field), roundtable discussion of accident reports, and game care.

Wolverines rally to beat KCN 3-2

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke came back from an 0-2 deficit to beat Kittson County North 3-2 in high school volleyball Monday at Lancaster.

The Wolverines won 13-15, 8-15, 15-13, 15-12, 15-11.

"The girls hung in there," said Wolverines first-year head coach Tina Rode. "They played it tough."

Joe Kotok receives honor

Joe Kotok, long-time manager of Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, has received the Department of Interior's second-highest honor – the Meritorious Service Award – in recognition of his dedication and accomplishments with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Kotok, 60, recently retired from the FWS after 38 years of federal service. For 25 of those years he was manager at Agassiz, located 18 miles northeast of Thief River Falls. To many, the name Joe Kotok had become synonymous with Agassiz Refuge.

Although a strong voice for refuge and wildlife conservation in general, Kotok was unassuming and even requested that there be no retirement party on his behalf. The Meritorious Service Award, however, had special meaning.

"This is really something, and means a great deal to me," he said when presented the award by Regional Director Sam Marler. The framed, silver embossed award and letter of commendation was signed by Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt. Only a handful of refuge managers have ever received the award.

Kotok's wildlife career began at Necedah Refuge in Wisconsin in 1962 where he was an assistant manager. From there he had assignments at the Upper Mississippi National Wildlife and Fish Refuge, and the Job Corps center near Ottawa Refuge in Ohio. He served in the Air Force from 1953-57.

During his early years at Agassiz, Kotok took tough stands on water management issues, and eventually developed a water management regime that satisfied migratory bird objectives while helping to lessen flooding within the surrounding watershed.

The refuge moose herd thrived under his active habitat management policies, and in the 1980's Agassiz became the first national wildlife refuge in the lower 48 states with a resident pack of gray wolves. First and foremost, Agassiz Refuge retained its reputation as one of the finest migratory bird areas in the midwest under Kotok's management.

In recent years, he saw to completion of the Elm Lake restoration project that restored 2,360 acres of wetland habitat on the refuge. This project was a cooperative effort between the Fish and Wildlife Service, Ducks Unlimited, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, and the Red Lake Watershed District. It was one of the largest projects ever undertaken by Ducks Unlimited.

Kotok and his wife, Retta will be remaining in the Thief River Falls area, with frequent trips to their restored lodge on Lake of the Woods during the summer, and visits to warmer climates in the winter.

Willmar out-scores Northland 33-32

Strong defense. Suspect offense. That was the label slapped on the 1994 Northland Community College football team almost from the start of practice. Confident his defense would keep the game close, Northland head coach Gene Klinke figured if the offense could come up with 21 points, the Pioneers would win. Usually.

It didn't happen that way Saturday, however, when the Pioneers lost a 33-32 nonconference shoot-out with Willmar in Thief River Falls.

"I think we found out we have an explosive offense," said Klinke. "We've been doing things right and getting the yards. We've got some very skilled people on that side of the ball."

But a defense that played a key role in a 6-3 season-opening win at Worthington and kept the Pioneers close until the end in a 32-7 Week 2 loss at Fergus Falls, came un-glued against Willmar.

"You can't expect our defense to shut people out week in and week out," said Klinke, "but you can't give up 33 points and expect to win the football game, either. I still think our defense played well, but they had us scouted well. They knew we were aggressive up front, and they took advantage of that by beating us with the draws and screens."

As the score would indicate, the teams were even – a fact that showed up in the total offense category, where Willmar had an ever-so-slight 322-320 edge in yards. And it was a game that went down to the final minute.

The winners took the 33-32 lead when a 1-yard Jesse Nelson touchdown run with 4 minutes left finished a drive that included a key defensive holding call against the Pioneers on third-and-long run that was well short of the first down marker.

Northland tried to come back, but a potential go-ahead 26-yard field goal with just over a minute remaining was blocked.

"It was a good football game," pointed out Klinke. "It was a match-up of two good, even football teams. The final score was disappointing, of course, but that's the best I've ever felt coming out a loss. We played well. They couldn't stop us."

Rick Rivera scored the game's first touchdown and led the Pioneers' share-the-wealth ground game with 33 yards. Quarterback J.P. Lammers was 15-for-29 passing for 221 yards.

Klinke recognized linebacker Rick Anteau and nose guard Ray Reinhart for their defensive effort. Anteau also figured in on the scoring with a 24-yard pass interception return for a touchdown and a two-point conversion run.

Defensive backs Dave Simmons and Shaun Blackman were given additional duties on offense, and both caught touchdown passes from Lammers.

The Pioneers begin Minnesota Community College Conference-counting play Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. Northern Division game against Mesabi at Prowler Field.

Mustangs strike from long range

■ RLCC is 23-6 winner over Waubun

Red Lake County Central dialed long distance and came out a 23-6 winner at Waubun Friday in high school football.

The Mustangs' three touchdowns came on runs of 45 yards or longer as they reached the midway mark of the 1994 season with a 3-1 record.

Eric Reinbold carried 20 times for 170 yards, including an 80-yard touchdown run, while Brett Bishop and Paul Peterson made the most out of their limited offensive opportunities by scoring on their only carries of the night – a 45-yard dash by Bishop and a 53-yard sprint by Peterson.

"Our kids really played well," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Branti. "They're starting to play with more and more confidence."

The 80-yard Reinbold touchdown run came on the first snap of the second Red Lake County Central possession of the night.

Waubun matched that with a first-play 68-yard Will Bement-to-Mike Teiken touchdown pass on the Bombers' ensuing possession.

The scoreboard difference at that point was a conversion kick by the Mustangs' Aaron Chaput, who added a 27-yard field goal for a 10-6 game at the half.

Second half scoring was limited to the long runs by Bishop in the third quarter and Peterson in the final period.

Scott Lorenson finished behind Reinbold on the stat sheet with 82 yards on 17 carries as the Mustangs put together a 361-yard ground game on 43 attempts. Quarterback Bryce Hualari was 6-for-9 passing for 36 yards, with Chaput catching two of those passes for 31 yards.

"We moved the ball really well on the ground, and our defense played outstanding...again, said Branti."

It was the third straight game in which the Mustangs have limited the opposition to a single touchdown following a season-opening 18-7 loss at Fosston.

Bishop led the Red Lake County Central defense with 10 tackles from his inside linebacker spot. Linebacker Shawn McMullen had six tackles, while defensive end Scott Waldal was credited with 5 tackles, a sack and a pass deflection.

The Mustangs face a challenge Friday with a 7:30 p.m. assignment against unbeaten and highly-ranked Hawley – at Plummer.

Blue Devils beat Nordics 40-6

There's nothing fancy about the offense employed by Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. However, what the Blue Devils lack in style, they make up for in effectiveness. Friday, a 239-yard ground game led to a 54-20 Top of the State Conference high school football win over Marshall County Central.

"They beat us off the ball," explained Marshall County Central coach Kent Warne. "You know exactly where they're going, but we couldn't stop them."

Midway through the 1994 season, the Blue Devils are 3-1 and the Nordics are 0-4.

"The kids played pretty well in all phases of the game," offered Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen. "We're moving the ball on offense, and we're getting a good team effort from the kids on defense. They're playing well right now."

Jim Verbout scored twice and finished with 104 yards on 20 carries for the Blue Devils in their matinee win at Grygla. Teammate Jesse Lunsetter rushed for 66 yards on just 5 attempts, scoring once.

The winners put the ball in the air just three times, but completed two of them for 56 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Marshall County Central went no where on the ground against the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke defense. Quarterback Terry Olson was 7-for-17 passing for 79 yards. Trevor Magner caught 5 passes for 54 yards.

Magner also led the Nordics with 14 tackles and 6 assists, while Lee Kuck had 6 tackles plus 7 assists and Matt Augustine had 6 tackles to go along with 5 assists.

Friday, Marshall County Central will have a 7 p.m. homecoming game against Argyle in Newfolden, while Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke takes on Kittson Central at 7:30 p.m. in Hallock.

Gators fall to 2-2 with loss to RLF

When two even teams meet, the difference will usually hinge on a play or two. And that's what happened Friday when Badger/Greenbush-Middle River lost a 24-6 high school football game to Red Lake Falls.

"I thought we played a pretty good game overall," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Steve Willman, "but we had some key mistakes. We didn't make the plays when we needed them."

Blaise Larson scored all three Red Lake Falls touchdowns as the Eagles grabbed a 16-0 first quarter lead and then answered a third quarter Badger/Greenbush-Middle River touchdown.

A 23-yard run by Ross Waege put the Gators on the board. They were led offensively by Josh Kujava with 77 yards on 9 carries.

The 2-2 Gators will visit Waubun Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game, looking to snap a two-game losing streak after opening the year with a pair of wins and a spot in the Class C state rankings.

Youth Hockey

Registration/Skate Exchange

Annual Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association/Recreational Skating registration and skate exchange will be held Thursday, Oct. 6, from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Lincoln High School cafeteria – a new site this year because of remodeling being done at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

The skate exchange is an opportunity for parents to purchase used skates and other equipment at very reasonable prices. It is also an opportunity to sell skates and other equipment that no longer fits or can no longer be used by their children.

TRFAHA registration will also take place at that time. All players interested in participating in the youth hockey program should make every effort to get their registration and fees paid at this time. Parents of players involved in the TRFAHA program last year will receive a letter and their forms in the mail. They should make sure all forms are completed in their entirety and returned Oct. 6.

New players, especially ages 6-under, who did not participate in the program last year can pick up registration material at the skate exchange.

Fees for the 1994-95 season consist of Parks and Recreation Department charges and fees assessed by USA Hockey and the Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association.

The costs include $130 resident and $140 non-resident for Bantams; $110 resident and $120 non-resident for Pee-Wees; $90 resident and $100 non-resident for Squirts; $70 resident and $80 non-resident for 7-8-year-olds; $20 resident and $30 non-resident for ages 6-under.

Parents have three fee-playing options for the 1994-95 season: payment in full; partial payment, with remainder due Nov. 18; and full payment Nov. 18.

For additional information about the skate exchange or registration, contact Ron Novak at 618-3959 (home) or 681-8813 (Franklin Middle School).

Coaches

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association is in need of volunteers to coach at several levels in the 1994-95 program.

If interested in getting involved in coaching youth hockey, call Ron Novak at 681-3959 (home) or 681-8813 (Franklin Middle School).

Referees

Anyone interested in officiating youth hockey during the 1994-95 season should contact Roger Meunier at 681-2648 or Ron Novak at 681-3959.

A referee clinic will be held in Thief River Falls Sunday, Oct. 23, beginning at 9 a.m.

Arena Opening/Hockey Clinics

Opening of the Old Arena will be Thursday, Oct. 20, with the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center scheduled to open Monday, Nov. 14.

Hockey clinics will be held for all Bantams and Pee-Wees the week of Oct. 22-29. Squirts clinic will be held from Saturday, Oct. 29, through Sunday, Nov. 5. Tiny Mites clinic for 7-8-year-olds will be held Nov. 6-12.

Clinics will be directed by new Thief River Falls head high school hockey coach Pat Cullen. Cost of the Bantam, Pee-Wee and Squirts clinics will be $25. Cost of the Tiny Mites clinic will be $10.

REMEMBER THE EVERGREEN EATING EMPORIUM FOR YOUR SPECIAL GATHERINGS

Moose hunting will be an annual event

Resident hunters can now look forward to an annual Minnesota moose hunting season beginning this fall.

The Department of Natural Resources will issue a total of 451 permits for 1994, including 189 permits in 25 zones in northeast Minnesota for the Oct. 1-16 season, and 262 permits in 13 zones for the Oct. 8-16 season in northwest Minnesota. Those numbers represent a 40-percent reduction from the 760 permits issued in 1993--the last alternate-year moose season.

The change to an annual season has come about because of the need to address problems caused by moose damaging agricultural crops and moose-vehicle accidents in years when no hunt was scheduled. the annual hunt will enable wildlife managers to maintain moose populations at a more even level than was possible with an every-other-year season, said Dave Schad, DNR forest wildlife program leader in St. Paul. An added benefit of the annual season will be better control of crop damage in the grain fields of private, agricultural landowners in northwestern Minnesota.

"The intent behind the every-other-year season was to take a conservative approach," said Schad. "Back in 1971, we didn't have a history of moose hunting in the state and we didn't want to 'overhunt' the population. A season every two years would allow time for additional population surveys between hunts to ensure population recovery.

"It has been more than 20 years since our first moose hunt, and we're confident that we can manage an annual moose hunt," Schad said. "Aerial survey procedures and population models have been refined, and we can predict population levels and harvest results more accurately every year."

Moose numbers generally increase significantly between every other year seasons, Schad said. "With an annual season, we should be able to reduce those extreme fluctuations and maintain a more level population.

"Annual seasons will also make it easier for landowners to arrange for hunters to control nuisance moose during the regular season," Schad noted.

An exception to the annual-season moose hunt will be the Agassiz Wildlife Refuge, Zone 2 in the Northwest Area, located in eastern Marshall County. Federal wildlife officials there have decided to stay with an every-other-year season. Their next hunt is scheduled for 1995. In recent years, the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge has conducted an early-December hunt with 20 permits issued to hunters in the regular state moose lottery.

"We think and alternate-year season is consistent with our goals for a game refuge," said Gary Tischer, Refuge Operations Specialist at Agassiz. "Visitors come her to see wildlife. They have a better chance to do that if we maintain the moose population at a slightly higher density than may be appropriate for areas outside the refuge."

Moose hunting in Minnesota is now a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, effective in 1991. Hunters who received a license for the 1991, 1993 or 1994 moose season will no longer be eligible for another license. Applicants who received a license in 1987 or 1989 may apply again after five seasons, but will only be eligible for one more moose license during their lifetime.

Licenses were previously granted only to four-member hunting parties. That has been changed to allow parties of two, three or four hunters. Schad said the four-member party requirements was changed for a couple of reasons.

"Frequently, we discovered that the third or fourth name added to a moose permit application was not really a 'hunter'," said Schad, "but rather, a friend or relative added to the application because the rules said you had to have four hunters.

"It's possible for two or three experienced, well-prepared hunters to dress the quarter moose, " said Schad. "With the once-in-a-lifetime rule, we didn't want to penalize any avid, serious hunters simply because they couldn't put together a four-member party. The added flexibility should make this unique hunting opportunity more enjoyable for hunters."

The DNR requires attendance at a special moose-hunter orientations session for parties selected to hunt the northeast zones, and offers the training as an optional service for hunters in the northwest. All moose hunters selected in the 1994 license lottery will be notified of the time and place for their session.

After a strong start, the Gators faded down the stretch Saturday in a 3-1 loss to Warroad.

"We started out like gangbusters, but we couldn't put them away," reported Gators coach Gwen Borgen. "We don't have the killer instinct when we get a lead."

Warroad won 10-15, 15-5, 15-5, 15-7.

Miller also won the 1993 Federal Duck Stamp and 1993 Minnesota Pheasant Stamp contests.

Twenty-five entries advanced into the second stage of judging, from which eight finalists were selected. Jim Hautman of Plymouth finished second with a painting of green-winged teal.

Other finalists were Thomas Bates of Victoria, third with a painting of oldsquaw; Kevin Daniel, Chanhassen, fourth, harlequin; David Maass, Long Lake, fifth, green-winged teal; David Rottinghuas, Columbia Heights, sixth, oldsquaw; Don Walvatne, Minneapolis, seventh, green-winged teal; and David Chapman, Hopkins, eighth, shoveler.

Eleven Mississippi Flyway species were eligible for the 1995 Minnesota stamp.

Five-member panel of judges included Dr. Walter Breckenridge, a wildlife artist, ornithologist and past director of the Bell Museum of Natural History; Gretchen Mehmel, a DNR wildlife biologist and manager of the Red Lake Wildlife Management Area; Lennie Samuelson, past senior vice-president of Ducks Unlimited and current Ducks Unlimited legislative liaison; Michael Furtman, an outdoor writer specializing in waterfowl and an author of two books on ducks and geese; and Mike McGinty, executive director of the Minnesota Waterfowl Association.

The $5 Minnesota Migratory Waterfowl Stamp is required of all Minnesota waterfowl hunters ages 18 through 64. Stamp sales generate between $400,000 and $600,000 per year for habitat enhancement projects in state wildlife management areas and designated waterfowl lakes.

Hedin is Challenger assistant principal

Dave Hedin says he "doesn't work with problems, only with solutions." The new assistant principal at Challenger elementary and preschool in Thief River Falls is putting that "can do" attitude to the test this fall as the community restructures its elementary program, combining staff and students in a single school building.

Hedin is a graduate of Cromwell high school and the University of Minnesota in Duluth, with graduate work at the University of Minnesota and the University of Wisconsin. His master's degree is in education and his bachelor's degree in elementary education, with a physical education minor. For the past 19 years he has been a sixth grade teacher and coach at Carlton.

Even in his first administrative position, Hedin says he can't wait to get back into the classroom, working closely with staff and getting to know students on a first name basis. He says he also wants to meet parents and get to know the community.

"Children's first and most important teachers are their parents," he said. "A strong partnership with schools enhances education and creates new opportunities for parents and the community to get involved."

Hedin and his wife Michelle have a child in each of School District 564's schools this fall. They have a son in first grade, a daughter in sixth and a son at Lincoln. They also have a daughter who is a senior at Winona State University and a third daughter who is a registered nurse.

Hanson's cow sets record

A three-year-old registered Holstein which set a national record for production in 1994 is the progeny of a cow purchased by a syndicate that included Linda Hanson, now of Goodridge.

The record-setting producer, Top Gun Black Marbles, is owned by Jim and Ken VanVoorst of Sioux Center, IA, and was featured in the September issue of Dairymen's Digest, published by Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI). The record set was for junior three-year-olds on the Dairy Herd Improvement Registry (DHIR).

According to the article in Dairymen's Digest, Top Gun Black Marbles had a 365-day production record of 46,460 pounds of milk, 1,530 pounds of butterfat and 1,392 pounds of protein.

Ken VanVoorst said the use of recombinant bovine somatotropin (BST) to boost Top Gun's production "was never even considered. She is already producing more than her share of milk."

Linda Hanson said that in 1987, before she met and married Michael Hanson and moved to the Goodridge area, she and three other dairymen each invested $1,000 in a heifer calf named Stookey Odyssey Sweet Molly. The other partners were Doug and Linda Hodorff of Eden, WI; Rick Pinkerman of Paynesville; and Fred Tidemann of Fond du Lac, WI.

Raised at the Hodorffs' farm, Sweet Molly was used for embryo

Former Viking woman helps youths

Janet Garcia, daughter of Lloyd Ranum of Viking, was featured in the Sunday, Sept. 4 issue of the Cincinnati Enquirer under the headline "Rescuing children from harm's way."

"With so many young people caught up in violence, what can adults do to help?" a sub-headline stated. "The Enquirer's 'Everybody's Children' series asked readers for personal examples. A sampler:"

Mrs. Garcia wrote the following:

"We are a working middle-class family who lives in a modest, three-bedroom ranch in Clermont county. My husband and I have been married for 16 years and have been blessed with three beautiful daughters.

"One year ago, our home changed. We met a young man who was a friend of our daughter. He was neat and clean, with charm and a quick sense of humor and he quickly became a big part of our family.

"However, his family background was heart wrenching—from living with a mother who had him routinely smoking 'weed' by the age of nine, to being sexually abused by a school counselor. We took this young man into our home; we felt we had lots of love to give him.

"Through him we met many other children with similar backgrounds. We soon found our home filling with kids who needed a place to sleep for the night—kids on the run, kids needing a meal, a shower or a shoulder to cry on. I recently received a call from a local police department asking if I had seen a certain runaway, as word on the street had it I might be able to help. I did not know this child. However, if ever there is one in need, they just might find him or her at my home. If a child shows up at my door hungry or hurting, my door is open. The Lord blessed my husband and me with three beautiful children, but I believe God also made us responsible to love them all. These children are our next generation."

Nort [illegible] enter participates in ACS program

Northwest Medical Center and other medical facilities across Minnesota are participating in a reduced-cost mammography screening project. Mammograms will be provided for $60 or less.

Interested women may call toll-free 1-800-ACS-2345, beginning October 3. (Monday - Wednesday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Thursday - Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) to learn if they are eligible and how to make an appointment. Appointments at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls can be made by calling (218) 681-4240, extension 480.

The screening project is being sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Minnesota Division, and begins in October as part of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls will be providing in the Breast Cancer Detection Awareness project year-round.

In 1994, about 182,000 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer, making it the most common form of cancer in women. More than 75 per cent of the breast cancers diagnosed each year occur in women over 50. Sadly, an estimated 46,000 women will die from breast cancer in 1994, making it the second major cause of cancer death among women, after lung cancer.

Breast cancer is the second leading cancer killer of women, but is highly curable if detected early. Mammography, an x-ray of the breast, can find cancer in its very early stages but unfortunately surveys show that this effective measure is under-utilized. The overall five-year breast cancer survival rate is 79 per cent and can be as high as 93 per cent, if the cancer is detected in a localized stage. Since some breast cancers, even localized ones, will recur after five years, it's useful to note that the overall 10-year breast cancer survival rate is about 60 per cent.

Too few physicians and women are following the American Cancer Society guidelines: a mammogram every one to two years for women 40-50; and an annual mammogram for those over 50. This is why the American Cancer Society continues to sponsor this statewide reduced-cost screening project.

Mammography benefits outweigh the risks. Each year, a woman is exposed to more "background" radiation in her daily life than she receives from her annual mammogram. Having a high-quality mammogram is as safe as traveling 5,000 miles by plane (round-trip New York City to Los Angeles) or 450 miles by car (round-trip New York City to Boston).

During the last seven years of the project, more than 71,000 women in Minnesota have been screened and 362 cancers were detected.

The other two recommendations for early detection of breast cancer are monthly breast self-examination after age 20 and a clinical examination every three years for women ages 20 to 40 and annually for those over 40.

Early detection is the best protection. Women interested in the screening project should call 1-800-ACS-2345.

Private signs prohibited

Minnesota Department of Transportation reminds political campaigners that state law prohibits placement of private signs on state highway right-of-way.

Chuck Magnusson, roadway regulations supervisor for Mn/DOT, says that the department administers this law in a fair and impartial manner and that political campaign signs are treated in the same manner as any other signs wrongly place on highway right-of-way by any business, private citizen or other group.

Crop disaster relief program is approved

Disaster relief for area farmers has been approved by a House-Senate conference committee in Washington, DC, according to Seventh District Congressman Collin Peterson.

According to Rep. Peterson, the flood package is similar to the 1993 relief plan. Farmers will receive 65 per cent of the target price (or loan price for non-program crops) for crop losses exceeding 40 per cent (35 per cent for crops covered by Federal Crop Insurance).

A quality loss adjustment will be included in the program. A disaster declaration is not necessary to be eligible for the program. An earlier USDA disaster declaration for Polk, Pennington and Red Lake counties authorized low-interest FmHA loans.

Program participation was pending final passage which Peterson said on Wednesday was expected by the end of the week. Farmers should contact their local ASCS office to determine eligibility.

retrieval as well as for natural reproduction and produced about a dozen calves in a relatively short lifespan. Top Gun Black Marbles was an embryo transplant from a mating of Sweet Molly and the Holstein bull To-Mar Black Star. She was purchased by Ken VanVoorst at the Wisconsin Holstein Association spring sale in 1990 for $4,600.

The investment has paid good dividends. In the first half of 1994, 10 embryos were successfully flushed from Top Gun. Since 1991, five of her bull calves have been sold for an average of $2,200 and one heifer calf for $3,800.

Among her calves, in addition to the high producing Top Gun, Sweet Molly also produced an outstanding bull named Top Gun Steady Incline which is rated in the top 100 of the Holstein breed as determined by the Total Preference Index (TPI) and is in the sire lineup marketed by Landmark Genetics.

BIBLE STUDY

How to be a bond-servant for Christ

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Jesus Christ took on the form of a bond-servant, leaving us an example that we should be like Him (Phil. 2:7; 1 John 2.6). By doing so, He did not live to please Himself, seeking His own good, but He sought the good of His neighbor (Rom. 15:3; 1 Cor. 10:24).

We are also to imitate Christ by practicing righteousness to please the Father (1 Cor. 11:1; Eph. 5:1; 1 John 3:7). We are no longer living to please self, but Jesus Christ (2 Cor. 5:15). Jesus says we should serve others in need, as He was a servant to others in need (Matt. 20:26-28; Mark 10:43-45).

Jesus bore our sins that we might die to sin by living to righteousness (1 Peter 2:24). This can also be said another way. Overcome evil by doing good and make no provision for the flesh in regard to its lusts (Rom. 12:21; 13:14).

Whoever keeps Christ's words or sayings, by walking in the same manner as Jesus Christ walked, will be truly perfected (1 John 2:5-6). Jesus Christ's sayings, which He received from God, are not burdensome (1 John 5:3; John 12:49). In fact, Jesus said that His Way is easy and His load is light or pleasant (Matt. 11:30). It is the Way to give rest to our weary souls (Matt. 11:28-29). It is the Way to the abundant life (John 10:10).

Yes, we are to use our bodies as slaves to righteousness (Rom. 6:13, 18-19). Another word for bond-servant is slave-servant. It is the bond-servants who will serve God in His temple when He returns (Rev. 22:3). So, engage in good deeds for God today by showing hospitality to strangers and practicing righteousness (Titus 2:14; 1 Tim. 5:10; Rom. 12:13). Entertain the lowly, the crippled, the lame and the blind (Luke 14:13; Matt. 5:16). By doing so, we shall assure our hearts before Jesus Christ and be bond-servants for Him (1 John 3:18-19).

So Much For A Decisive, Definitive, Clear and Political Answer

In a recent letter sent by the office of U.S. Sen. Paul Wellstone, he discusses his visits with the public at the Minnesota State Fair.

"Obviously, not everyone who spoke with me agreed with everything I have been doing," he wrote. "But it is clear to me that, in general, Minnesotans appreciate that I am straight forward in what I say and do. I am extremely grateful that so many people took the time to come and share their views with me. Clearly, this was political interaction at its best."

One of the things on state fair visitors' minds was obviously the multi-billion dollar crime bill recently passed. It was touted by its supporters, including Sen. Wellstone, as being an answer to the nation's crime problems. Those seeking definitive information or specific answers to their questions on crime apparently went to the wrong place when they stopped to see Sen. Wellstone.

"Crime was the number one subject on people's minds," the senator says in his letter. "People wanted to know if the crime bill will help make their neighborhoods and schools safe. In response to these concerns, I hope to schedule some community meetings so that I can hear from community leaders about the kinds of resources they need to prevent and fight crime in their communities. After these meetings, I will help communities secure the federal resources they need."

Great. AFTER the President and his liberal supporters ram through a $30 billion expenditure authorization to fight crime, Sen. Wellstone "hopes" to hold some meetings to hear about what communities need to prevent and fight crime. The direct question of whether or not the crime bill will make them safer carefully goes unanswered.

Why? Because the honest answer would be "probably not." The main purpose of the crime bill was to ban so-called assault weapons and take one more step toward disarming the American public. The expenditure of $30 billion was to buy support for the ban.. Effect on crime? British soccer fans have a word for it.

Nil.

IRS Can't Know Much About Minnesota

Northwestern Minnesota residents concerned about the nuisance of an audit by the Internal Revenue Service won't have anything to be concerned about if the state's geography is plotted at the St. Paul office.

The IRS district office in St. Paul recently announced seminars designed to help professional tax preparers, service bureaus, employers and other businesses planning to offer computer-based tax filing services during the up-coming filing season. The office announced the seminars would be held "at eight locations throughout Minnesota."

The eight locations are in Brooklyn Park, Edina, Duluth, Rochester, St. Cloud, Mankato and two in St. Paul. Every site, including the "northern" city of Duluth, is closer to the Twin Cities than to northwestern Minnesota. Any of the sites would be most of a half-day's drive from this corner of the state.

We wouldn't be so naive as to believe the IRS couldn't find northwestern Minnesota if there was some violation here. But providing service is apparently another matter. It's hard to believe there wouldn't be sufficient interest in the type of seminar offered to justify having one held in this corner of the state. Whatever the circumstance, we take issue with the eight sites listed as being held throughout Minnesota.

Heat Is Rising Under Property Rights Kettle

Enough Americans are becoming fed up with government intrusion into their private lives that they are organizing to protect themselves. Not only is Minnesota forming a property rights organization to deal with a multitude of state problems, a national group has been formed called the Defenders of Property Rights. The latter group contends that property is more than land. It is labor, services, ideas, consumer products, buildings and machines.

The national group naturally focuses on specific abuses of power by governmental agencies, but we don't fault that. They are the result of a collective bureaucratic attitude that government is greater than the people, no matter what, no matter how, no matter where.

It is that attitude that leads to cases like that of Gaston and Monique Roberge of Orchard Park, Maine. In 1986 the couple, in their 70s and in poor health, applied for a permit to sell a piece of property they has purchased back in the 1960s. Four years after they filed their permit application, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers not only declared their property a "wetland" but ordered them to remove fill the city had put on the property a decade earlier.

This was done despite the Corps' own guidelines that indicated the agency had no jurisdiction over filling activities that happened that long ago. An internal memo written by an officer in the Corps stated that "Roberge would be a good one to squash and set an example. Old Orchard is heating up these days." The memo was signed, "Jay Clement, MFO, formerly the Maytag Repairman."

Big joke.

A New York couple was fined $30,000 by the federal government for building a deck on their house. Why? The deck cast a shadow on what was considered a wetland.

Stupidity? Of course, but it will continue as long as the people permit it to continue. As much as we value individual rights in our nation, they are in danger unless individuals organize for their protection. The heat is being turned up under the kettle.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to address an open letter to the people of the community of Brooks, and to express my sincere thanks for the recent huge success of our 23rd annual Blast to Brooks.

It was so pleasurable and satisfying to sit back (and sit back I did) and watch the activities and successes of the day unfold. From the opening tee-off to the first pitch of the superb softball tournament to that last dance of the evening we witnessed total cooperation and commitment to each and every activity of the two days.

So, to all those who graciously accepted chairmanship of an activity, to parades, car show, kiddie games, crafts and all other entertainment, we salute you.

For all who participated in any way our city extends congratulations! You made the weekend.

Sincerely,
Clarence R. Gagner, Mayor for the City Council and
City of Brooks

Roger and Edna Hyde went to Grand Forks on Tuesday evening where they met Gert Marty of Dickenson, who had come by bus to spend a couple of weeks here with friends. She and her husband, Bob lived here for a number of years before moving to Dakota. She is a house guest of Edna's.

Senior Citizens Meet

The September meeting of Plummer Senior Citizens was held on Wednesday at the Center. The noon meal was served by the last half of the alphabet. A special guest was Gert Marty, who had arrived the evening before at Edna Hyde's. Birthdays to celebrate were Howard Greenwald, Howard LaFoyatte, Alice Tilmen and Harriet Norman. Following the meal Florence Tvedt entertained on her accordion, playing and singing. A video of the Smoky Mountains, including a background of well-known hymns in mountain music style was shown, and very much enjoyed by all. Edna Hyde presided over the business in the absence of John Holley. The group decided to give $50 to the Lioness club to help with the expenses of the pageant. A discussion was held on electing new officers with a motion to keep the present officers, at least until the next meeting. Door prizes went to Orval Roese and Inga Lindar. The next meeting will be on October 19, with A-L serving. Flu shots will be given.

Lynette Dennis of Red Lake Falls was a Saturday visitor of her aunt, Lorane Westerlund.

Ethel Milligan was taken to Fargo on Saturday night, for further medical treatment.

Lloyd and Wavell Sorenson participated in the mock train-car crash on Saturday morning in Brooks. Sue Brantl assisted in the planning and carry-out of this exercise which included Senior Citizens and ambulances from various towns. Later the Sorenson's attended the threshing bee at the Linus Schmitz farm near Red Lake Falls.

Guests for Sunday brunch at Edna Hyde's home were Amelia Eskell, Esther Walter, Bertha Hughes, Eleanor Hodgson and Bunny DuChamp.

Transit needs study shows modest return

Pennington county commissioners and the Thief River Falls city council recently received an update on the results of a transit needs study undertaken in May of 1993. This task force was a joint city and county committee which included service providers. The first mission was to identify if transit opportunities could be better coordinated. Completing their task also included a needs assessment survey.

Northwest Regional Development Commission was (hired) to undertake the needs assessment. The local task force requested that a survey of households in the city and county be undertaken. A total of 3,179 surveys were mailed to residents of Thief River Falls. Of the 3,179 surveys mailed, only 538 or 16.9 per cent were returned. An additional 100 surveys were mailed to residences in the county. Twenty-seven per cent of those surveys were returned.

The Results

Of the survey respondents for Pennington county, 3.6 per cent live in town while 89.3 per cent live in the country. (7.1 per cent did not respond to this question) There were no respondents for the city of St. Hilaire although surveys were sent there.

Of the respondents living in the country 57.1 per cent live within 10

Purple Ribbon Day proclaimed

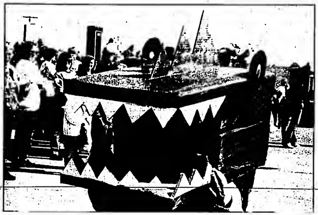
Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve has proclaimed October 12 as Purple Ribbon Day to promote public awareness of domestic violence.

The proclamation states, "Whereas: There is a great concern within the city government and among community groups for a violence-free community; and

"Whereas: The city of Thief River Falls, working closely with the Pennington County Domestic Violence Task Force to obtain a widespread zero tolerance attitude toward domestic violence among all people in our community; and

"Whereas: This will be a great service to the entire community and to the welfare of all adults and children;

"Now, Therefore, I, Robert Reeve, Mayor, do hereby proclaim October 12, 1994, to be Purple Ribbon Day to promote public awareness of domestic violence and further encourages residents to participate by obtaining and displaying a purple ribbon. Ribbons can be picked up at the Thief River Falls Law Enforcement Center."



The Dragon Fighters, Duane Ekman, and Andrew, Johnny and Cory Jusire, won third place in the children's parade at the Middle River Goose Festival last weekend. First place went to Hunting Express - Cody Gran, Danny, Cheryl and Jessica Nelson and April Weber. Second place went to Thief Lake Li'l Honkers - Trevor, Dillon, Hannah, and Earl Berg, Forrest Huseth and Trudy Erickson. More pictures from the parade appear in this issue of The Times.

City will celebrate Public Power Week

Most Americans may not think about electricity at all very often, much less spend any time celebrating it. October 2-8 is Public Power Week, an observance intended to call attention to the community's locally controlled, not-for-profit electric utility.

As one of some 2,000 public power companies in the United States, Thief River Falls Power and Light is plugged in to public power. Like parks, police, fire protection, wastewater utility and water utility, Thief River Falls Power and Light is part of the local government. It provides all residents with an essential service.

"Our public power system belongs to our community and the people it serves," notes Arlo Rude, Director of Utilities for the City of Thief River Falls, "and that's something we can all celebrate.

"In Thief River Falls we're plugged in to all the benefits of our publicly-owned utility, such as lower rates, improved services and community ownership. And, not-for-profit electric rates are an inducement to new businesses which broaden our tax base and can help create more jobs."

This is the eighth year in which a Public Power Week has been declared. Thief River Falls will conduct a number of programs that focus attention on the utility and the benefits of public power while giving citizens an opportunity to get to know their utility.

The Power and Light department will plant $1,000 worth of trees in city parks, representing the utility's dedication to protection of the environment. The trees will provide shade in the parks and process carbon dioxide.

Public Power Week also falls within Energy Awareness Month, a national event sponsored every October by the U.S. Department of Energy. During Energy Awareness Month, utilities nationwide educate the public about the country's energy supply and how it can be used wisely and efficiently, and about energy's importance to economic prosperity and national security.

Information on energy conservation will be available in the utilities billing office. While supplies last, a free light bulb will be given away to customers paying their utilities bills at the city's utilities billing office.

For more information about the City of Thief River Falls Power and Light, public power or Public Power Week, contact Al Newton, customer service representative at 681-5816.

New benefit booklet is now available for veterans

A booklet on benefits for former armed forces personnel has been reprinted and is available now to Minnesota veterans and their dependents.

Issued by the Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs, copies of the publication, "Minnesota Veterans Benefits Guide," may be obtained from Minnesota county veterans service officers through county courthouses around the state.

State Veterans Affairs Commissioner Bernie Melter said the booklet is intended to help veterans be aware of revisions in their entitlements and to serve as a resource guide.

The booklet briefly describes state and federal programs for veterans and their dependents and has health and insurance information, along with references to where assistance may be found and what extended care and counseling services may be available. There is also a list of veterans service organizations, including addresses and telephone numbers.

A former Minnesota county veterans service officer himself, Melter said he has always advised veterans to seek additional information regarding their benefits, "and this guide is consistent with that advice."

Redby man faces charge on assault and threats

Redby, Minnesota, resident Jeffrey Allen Oakgrove, 27, was charged with second degree assault and terroristic threats Friday in a Pennington county courtroom. Bond was set at $5,000.

A Pennington county sheriff's department spokesperson explained that Oakgrove was arrested by Beltrami county authorities on September 28 and transported to Thief River Falls. The charges against Oakgrove stem from a road-trip with two other individuals. The reports states Oakgrove got into an argument and allegedly threatened to kill the other two individuals with a handgun. He allegedly pulled out the handgun, issued threats, fired four shots from the gun out of a car window and then threatened to kill the other two with the remaining two shots in the gun.

Oakgrove was returning to Hallock where he was employed as a tower hand. He is currently being held in the law enforcement center in Pennington county.

Transportation report given review

Recommendations from a transportation needs survey of Thief River Falls and Pennington county were recently shared with local representatives. The survey results indicated a definite need for transportation services and a need to get the word out about what is available.

Upon completion of the survey by the Northwest Regional Development Commission recommendations were developed. According to the study, quite a number of respondents indicated they were not aware that there were services available.

The number one recommendation was education. It has been recommended that Pennington county and Thief River Falls need to provide information about the service to its citizens. It also needs to correct the perception that the service is only available for the elderly and handicapped.

In order to change the perception that the bus service is for seniors only, it was recommended that the communications center for Pennington County Tri-Valley transportation be moved to another location, perhaps the city hall.

The needs assessment show that KTRF, KKAQ, the Thief River Falls Times and the Northern Watch were the most used media in Pennington county, and suggested that Tri-Valley should exercise extensive use of the media and other user groups to get the word out.

The third recommendation was a result of survey results which suggested that residents do not know the bus schedule. It was recommended that a Dial-a-Ride service be incorporated in the city of Thief River Falls in the mornings and in the afternoon and evening. During the times the vehicle is not used for Dial-a-Ride a fixed route should be established.

It was suggested that care must be taken to coordinate with the private taxi service in the community so that there is no conflicting services, or that Dial-a-Ride does not cut into private enterprise.

It was recommended that hours be extended from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. to accommodate the working population and residents with children in school.

It was suggested that there be a Pennington county bus in addition to the Thief River Falls bus. This bus could be used for service three days per week, and as back up for Thief River Falls first then other counties on the days it is not in use.

It was recommended that telephone numbers for bus service should be easily identifiable on both vehicles. The contact person for that telephone number should be familiar with the schedules and services available. It was recommended that these vehicles be equipped with mobile telephones, and that numbers be prominently displayed on the vehicles. It is believed that this would ease the communication problems which seem to be occurring both in Pennington county and the city of Thief River Falls.

The recommendation summary noted that there is an obvious need for more coordination and communication in the city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county.

Results of the survey showed that Northland Community College and the Technical College need transportation to their schools. The ODC needs more service to job sites during the day, and Options would like a more flexible schedule and the Community Education department would like more services for their clients in the evenings. The DAC has indicated that they would be willing to fill in some gaps of service when they can. The city also has a taxi service.

The recommendation summary indicated that several churches in the area have vehicles and efforts could be made to coordinate bus services with these parishes.

Surprisingly, the survey results indicated that the market might bear a rate increase for in-town trips to $.75 or $1.

Despite the fact that Thief River Falls has a medical center, the survey indicated that there is still a need to get people to Grand Forks, Fargo and other communities for medical service. It was recommended that the county bus be scheduled one-day a week to provide that service.

If a regular service is provided to medical centers in the region, Social Services and other organizations should encourage their clients to use these services.

It was noted that if fixed routes are to be continued in the city of Thief River Falls, more routes could be scheduled.

Finally, it was noted that if more vehicles are added to the existing system, more operating money will be needed. This will mean that more local match will be necessary.

Danae Dekkers in orchestra

Danae Dekkers, daughter of Willard and Beverly Dekkers of rural Thief River Falls and a freshman at Dordt College in Sioux Center, IA, has been selected for participation in the college orchestra.

The orchestra performed a pops concert September 23 and will participate in the annual fall music festival October 21.

Barth herd leads county DHIA in July and August

Doug and Gloria Barth herd of 36 cows led the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in July and August, according to Randy and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisors.

Ninety-seven per cent of the Barth herd was in milk during the two months and averaged 63.9 pounds of milk and 1.84 pounds of butterfat.

Other herds in the top 10 included the following with number of cows, percentage in milk, pounds of milk and pounds of butterfat listed respectively:

Mark Hanson (herd milked three times per day), 61, 79%, 57.4 and 1.85; Lyle Swanson, 56, 82%, 55.9 and 1.91; Bob Schindler, 47, 91%, 55.8 and 1.80; Kelly and Gary Lundeen, 43, 94%, 54.5 and 1.75;

Also Walter Bros. Farm, 142, 82%, 52.7 and 1.80; Jim and Karen Peterson, 40, 100%, 52.2 and 1.97; Gordon Wetterlund & Son, 54, 93%, 49.7 and 1.83; Kevin Kalt, 64, 91%, 48.4 and 1.85; and Tony and Sheila Salentine, 47, 96%, 47.3 and 1.64.

Production averages for the herds are affected by the number of dry cows since production is averaged over all cows, including those not in milk. There were 25 official DHIA and one Owner-Sampler herd on test with the association during July and August.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The Pennington county unit of the American Cancer Society has joined this nationwide program, dedicated to educating American women and their families about the importance of early detection of breast cancer. Early detection provides the best protection to treat breast cancer successfully.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer and the second highest cancer killer in women. In 1994, over $182,000 new cases are projected, and 46,000 women will die of the disease. Every woman is at risk for breast cancer, and risk increases with age. By following o simple three-step early detection program, many women would save their own lives.

- Schedule regular mammograms — Once is not enough! A mommogram every one to two years for women 40-49, and every year after 50.
- Practice monthly self-examination — a health professional can show the proper method.
- See a physician for regular breast examinations — at least every three years for women ages 20-40.

The five year survival rate for localized breast cancer has risen to 93 per cent because of advances in early detection, improved surgical procedures, hormonal therapy, and chemotherapy.

For more information about breast cancer and a free breast self-exam show card, call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345. Early detection is the best protection.

SOME THINGS GET MORE IMPORTANT EVERY YEAR

As a woman grows older, her risk of breast cancer increases.

Mammography is a key to the early detection of breast cancer. Many health facilities across the state are offering low-cost ($60 or less) mammograms.

Women age 40 and over should call for information on local facilities, or to see if they are eligible for free mammograms.

Pain Prevention Tips on Raking Leaves

Next to the World Series, fall's biggest "pain" has to be raking up leaves.

According to Dr. Richard Ottomeyer, president of the Minnesota Chiropractic Association, "Raking is a one-sided, repetitive motion, which is tough enough on the neck, shoulder and low back. Add to it the bending and heavy lifting required to rake and bag leaves, and you're placing a lot of stress on your body."

Fortunately, the Minnesota Chiropractic Association has suggestions — other than planting conifers — for ridding raking of its physical pain. They are:

- Stretch before you start raking;
- Try alternating hand placement on the rake;
- Alternate your raking motion, even slightly, to prevent all stress from being placed on just one muscle group;
- Specifically, alternate raking on right and left sides; and
- Break the yard into segments requiring no more than 30 minutes of raking time.

As for the healthiness of other means of leaf removal, Ottomeyer says the new non-motorized leaf "scoops" are back friendly. "They're lightweight, easy to push, and there's no twisting of the spine or bending over. They provide a little bit of exercise and no strain."

And if you do find yourself aching, stiff or sore, apply COLD compresses (NOT HEAT) to the area of discomfort, says Ottomeyer.

The Minnesota Chiropractic Association represents the more than 1,500 doctors of chiropractic in active practice in Minnesota.

Questions about breast cancer

Common breast cancer related questions and answers are provided by the American Cancer Society and the Pennington county unit of the American Cancer Society.

Q. What dues 1 in 9 really mean? 1 in 9 women in this room will get breast cancer this year?

A. The 1 in 9 statistic describes the number of women in the population who will develop breast cancer by age 85. The estimote is based on rates in the general population (an individual woman's risk may be slightly less or slightly more than 1 in 9) and is one measure of the frequency of breast cancer in the population. This lifetime risk measure is especially sensitive to increases in longevity, since one component of the calculation is the probability of living into each age interval. It is better to apply the 1 in 9 concept to a cohort or group of women than to an individual. For example, in o group of 100 women, about 11 will develop breast cancer before age 85; 1 more after age 85 (1 in 8). The risk estimate does not assume women live to a specific age. By age 85, 60 of 100 women will have died.

Q Does the Society release statistics such as "1 in 9" to scare women into getting mammograms?

A. No. These statistics are released to communicate that breast cancer is a common disease for women. However, we hove seen that this number can be taken out of context and we now prefer to use statistics that reflect how the risk of breast cancer changes over o woman's lifetime. For example, a 30-year-old woman has o .42 per cent (1 in 238) risk of developing breast cancer in the next 10 years, o 1.92 per cent (1 in 52) risk over the next 20 years, an 11.1 per cent (1 in 9) risk to age 85, and a total life risk of 12.2 per cent (1 in 8).

Q. If 1 in 9 women will get breast cancer by age 85, why do you say all women are at risk of breast cancer?

A. All women are at risk. Because even though researchers have identified a number of risk factors, most appear to be more useful at providing clues to the development of breast cancer than in identifying prevention strategies. We cannot determine which women will develop breast cancer — most women will have at least one risk factor, and many will have more than one. However, women with no risk factors also develop breast cancer; therefore, all women are at risk (About one-fourth of breast cancer cases are among women with no major risk factors).

Q. Women hove heard about all these risk factors, yet you say that all women are at risk. How real are the risks of family history, drinking alcohol, having children late in life or not at all?

A. Identifiable risk factors do exist, and many breast cancer patients have at least one risk factor. Risk factors represent observed increased risk of disease in women with the factor compared to women without the factor (after adjusting for other risks). Different risk factors confer varying degrees of comparative and absolute increased risk. Family history of premenopausal breast cancer in first degree relatives (mother, sister) confers significant excess risk, and these women should consult with their physician to determine an appropriate age to begin screening and to establish appropriate screening intervals. Larry Rohlf, chairman of the "Save the Depot" campaign, recently accepted a contribution from Sjoberg's Cable T.V. in Thief River Falls. Manager Bobbi Jordet says the company is proud to be part of the effort to save the historic landmark. Rohlf says the volunteer committee is a quarter of the way to their $200,000 goal. Public contributions to purchase and renovate the property will be joined with private dollars to create a new, commercial use that will guarantee the building's future.

Initiative Fund luncheon features Jean Adams

Jean Adams, Executive Director of the Charities Review Council of Minnesota, will be featured guest at the Northwest Minnesota initiative Fund's Foundation Forum luncheon scheduled Friday, October 21, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls.

Founded in 1946, the Charities Review Council seeks to strengthen the integrity of the charitable environment by serving as an independent resource which provides information and education to both donors and charities.

Council staff regularly monitor reports filed by more than 3,000 charitable organizations with the Minnesota Attorney General's office. Upon evaluating this data, they furnish individuals, businesses and foundations with the facts needed to make informed giving decisions. By meeting the standards of the council, organizations can build credibility with their funders.

Ms. Adams has served as executive director of the Charities Review Council since October of 1993. She was previously vice president and consultant for the Stevens group, a firm specializing in financial and management services to nonprofits and foundations across the country.

Cancer Answers

(early menarche, late menopause) confer some risk but can't be altered anyway. Some factors involve major life choices (age at first birth, no children) and must be balanced with other personal decisions. Some foctors (alcohol, fat intake) can be reduced by altering personal behaviors. We try to de-emphasize this loundry list of risk factors since they can lead to fear, which moy keep women from getting screened, or they can give a false sense of security, which also may keep women from obtaining screening.

Q. Are breast cancer rates increasing?

A. Breast cancer incidence rates appear to have increased gradually over the last 50 years, based on the best long-term data we hove from the Connecticut Tumor Registry. Breast cancer incidence rates have increased much more since 1980. This recent increase is believed to be due to marked increases in mammography utilization, allowing the detection of early stage breast cancers. This increased detection of eorly disease should leod to declining mortality rates by the mid 1990's. Incidence rates seem to hove leveled off since 1987, but will continue to be high as screening programs get established.

Q. Is breast cancer on epidemic?

A. Technically, the onswer is no, since on epidemic is conventionally defined as on obrupt increase in incidence over expected levels. Breast cancer does not fit this description because there has been a graduol, long-term rise in incidence rotes. The increase in the number of women being screened can account for much of the recent rise. However, there is an understondable perception thot breast cancer is an epidemic, and we need to respond to that perception since breast cancer is more common now thon it used to be, ond the long-term gradual increase in rotes is not understood.

Q. Are more women dying of breast cancer?

A. Yes, because more women live to older oges. But mortolity rotes hove been foirly stoble over the past 50 years even as incidence rotes hove risen, indicating some progress in fighting tho disease. Since 1973, deoth rates have increased for women over 65 (up 13 per cent) while declining for women under 65 (down five per cent). Incidence rate also have shown the most increase for women over 65, up 40 per cent since 1973 compared to up 12 per cent or women under 65.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Angela Haugen
Lincoln High School

by Angela Haugen

"Did you hear what I heard?"

"Depends; what exactly did you hear?"

"Well, I shouldn't tell you but... Cecilia is pregnant. She says it's Chris."

"No way! What's she going to tell her parents?"

"I don't know, but I don't think we will be seeing her for awhile. Anyway, whatcha doing this weekend?"

Isn't it funny how things haven't changed but ideas have? At the beginning of the century, teens were pregnant all the time. Fourteen-year-olds were marrying 40-year-old men and bearing their children. That didn't bother most people then, but today if a junior gets pregnant with someone she loves, it's an outrage. Today when a pregnant teen walks down the halls, rumors are whispered from person to person. Why have our attitudes changed so drastically?

When we see a pregnant teen, we immediately think "unwanted child." Unplanned doesn't necessarily mean unwanted. Half of the kids in Lincoln high school were probably unplanned by their parents. It doesn't mean they're loved any less. We've completely turned our ideas around.

Babies of unwed teens have been labeled "illegitimate." Does that mean that all other babies are "legitimate"? What does that mean? Since they are conceived out of wedlock does that make them unholy? Unless I am mistaken, Jesus was conceived out of wedlock. Does that make him unholy? How ironic. How absurd to label people so quickly.

If Joseph were alive today, what would he have done? Unlike Joseph, it doesn't seem like guys take any responsibility any more. But the challenge of taking care of that baby can't be placed on one person. After all, we know that the girl was not alone when the little miracle was created.

Today most of the blame is placed on the girl because her shame is most visible. Males get off easy when it comes to accepting the blame. The girl is out of luck if the guy decides he doesn't want the child. It's not the guy's problem, right? He's not having the baby. Wrong! He is having the baby. Can't get off that easily, buddy.

But if the child is loved by both parents, I don't think it's such a sin. So what if they aren't married; the child is still getting everything it needs. If they love each other, they will most likely get married anyway. After all, Jesus was born before his parents were married. The only problem I see with it is what last name to use.

For the most part, I personally, and my classmates generally are not ready for the responsibility of another human being. We have enough trouble keeping track of ourselves. I can't speak for everyone, but I still enjoy goofing off in school and hanging out with my buds on the weekends. A baby would tie me down and keep me too busy for my friends.

Being a mother is a full time job, 24 hours a day. Even doctors aren't doctors all the time. As soon as that baby is born, the girl has the permanent title of mother. That's a lot of responsibility for a teenager. Granted, some of us are ready for it and could handle it better than some adults. But scraping creamed peas and carrots off the ceiling is not my idea of a wild weekend. I don't want to have to call a sitter every time I go out. I would just worry the whole time about whether or not she got to sleep with her blankie.

Graduating from high school is practically a requirement nowadays to make it in the world. With a screaming baby in your room, it's hard to concentrate on your upcoming Chemistry exam. I have too much freedom right now to give it all up even if a smiling baby filled its place. I'm much too immature to take care of a baby. I still enjoy the little toys I get in "Happy Meals." Having a kid right now would change everything. I'm just not ready.

Now that I think about it, I don't think those married 14-year-olds were ready either. It was just accepted then. They would have liked to have had fun and have lived their lives too. It's true; only our ideas have change, not our actions.

Serger Network will meet Tuesday, October 11 at NWTC

The next meeting of Serger Network will be Tuesday, October 11, at 7 p.m. in room 131 of Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls.

The class will be on serging sweat pants and everyone is asked to bring a sweat pants pattern, material, thread, scissors, straight pins if needed, sergers and attachment bag. To save time, you may want to have the material cut out. However, the pants are easy so they will not take a lot of sewing time. Patti Zeman will be conducting the class.

At our last meeting we decided to take three meetings, or more if needed, to make a bird's eye quilt. We will be starting this in January, so you may want to think of material ideas. Marlys Johnsrud interested the group in the idea with her demonstration in September.

The November and December meetings will be on Christmas serging.

Serger Network, which was started by Lois Steiger on March 29, 1994, meets the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. New members are always welcome and may call 218-681-3339 for information.

Thief Lake Lil' Honkers won second place in the Middle River Goose Festival children's parade last weekend. The team consisted of Trevor, Dillon, Hannah, and Eri Barg, Forrast Huseth, and Trudy Erickson.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

The Friendly, Funny, Frustrating, Fabulous, Affectionate Fours

We've been through the terrific twos and the tremendous threes, and now Zach and I are headed for the fours. He recently celebrated his birthday and can't accept the fact that he's "old." I always thought kids wanted to be older so they could have more privileges.

Lately, I've been searching for adjectives that describe his personality and behavior at this time in his life.

One appropriate adjective would definitely be friendly – friendly fours. Zach craves kid-size companions. When he spots children at the park or riding their bike down the street he yells, "Wanna play with me?" After five minutes of chasing each other, Zach proudly proclaims that he has a new friend.

Zach constantly hollers "hi" and waves to everyone he sees – semitruck drivers, dump truck drivers, young people, elderly people, anyone on the street. When I greet people with a friendly hello, Zach asks, "What's her name?" Followed by, "What's she doing? Where are her kids?" It's difficult to explain that I'm being polite and don't know the life story of everyone on the street.

When Zach learned that we'd be moving from Detroit Lakes, he worried about his friends. I told him we'd make new ones in Thief River Falls. Two days after we moved into our house, Zach and I were sitting on the front steps when he turned to me and asked, "Are we making new friends yet?" Not quite, but we'll work on it.

The funny fours also accurately describes my son's personality. One day he was singing that Little Miss Muffet was "eating her curbs on the way." I don't think concrete is edible, Zach.

As we were putting together a puzzle, I woofed and roared as I placed each animal in its appropriate spot. "You can't bark, mom; you're not a dog. You're not a lion either. You're just a mommy. You're not anything," Zach said.

Thanks a lot, I said to myself, trying not to laugh. After all, we know how important moms are.

This stage could also be called the frustrating fours – for mom anyway. Zach constantly shoots a barrage of questions. Understanding the necessity of questions for learning (I am a reporter), I try to answer each and every one to the best of my ability. But there are some questions even a mom can't answer.

He's curious about everything from where bees live, to snails in the river, to what makes the clouds move, and much more. I sometimes admit, "Zach, I don't know." He retorts, "Yes you do." I wish I did.

The threes and fours also mark an age of independence. It's often difficult to think of creative ways to get a four-year-old to do what you want him to do – things like eat, go to bed, get dressed, hurry. Common sentences coming from his mouth lately include: "I don't want to go to bed. I'm not sleepy or tired;" "I don't like that stuff; it's yucky;" "Please, please, please, please, I want to go to the park;" "Not this park, the other park." Help!

But probably my favorite adjective to describe Zach is affectionate. While at a relative's day care in Detroit Lakes he would profess his feelings to his third-cousin, also four-years-old. "I wuv you, Krystie. Mmmhmm, I do. I wuv you." Krystie looked at Zach like he was crazy and continued playing in the sandbox.

What is really special is when that "I love you" is meant for me. Out of the blue while playing with his Lego's he'll seriously say, "I wuv you, mommy." I'm not sure he understands the exact meaning of love, but I think he knows it's something really good.

Overall, I think the fours will be fabulous. This is the time he emerges from a toddler to a boy. It's a time he'll use more sophisticated language to express his thoughts and questions. It's a time when he runs, jumps, slides, swings and climbs like this is the first of several lives. It's also a time to be inquisitive – poking a caterpillar, nudging an earthworm, squishing a fly, asking endless questions.

We have almost a year to enjoy the friendly, funny, frustrating, affectionate and fabulous fours.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Whatever Will The Weather Be?

Is there such a thing as a weather junkie? I think I am. I have to listen or watch the weather forecast at least twice a day, once in the morning and once in the evening, to keep my life in order.

In the morning I usually listen to the radio while I am getting ready for work, so I listen to the weather forecast instead of watch it on television. If I take too long in the shower or otherwise goof around and miss the weather man, I have a problem – I don't know what to wear. It is hard to know whether to dress cool or warm when I have no idea what the weather is like outside.

And it doesn't seem to matter how the weather feels to me when I put the dog out. Lately it has been quite cold when I first put him outside, so I dress appropriately, in warm clothing. Off I go to work, feeling quite pleased with myself for having figured out how to dress without the weather man.

At work I am stuck inside for four hours, rarely peeking outside because there is no window beside me, and by the time I go home for lunch at noon something has happened out there. It has gotten hot. I go home in my warm clothing, sweltering and sweating because the sun has come out and heated up my car and everything else, and I am not dressed appropriately at all any more. I have to change into something cooler.

Of course, by the time evening comes and the sun disappears, and I am ready to take the dog for his evening constitutional, it has gotten cold again and I have to change back into my warm clothing.

So you see, I need to listen to the weather man. If I don't, I have no idea how to dress. If I listen to the weather man, I can tell I will need to wear a sweater in the morning, leave it off in the afternoon, and then put it on again in the evening.

However, you can surely bet that if I dress for hot weather and wear a sweater without hearing the weather, thinking I will be removing it in the afternoon, it will stay cold all day and I will be wearing that sweater the entire day and wishing I had worn something even more substantial.

In the evening I usually watch the weather on television. I must see what the weather man has to say to know what is going to happen tomorrow. I just don't like surprises. I need to know if it is going to rain or blow (or snow, I suppose) so I can close my bedroom windows, and maybe some other windows around the house.

I need to watch the weather man at night to know if the sun is going to shine tomorrow so I can leave windows open downstairs without getting frozen on my way to the shower in the morning, or, worse yet, have a very cold toilet seat greet me as I stumble into the bathroom half asleep.

So, everybody now has fair warning that they should never try to call me or come to the door at 7:15 a.m. or 6:15 or 10:15 p.m. because I am very busy – listening and/or watching the weather man so I know what to expect in the next few hours.

Now – what the weather man says is going to happen and what really happens outside is a whole 'nother story, isn't it?

Dear Readers,
Special days are especially difficult for the bereaved. It is not whether or not they will experience grief, but how they will manage the grief they feel. It helps to mark next year's calendar with the birth date and death date so you can remember them with a note, call, or visit. It lets them know that they are not alone in remembering.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

ACTIVITIES

Jumping Raisins

You will need raisins, a tall clear glass and soda, seltzer or lemon soda. Pour the soda into the glass. Immediately add four to six raisins. Observe. The raisins will sink to the bottom of the glass and then slowly rise to the top. They will continue to jump up and down for several minutes. Wait until the raisins settle to the bottom of the glass and then drink the soda. Scoop the raisins out with a spoon and eat them.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need your time.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Smith, Maggie. Argo, You Lucky Dog. Argo felt like the luckiest dog in the world when he picked up an old lottery ticket off the street and it turned out to be a winner. He has five days, with his owners out of town, to make his wildest dreams come true.

Stimson, Joan. Big Panda, Little Panda. This charming tale will appeal to all children who are troubled by a new arrival in the house as sometimes you want to stay little, even though you are big.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Berenstain Bears Get Stage Fright. After both get parts in Grizzlystiltskin, Sister has to endure Brother's boasting that he knows his part standing on his head. But when the big night of the play arrives, who is nervous and who is prepared?

(Contributed by the Northwest Regional Library.)

PARENTING TIPS

Baby on the Move!

Once your baby begins to move on her own, a whole new world opens up to her. She should become increasingly curious about everything around her! This curiosity is wonderful and something that you, the parent, should celebrate. Sure it will make life more difficult for you, but it is your child's key to learning about the world around her.

You may think that a playpen is the best for your child because she will be safe there. However, if a baby is confined to a playpen too often, she will soon lose some of her wonderful curiosity. The small space does not give her enough room to learn the many things that she can only learn by moving around on her own. If she has the opportunity to experience various distances between objects, she will be quicker to learn to judge distance and time. These early lessons form part of the foundation for later learning at school.

If baby is to have the freedom to explore safely, it means that you will have to make sure that the environment is safe for her. Check your house from her eye level and look for any potentially harmful situations. Remove anything that baby might break, pour over herself, put in her mouth or swallow. Try to anticipate what could be harmful and change it into a safe place for baby to explore.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

As your baby explores her world she may actually get "stuck" in a corner, under a table, etc. When this happens naturally you should go to her rescue and comfort her. But you can make this a learning experience by comforting her with your voice and hand. Then gently coax her to work her way free. Praise her for her efforts.

Screening of new film "Impromptu" in TRF Oct. 6

Thursday night, October 6, KFJM will present a screening of the film "Impromptu", at the Northland Community College auditorium in Thief River Falls.

"Impromptu" details writer George Sand's pursuit of the young and frail Frederic Chopin through the art world of 19th century Paris.

In the fall of 1836, at the salon of Countess d'Agoult (the mistress of Franz Liszt), Frederic Chopin first met the French novelist Amantine-Aurore-Lucile Dupin, known by her pen name George Sand.

"What a repellent woman she is," he exclaimed. "Is she really a woman? I'm ready to doubt it." After such a dubious first impression, whom would have thought the pair would share a 10-year romance?

Despite Chopin's initial reaction, George Sand was entranced by him. Her adoration for him and his music, as well as Chopin's partiality to famous people, eventually gained his interest.

They made a strange pair — opposites in temperament, personality, and outlook. Their love affair was stormy and intense. "Impromptu" lets us in on how that affair began.

George Sand is brilliantly played in the film by Judy Davis, who has had starring roles in Woody Allen's "Husbands and Wives" and the recent comedy hit, "The Ref."

Hugh Grant plays the part of Chopin in the film. Grant has received rave reviews for his performance in this summer's hit romantic-comedy, "Four Weddings and a Funeral." In "Impromptu," Grant condenses his immense charm into his portrayal of the demur and sickly Chopin.

Chopin's friend and admirer, Franz Liszt, is played by Julian Sands. Sands is full of life as the great pianist and equally tormented by his mistress, Countess d'Agoult, played by Bernadette Peters.

"Impromptu" is filled with great supporting performances by Academy Award-winner Emma Thompson as the hilarious wife of a nobleman who thinks she can become artistic by surrounding herself with artists, and the incredible Mandy Patinkin as George Sand's jilted lover, poet Alfred de Musset.

The story is backdropped with the gorgeous French countryside and the music of Chopin and Liszt.

KFJM will present a screening of "Impromptu" Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in the Northland Community College auditorium in Thief River Falls. The film will be preceded by a reception with refreshments and an opportunity to meet the staff of your local public radio station, KFJM FM. The event is free and open to the public. For more information call KFJM at 1-800-248-KFJM.

Free screening for depression offered

Mental health professionals from Northwestern Mental Health Center will offer area residents an opportunity to learn about the signs and symptoms of depression and participate in a free screening test as part of National Depression Screening Day Thursday, October 6.

The free program will be held at the Northland Inn on highways 2 and 75 north of Crookston. Two sessions will be held in the conference room at 2 and 6 p.m.

National Depression Screening Day last year attracted more than 56,000 people to 1,300 sites across the country and inaugurated the concept of screening for mental illness.

Participants in the Crookston screening will hear a brief talk on the causes, symptoms and treatment of depression, followed by a short video. Individuals will complete an anonymous written screening test of depression symptoms and have the opportunity to discuss the results with a mental health professional.

Depression strikes more than 15 million Americans each year, according to statistics from the National Institute of Mental Health. Only one in four individuals with depression actually seek evaluation and treatment, although treatment is said to be able to help up to 80 per cent of those affected.

The Crookston screening is sponsored by Project Reality II/Rural Life Outreach and the Northwestern Mental Health Center. For reservations call Tammy at 218-281-3940.

Bankers Association hosts workshop in Bemidji

The Minnesota Bankers Association (MBA) hosted a senior officer workshop on September 20 at the Bemidji Holiday Inn to bring together senior managers of banks from Bemidji and surrounding areas to discuss the critical issues of banking and provide input and direction to the overall priorities of MBA. Presiding over the workshop was District 5 MBA Board Representative Charles L. Cavanagh, Perham State Bank.

Bankers from the counties of Becker, Beltrami, Clay, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Otter Tail, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Wilkin attended the workshop. "The workshop provided an opportunity for bankers to discuss issues affecting their ability to meet the financial needs of their community and provide future direction for MBA," said MBA President Doug Buoitman, president of Minnesota Valley Bank in Redwood Falls.

The Minnesota Bankers Association, founded in 1889, is the state's largest professional association devoted exclusively to the representation of commercial banks. Nearly all of the state's commercial banks are members.

TIC meeting

The International Coalition for Land and Water Stewardship (TIC) will address the many aspects of the wetlands issue at its 12th annual summit conference November 16-18 at the Ramada Inn of Grand Forks, ND.

Theme for this year's conference is "WETLANDS....Water in the Bank?" Panels will be conducted in a debate format with speakers discussing various wetlands issues including:

- Managed? Natural? Restored? Which is best?
- Wetlands: Benefits/Liabilities.
- What are the rules? Are they good or bad? How much is enough?
- Incentive programs: Do they work? Are they good enough?

This year's conference format allows for a great deal of audience dialogue and question and answer sessions. As in past years, conference attendees will be divided into small group discussion sessions to answer questions and formulate solutions to the many issues related to wetlands.

For answers to questions or registration information, contact Julie Goehring or Steve Mikkelson at The International Coalition, phone 218-233-0292 (Moorhead).

Eric Kinsley is selected MN Agribusiness ambassador for summit

Eric Kinsley of Rochester and Michael Stegemann of Lakefield have been selected to represent all 4-H members in Minnesota as American Agribusiness Ambassadors at the American Agribusiness Summit 1994 being held October 1 through 6 in St. Louis.

This first-ever joint leadership conference with the national 4-H and FFA organizations will bring together a broad spectrum of leaders from throughout the American food production industry to probe consumer opinions about the foods we eat today and explore what types of foods will be produced in the future, as well as how those foods will be produced.

It will also serve as a kick-off of a nationwide consumer education campaign to be conducted by both 4-H and FFA which seeks to build public awareness about the realities of today's consumer food production industry and what to expect from it in the future.

Kinsley and Stegemann were selected from millions of young Americans to be among the approximately 100 American Agribusiness Ambassadors to attend the conference and conduct the national public education campaign.

After attending the summit, the two will conduct ongoing campaigns of public appearances, speeches and news media publicity throughout Minnesota with the help of management from Purina Mills, Inc. and the Purina Mills dealer network in Minnesota.

The company, which is celebrating its 100th anniversary in 1994, is sponsoring the summit and public educational program in conjunction with 4-H and FFA. Purina Mills has traditionally been a major supporter of both 4-H and FFA. Kinsley has served as president of the 4-H and Stegemann currently attends Northeast Missouri State and has served the FFA as parliamentarian and president.

Committee to study local swimming pool

Thief River Falls swimming pool committee has been resurrected. Thursday night, about 15 people met to "revive" the swimming pool committee that functioned several years ago. Currently, there is $155,000 in an account for a swimming pool.

Letters were sent to individuals who might be interested in participating in a committee to once again address the issue of a new swimming pool for the community. The idea to "revive" the committee was apparently an idea of City Council members Milt Burstad, Dale Wennberg and Jean Heinrichs.

Individuals attending the meeting Thursday night included: Jean Heinrichs, Don Stewart, Terry Nelson, Dale Wennberg, Milt Burstad, John Rahn, Kermit Genereux, Curt Howe, Madelyn Vigen, Marty Collins, Rufus Olson, Arlo Rude, Todd McDonald, and David Hill. Other individuals have been invited to join the group. Eventually, the size of the committee is expected to include about 30 individuals, and be broken up into a steering committee and an action group. The meetings are open to the public.

Thursday night, the group elected Terry Nelson to serve as its chair person and Madelyn Vigen to serve as the group's secretary.

Following the election of officers, a brainstorming session to discuss types of pools, locations and financings was held. No firm decision was reached on any of those issues. Another meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, October 20, at 6:30 p.m.

Northland quarterback J.P. Lammers was chased out of the pocket by Mesabi defensive back Richard Brown in the first quarter of Saturday's Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division football game at Prowler Field. The Pioneers won 33-8.

Prowlers' size, strength beats Park Rapids Area 34-0...

TRF out-muscles Panthers

Thief River Falls is now reaping the benefits of off-season work in the weight room. The Prowlers once again muscled their way into the win column Friday by overpowering Park Rapids Area 34-0 in Section 8A high school football.

It was Thief River Falls' third straight win after a pair of season-opening losses, and it followed the same pattern used in beating Wadena-Deer Creek 40-12 and Staples-Motley 54-20 – simple straight-ahead, push-them-out-of-the-way football.

"Methodical," was the word that came to mind as Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm described the Prowlers' between-the-tackles ground game. "If somebody from out of town is watching us, it's probably pretty boring football. But it's effective. We go right at people. Nothing fancy. We use our strength and power. Our kids hit the weights hard, and this is the end result – their reward," he said.

The key is a physically-dominating offensive line that starts with 6-4, 210-pound Robby Farbo at center; 6-2, 205-pound John Davis and 5-10, 180-pound Jason Hruby at the guards; 6-2, 295-pound Mork Spyhalski and 6-2, 290-pound Caylar Olson at the tackles; along with 6-2, 185-pound Jason Homme and 6-4, 170-pound Steve Burslie at the double tight-ends. Farbo is a junior; the others are seniors.

Most of the ball-carrying duties fall to 5-10, 215-pound Brian Howe and 5-9, 185-pound Tony Halsa, a pair of hard-running fullback types who are more apt to bowl over rather than go around would-be tacklers.

"We're playing good football right now," said Mumm. "It's easy to coach when the kids are doing their jobs."

Thief River Falls' first three possessions produced a 19-0 lead as the Prowlers scored on a 78-yard drive in 14 plays, a 54-yard drive in 12 plays and a 61-yard drive in 9 plays.

A 16-yard swing pass from quarterback Keith Anderson to Halsa and a 15-yard tackle-breaking run by Halsa were the big gainers on the first Thief River Falls possession that ended on a 6-yard run by Howe behind a line that simply pushed the Park Rapids defenders backwards. Howe also kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 8:10 elapsed.

Second Thief River Falls scoring drive began with a 12-yard Anderson toss to Burslie and ended on a 3-yard keeper by Anderson, who reached the left corner of the end zone with 8:24 remaining in the first half.

Consecutive runs by 11 and 9 yards by Howe and a 10-yard scramble by Anderson set up the third Thief River Falls touchdown – a 9-yard Keith Anderson pass to Nathan Anderson, who was open on the right side with 1:12 showing.

Another extended drive – 10 plays, 80 yards – made it 27-0 in the third quarter. Nick Chiodo cut through the middle on a 34-yard run and Halsa went 18 yards off the right side to set up a 4-yard Keith Anderson touchdown pass to Burslie on a roll to the right. The shoestring catch at the goal line came with 4:14 on the clock.

Final touchdown in the Panthers' homecoming contest followed a fumbled pitch-out that was batted around before the Prowlers' Aaron Ehrenstrom finally came up with the ball at the Park Rapids 23 – some 28 yards behind the line of scrimmage.

It took the Prowlers seven plays to reach the end zone, but they made it on an 11-yard sprint around the left side by sophomore Paul Kopari. A Chanc Keefe kick made it 34-0 with 1:19 to play in the third quarter.

Halsa finished with 92 yards on 18 carries. Howe netted 76 yards on 14 tries. The Prowlers out-gained the Panthers 324-93 in total yards. With defensive end Eric Bjorgaard registering three first half quarterback sacks, the Park Rapids ground game netted only 61 yards for the night. But Sean Kimball, a 6-0, 185-pound junior, did finish with 71 yards on 13 carries.

The results put the Prowlers at 4-2 and the Panthers at 2-3.

Breaks fall Pioneers' way

■ Defense, big plays key 33-8 Northland win

Two touchdowns came from the defense and two well-defended passes turned into unexpected scoring plays Saturday as Northland opened its 1994 Northern Division schedule with a 33-8 Minnesota Community College Conference football win over Mesabi at Prowler Field.

Northland's reputation as a strong defensive team was tarnished a bit a week earlier in a 33-32 loss to Willmar, but the Pioneers bounced back to shut down Mesabi behind safety James Zephyrin and linebacker Rick Anteau. Zephyrin, a 5-11, 185-pound freshman from Miami, intercepted two passes, returning one of them for a touchdown, and blocked a punt that went for another Northland score. Anteau, a 6-1, 220-pound sophomore from Toledo, had two fumble recoveries, one of which set up a Northland touchdown.

Mesabi netted only 172 yards worth of offense, including 129 on 45 running plays and just 43 yards on 7-for-20 passing.

Offensively, Northland fared better only because of a couple of breaks on the touchdown passes. With top runningback Brent Miller limited to just four carries because of a foot injury, nine different ball carriers rushed for a collective 131 yards on 47 attempts. J.P. Lammers' 133-yard passing game (8-for-15) included touchdowns of 33 yards to Ronnie Anderson and 79 yards to David Simmons – neither of which should have resulted in a score.

"We got a couple of breaks," acknowledged Northland coach Gene Klinke. "We played well at times, but we still made mistakes at key times on both sides of the ball. We're happy with the outcome, but we're going to have to work on the little things that will make us a good football team."

Without putting together a drive, Northland took a 21-0 lead.

Following an interception by Shawn Blackmon at the Mesabi 19, the Pioneers, after being hit with one of their 14 penalties, were faced with a fourth-and-26 from the 33 when Lammers lobbed the ball to the end zone. A Mesabi defensive back was waiting at the goal line to bat the ball down, but instead, he inadvertently tipped it into the arms of Anderson for the touchdown with 3:22 left in the first quarter.

Five plays into the second quarter, a fourth-and-13 at the Mesabi 24, Zephyrin came in from the side and blocked an Adam Miller punt that was picked up and carried into the end zone by linebacker Dave Hofman for a touchdown and a 14-0 lead.

There was just 1:58 left in the first half when the Pioneers' passing game got another break after Lammers hit Simmons with a short pass on the left side. The defensive back came up to make the stop at the Northland 25, but Simmons shook him off with a spin, and then sprinted down the side to complete a 79-yard touchdown play.

Four Northland penalties on the ensuing Mesabi possession handed the Norsemen a half-ending touchdown. The visitors hadn't crossed midfield until the gift-wrapped opportunity set up an 11-yard Mike Abts touchdown run through the right side with just 24 seconds left.

An Anteau fumble recovery at the Mesabi 36 led to a 14-yard Blackmon touchdown sweep to the left corner of the end zone with 3:55 showing, and just three plays later Zephyrin stepped sailed down the right sidelines on a 64-yard interception return/touchdown.

Only other scoring came on the game's final play from scrimmage when the Pioneers, trying to punt on a fourth down snap from their own one-yard line, had the kick blocked by defensive tackle Michael Lemke for a safety.

Northland's carry-by-committee ground game was led by East Grand Forks sophomore Ricky Rivera with 42 yards on 9 attempts. Abts, a freshman from Green Bay, had 43 yards on 10 carries for Mesabi. The eight Northland pass receptions went to six different players.

Northland is 2-2 overall. Mesabi fell to 1-3.

Jennifer Olin and Theresa Giauque maintained their unbeaten status and the Thief River Falls girls turned in a solid effort against a strong field Saturday at the Otter Invitational girls high school swim meet hosted by Fergus Falls.

Olin won the diving competition and Giauque took the 200 freestyle to lead the Prowlers. They remain unbeaten in those events this fall.

Fargo North won team honors with 271 points, followed by Brainerd with 204.5, Fergus Falls 202, West Fargo 195, Park Rapids Area 144, Fargo South 129, Thief River Falls 110.5, Crookston 109, and Sauk Centre 31.

"We did very well," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "We had some excellent times. We looked good. We did the little things well. I was very excited with their performances. The whole team looked sharp."

EGF wins TRF volleyball title

East Grand Forks dodged a bullet in an opening round upset bid by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and stretched its season-opening winning streak to 15 matches Saturday with a championship effort in the 17th annual Thief River Falls Northern Lites Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The Gators had the Green Wave on the ropes with a 15-7 win and a 12-6 lead in the 2-out-of-3 round-robin potion of the tournament. But East Grand Forks rallied to take Game 2 by a 15-13 margin, then outlasted Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 17-15 in the quick-scoring rally point third game.

"I thought it was one of our better matches of the year," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Gwen Borgen in looking back at the Gators' efforts against the favored Green Wave. "If we could have gotten by them, I think we could have won the tournament. Overall, I was pleased with our tournament performance. We made some line-up changes to get some quicker kids in there, and I think it worked out well for us."

East Grand Forks added pool play wins over Roseau 10-15, 15-10, 15-11 and Warroad 15-5, 15-9 to reach the finals, where the Green Wave handled Bemidji 15-4, 15-4.

Roseau beat host Thief River Falls 15-12, 15-10 in the third place match; Badger/Greenbush-Middle River stopped Marshall County Central 15-9, 15-8 for fifth place; and Warroad outlasted Red Lake County Central 15-1, 12-15, 16-14 in the seventh place contest.

A solid team effort carried the Prowlers past Red Lake County Central 15-9, 15-8 and strong defense keyed a 15-13, 15-5 win over Marshall County/ Central before problems at the serving line in Game 1 and serve reception trouble in Game 2 led to a 15-13, 15-12 loss at the hands of Bemidji in pool play.

The Prowlers jumped out to an 11-8 first-game lead against Roseau in the third place match, then ran into trouble. "Lack of communication and hesitating before going after the ball was costly," explained Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson.

"But everyone did some real good things in every game," said Anderson in assessing the Prowlers' tournament performance. "If we could just overcome our inconsistency and be more confident at serve reception we would be just fine."

Homecoming football games scheduled Thursday/Friday...

NCC, LHS share Prowler Field

Thief River Falls sports fans will be offered a double dose of football at Prowler Field this week with back-to-back homecoming games for Northland Community College and Lincoln High School.

The Pioneers will take on Itasca Thursday at 7 p.m. in a Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division match-up, while the Prowlers tackle Crookston Friday at 6 p.m. in Section 8A play.

Outcome of the two games will have a bearing on post-season play for both the Pioneers and Prowlers.

Northland is 2-2 overall and 1-0 in the MCCC after the opening Northern Division schedule Saturday with a 33-8 win over Mesabi. Brainerd shut out Hibbing 35-0 and Vermilion handled Itasca 49-6 in the other Northern Division openers. Top two regular season finishers in the MCCC Northern and Southern Division standings earn state playoff berths.

The Vikings are 1-3 overall with a season-opening 16-6 win over Southern Division member North Hennepin to their credit.

"We have to beat Itasca if we want to go to the playoffs," said Northland coach Gene Klinke. "We don't want to overlook anyone, including Itasca, but we can't fall behind Vermilion and Brainerd and expect to make the playoffs."

The Pioneers shared the Northern Division title with Vermilion a year ago. They finish regular season play with games Oct. 13 at Vermilion, Oct. 20 at Hibbing and Oct. 27 at home vs. Brainerd.

A Northland ground game, hurt by the absence of speedster Brent Miller because of a foot injury, now also has hard-running Ricky Rivera slowed by a hamstring problem.

"Our backfield has been a real mess this year," acknowledged Klinke.

That may put a little more pressure on the Pioneers' passing game, featuring quarterback J.P. Lammers and receivers Dave Simmons, Ronnie Anderson and Erik Hamre. Most are short passes, designed to get the ball to the receivers in an open field situation where all three are potential game-breakers.

"We want to get the ball in their hands," confirmed Klinke. "They can all break off a long run if they can get a one-on-one match-up in the open field."

Reduction in the number of penalties, especially on defense, is also a priority item in the Pioneers' camp, according to Klinke. "We've got to channel our emotion, our aggression, in the right direction," he said. "We can't be giving people yards and points. They have to earn them."

At the high school level, Thief River Falls and Crookston, both 3-2, are looking to secure a No. 2 seed behind Detroit Lakes for the start of the Section 8A playoffs later this month.

Six of the ten Section 8A teams will be involved in post-season play.

Two-time defending Class A state champion Detroit Lakes, despite a 29-27 loss at Fergus Falls Friday that snapped the Lakers' 31-game winning streak, will likely be the top seed. The Pirates and Prowlers would like to be right behind them.

The renewal of the long-time rivalry looks like a good one. Both lost to Detroit Lakes and both lost to strong Class AA teams. The Pirates lost to Detroit Lakes 33-13 and fell to Wayzata 13-6. The Prowlers were beaten by Detroit Lakes 21-8 and Alexandria 32-20.

Crookston owns win over Park Rapids Area 21-7, Fergus Falls 43-21 and East Grand Forks 34-0 last week. Thief River Falls has racked up succession one-sided wins over Wadena-Deer Creek 40-12, Staples-Motley 54-20 and Park Rapids Area 34-0.

The match-up features the Pirates' quick-strike potential, directed by quarterback Bobby Shimpa, against the Prowlers' size and strength.

It will be a real homecoming for the Prowlers, who played four of their first five games on the road, including the last three. They will finish with a three-game home stand that also includes games Oct. 13 vs. Fergus Falls and Oct. 19 against East Grand Forks.

Rest of last week's results for Section 8A teams found Staples-Motley beating Kerkhoven-Murdock-Sunburg 41-13, Wadena-Deer Creek over New York Mills 14-7, Long Prairie-Grey Eagle lost to Paynesville 13-12, and Perham fell to Warroad 16-7.

Gators drop first five-game match

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River played its first five-game match of the 1994 high school volleyball season Monday – and lost.

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo outlasted the visiting Gators 15-6, 14-16, 15-9, 11-15, 15-9.

"We played well at times, but we had some mental lapses," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Gwen Borgen, whose team was coming off a 2-2 appearance at the Thief River Falls Northern Lites Invitational Saturday. "We tried to come back in the fifth game, but you could see the kids were tired," she explained.

The loss dropped the Gators to 7-9.

Gators win 19-18 game at Waubun

Only successful conversion attempt of the night, following a fourth quarter Badger/Greenbush-Middle River touchdown, gave the Gators a 19-18 high school football win at Waubun Friday.

The Bombers started with a 12-0 lead and had an 18-6 halftime edge. But they failed on all three conversions.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was a similar 0-for-2 in the PAT department until the Gators' Heiko Stehle, a foreign exchange student from Germany, kicked the game-winning extra point.

"He (Stehle) is a good kicker," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Steve Willman. "He tensed up a little on the first two kicks. He's suddenly realized all these people are coming at him."

Rod Keezer scored all three Waubun touchdowns on runs of 19, 8 and 10 yards. Jon Vacura scored on runs of 4 and 62 yards for the Gators, and Josh Kujava tied it on an 8-yard run with three minutes left.

"It was a pretty good football game – a crowd-pleaser with a lot of back and forth action," said Willman.

The Badger/Greenbush-Middle River offense included 87 yards on 24 carries by Ross Waage and 70 yards on just 5 attempts by Vacura. Sheldon Rud was 2-of-5 passing for 47 yards.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River forced four Waubun turnovers, including an interception by Rud and fumble recoveries by Simon Kern, Matt Kuznia and Rud. Kern was named defensive player of the game by the Gators' coaching staff.

The win put B/G-MR at 3-2 heading into a 7:30 p.m. Friday assignment against Fertile-Beltrami in Middle River.

Devils' halftime lead turns into 30-10 loss

Kittson Central turned a 10-9 halftime deficit into a 30-10 Nine-Man high school football win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Friday.

"We played okay the first half, but we had some defensive breakdowns in the second half," explained Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen.

The three Kittson Central second half scoring plays included touchdown passes of 21 and 15 yards from Garret Koop to Bret Niles and Ryan Johnson, along with a 66-yard run by Mark Olsonawski.

"They have a good passing game, and they've got some speed," pointed out Hagen. "They can hurt you with the big play."

Jim Verbout carried 17 times for 106 yards for the Blue Devils, who netted 165 yards on 42 running plays and had added only 26 yards on 4-for-10 passing.

Defensively, Aaron Miller led the Blue Devils with 10 tackles.

The loss put Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke at 3-2 heading a 4 p.m. Saturday game against Argyle in Grygla. The Blue Devils' efforts to land a post-season playoff berth will also include games Oct. 13 at East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and Oct. 18 vs. Stephen in Goodridge.

"This (loss) makes the next three games pretty important," said Hagen. "We knew looking at the schedule we'd finish with a pretty tough stretch of games."

Large field on hand for TRF cross country meet

A fifth place showing by freshman Becky Mooney highlighted the Prowlers' efforts Monday in their Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational high school cross country meet.

Damp, cold weather greeted runners from 19 different schools who were on hand for the varsity, junior varsity and junior high races at the Thief River Golf Club. It was the largest field in recent memory for a Thief River Falls race, drawing the likes of Fergus Falls, Brainerd and Moorhead so their runners could see the course that will be used for the 1994 Section 8AA meet later this month.

A close three-team race developed in the boys varsity competition, where Brainerd emerged a winner with 82 points, Detroit Lakes was second with 83 and Moorhead wound up third with 87.

Girls varsity title went to Bemidji by a comfortable 60-92 margin over second place East Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls girls finished sixth in a field of eight complete teams. The Race was won by Jennie Wibe of Hawley/Ulen-Hitterdal with a 16:05 clocking over 4000 meters. Mooney ran a 16:27.

"Becky ran a tremendous race," said Thief River Falls coach Lynn Dyer. "She has been getting stronger and stronger every race she's been in. She's a competitive kid and she had an outstanding meet."

Top Prowler finisher Monday in the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational high school cross country meet was freshman Becky Mooney, shown here leading a group around a curve on the course, with a fifth place effort in the girls varsity race.

The Thief River Falls girls team ran without two of their top three runners – juniors Lisa Swanson and Leah Helgenset, both sidelined by illness.

Shorthanded Thief River Falls boys had just two varsity runners. Eric Loeffler won the 5000 meter race in 16:51. Thief River Falls senior Dan Bjerknes was 67th in 19:56.

The new course route, which covered both the front and back nine, was well-received, according to Dyer. "I think the kids really enjoyed it," he said. "It's more of a true cross country course with fairways, woods and bridges. There's a lot of variety; not much duplication."

Mustangs fall to Hawley 34-14

Twice Hawley answered a challenge by Red Lake County Central Friday as the unbeaten Nuggets stopped the Mustangs 34-14 in a high school football match-up at Plummer.

A 100-yard third quarter pass interception return for a touchdown by Aaron Chaput chopped a two-touchdown Hawley advantage to 21-14, but a pair of 5-yard touchdown runs by Nuggets' Mike Olson secured the Hawley win.

"I thought the momentum was on our side after that pass interception," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "We had been playing pretty well, and that interception gave us a big lift. But give them (Nuggets) credit. They're a good team. They met the challenge."

Earlier, a 14-0 Hawley lead was cut in half on a 5-yard Bryce Huotari touchdown pass to J.J. Johnson, only to have the Nuggets' Bryan Jegtvig come right back with a 46-yard touchdown run to make it 21-7 at halftime.

The loss snapped a three-game Red Lake County Central winning streak, putting the Mustangs at 3-2 for the year. "I thought we played well at times on both sides of the ball," noted Brantl, "but we weren't able to do it for the entire game."

Red Lake County Central ground game was limited to 76 yards, with Scott Lorenson netting 39 on 10 carries and Eric Reinbold getting 37 on 12 tries. Huotari was 7-for-15 passing for 55 yards.

A 413-yard Hawley running attack included 154 yards for Jegtvig and 124 by Casey Marshall.

Linebacker Bret Bishop led the Mustangs' defense with 14 tackles.

Red Lake County Central will be at Lake Park-Audubon Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Wolverines fall to Tri-County by 3-0

Performances have improved, according to first-year head coach Tina Rode, but wins are still hard to come by for the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke cooperative high school volleyball team.

The Wolverines fell to 2-10 Monday with a 15-13, 15-6, 15-2 loss to Tri-County in Grygla. Thursday they were swept by Warroad in Goodridge 16-14, 15-3, 15-12.

"We start strong, but then we struggle if we don't win that first game," said Rode. "They're playing well. They've improved a lot."

MMCDC receives $250,000 grant for development

Congressman Collin Peterson announced that the Midwest Minnesota Community Development Commission of Detroit Lakes received notice of a $250,000 grant from the Department of Health and Human Services. The grant is for establishment of a National Technical Assistance program. The grant funding will be used to upgrade the ability of local community development organizations across the country to access development capital, create strategic partnerships with the private sector and develop new business opportunities in their areas.

"The Department of Health and Human Services has recognized a need for expanding the ability of local development groups. In the Seventh District of Minnesota, our office has taken a direct approach to this problem by devoting full-time staff to economic development. We have provided technical assistance to community developers. We are pleased to see the department using a similar strategy," Peterson stated.

The Midwest Minnesota Community Development Commission is based in Detroit Lakes and specializes in providing loans and technical assistance to new and expanding business in such areas as operations, finance, marketing and management. Arlen Kangas, the president of MMCDC, states, "We have been given a tremendous opportunity to help development groups across the country. Using our experience gained over the last twenty years we hope to provide help to new and emerging CDC's. They will also benefit from being able to access technical and managerial assistance from experts in the fields of management, marketing and finance."

"Too often communities compete to recruit each other's businesses. Cooperation between the region's cities and towns makes more sense. A more successful strategy is to promote and expand the businesses already here. Helping local organizations expand home grown business is more promising for all of us," Peterson added.

"The MMCDC is already operational in four states. This grant will allow MMCDC to continue to expand its impact across the country. While we can share with others our expertise in project financing, we will also be relying on a group of nationally recognized consultants to provide on-site technical training for CDC's," states Kangas.

If you have any questions, or require any additional information, contact Toni Merdan, Congressman Collin Peterson's economic development officer, at 218-847-5056.

Rural communities join forces for federal funds

Three communities in rural northern Minnesota recently joined forces by seeking $3 million of federal funds for economic and human development strategies. Bemidji, Thief River Falls, and Todd/Wadena counties, with 25 per cent or more of their residents living in poverty, together requested designation from the U.S. Department of Agriculture as an "Enterprise Community." Only a few communities in rural Minnesota were eligible to apply for the designation.

Low-income residents, economic and human development professionals, businesses, government officials, private foundation representatives, and other interested citizens identified community needs, priorities for action, and strategies to address the needs. This information was reflected in a comprehensive strategic plan, entitled "Collaboration: Road to Rural Renaissance," Priority needs for the three communities, redefined as one "Enterprise Community," relate to increased job and business opportunities, improved housing, and enhanced youth and family development.

The "Enterprise Community" designation is one of the Clinton/Gore administration's major initiatives to empower people in poverty-stricken rural and urban areas to solve economic and human problems. This initiative requires grass roots planning and decision making, rather than the traditional bureaucratic top-down approach. Needs of low-income residents determine the priorities for spending the funds. Some communities in the nation also qualify for "Empowerment Zone" designation.

Benefits of designation as an "Enterprise Community" to the three rural Minnesota communities include access to approximately $3 million to implement the strategic plan, eligibility for new Tax-Exempt Facility bonds for some private businesses, special consideration in other federal funding competitions, and federal assistance in overcoming federal barriers to community development. In addition, new partnerships have emerged, as well as momentum for change as documented in the 10-year strategic plan.

The Custom Training Services Division of Northwest Technical College, Bemidji, spearhead the "Enterprise Community" planning and application process in partnership with numerous organizations from the participating communities. Grants from the Central Minnesota Initiative Fund, the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund, and the U.S. Department of Human Services, Office of Community Services, in part, supported the planning effort. The "Enterprise Community" designation will be announced this fall.

Artists competition at Moorhead State Jan. 7

Fourteenth annual young artists competition will be conducted Saturday, January 7, at the Center for the Arts on the Moorhead State University campus in Moorhead.

Competition is open to high school students currently in grades 10-12, studying piano and orchestral instruments and living within 150 miles of Fargo-Moorhead. Cash awards of $200, $150 and $100 will be offered, along with a $200 scholarship for the first place winner if he or she enrolls at any of the three colleges and universities located in the Fargo-Moorhead area.

The top performer also will have an opportunity to win the Grand Award—a solo performance with the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony during its family concert April 7, 1995.

Northwest Airlines will present its Musical Arts Award for the first place winner and his or her parents or guardians: three round-trip tickets to Washington, DC. Tickets to a Kennedy Center performance also will be provided by the sponsoring organizations, KCCM 91.1 FM (Minnesota Public Radio in Moorhead) and the F-M Symphony Women's Association.

The competition consists of preliminaries the morning of January 7 with the finals beginning at 1 p.m. The finals will be open to the public at no charge with families welcome.

Applications and repertoire lists are being mailed to area music teachers and others. Additional copies may be obtained by writing to Young Artists Solo Competition, KCCM 91.1 FM, 901 South Eighth Street, Moorhead, MN 56562. Applications and fees must be received in the KCCM office no later than 5 p.m. Monday, December 5.

Cool but sunny weather greeted the many visitors taking in the Middle River Goose Festival last weekend. One of the highlights of the event is the annual parade. There were 75 entries in the parade. This year's overall winner was the Flintsones by the Brendon family.

Aggie Bond program might help sellers

Farmers planning to sell land this fall may benefit from a program offered through the Minnesota Department of Agriculture and administered by the department's Rural Finance Authority. It is called the Aggie Bond Program.

Under the program, the seller must agree to finance the sale of the farm to a qualified Minnesota beginning farmer. The seller does not have to pay federal income tax on the interest income paid to him by the buyer and in most cases the interest would be exempt from Minnesota personal income tax as well.

In exchange for the tax-free interest, the seller must make the loan at an interest rate below market rates. In addition, the buyer cannot be a relative and must meet certain financial criteria such as net worth and land ownership requirements. All other terms of the loan are negotiated between the seller and buyer, including such items as the down payment the length of the loan.

Lenders providing mortgage financing to young farmers making their first major land purchase may also qualify for tax reduction through this program.

In addition, lenders providing financing to eligible beginning farmers for the purchase of machinery and breeding livestock may be able to utilize the Aggie Bond Program as well.

For additional information on the program, contact Mike Anderson at 612-296-5943.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

How do we overcome evil?

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

God created the earth (Gen. 1:1). He created man with free will. He told man to obey Him so He could bless him. But man refused to obey, so God told man that he would live a cursed life apart from God (Gen. 3:6, 17).

Cain refused to obey God and chose, rather, to live for himself and do what he thought was good (Is. 48:17). By choosing the way of self and leaving God out of his life, he did evil deeds (I John 3:12). One of his evil deeds was killing his brother because his brother was practicing good deeds for God. Cain was cursed for not practicing righteousness to please God (Gen. 4:7, 11). Cain was of the devil (I John 3:12).

Enoch walked with God, which means he lived as God lives (Gen. 5:22). He imitated God by practicing righteousness and doing good works to glorify God (Matt. 5:16). He did his Father's Will in heaven instead of his own will (Matt. 6:10). Enoch was God's friend because he practiced righteousness instead of the evil deeds of the flesh. He walked with God, which means he kept God's Ways.

Noah practiced righteousness to please God and overcame his old nature (Gen. 6:9). He was considered righteous, blameless, complete, holy, upright, saintly, godly, and any other nice words you want to use to describe him. Noah was a preacher of righteousness (2 Peter 2:5). He couldn't have been a preacher of righteousness unless he practiced righteousness daily for God.

Abraham brought up his family to practice righteousness (Gen. 18:19). So did Moses. He asked God about that special Way he could live to please Him (Ex. 33:13). God told him that Way and he kept it (Heb. 3:5). Daniel overcame evil by doing good for God and told the king the same message (Dan. 4:27). Job practiced righteousness for God and there are long lists of how he did it (Job 1:1; 29:12-17).

Jesus Christ did good works to please the Father by doing only the Father's Will, which is doing good. He was serving God by serving others for the glory of God (Rom. 15:2-3).

Jesus told us to do all the things He did. He said to help others zealously in His name for the Father's glory (1 Peter 3:13; Matt. 5:16). When we do this, we are able to overcome evil and God will be faithful to bless us for all the good we do in His name on a daily basis (Rom. 12:21; Heb. 6:10). Has God started to bless you yet (Matt. 16:27; Rom 2:6-7; Rev. 2:23; 22:12)? Why not start living God's Way today?

Bryan K. Thygeson, a teacher at Lincoln high school, looks through an instrument used to measure vertical elevation changes in active volcanoes during the Volcanology for Earth Science Teachers (VEST) workshop at the University of Hawaii at Hilo last summer. This demonstration helped teachers learn how scientists monitor volcanic activity.

Lincoln teacher studied volcanoes at Hilo, HI, campus

Bryan K. Thygeson, new to Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls as a mathematics instructor this year, accumulated a wealth of information, teaching materials and experiences gained from his study of Hawaii's volcanoes this past summer, according to information received from the University of Hawaii at Hilo.

Thygeson was one of 25 teachers from Hawaii and the Pacific Rim states selected to participate in Volcanology for Earth Science Teachers (VEST), a teacher enhancement workshop sponsored by the University of Hawaii at Hilo. At the time of his selection, Thygeson was teaching at Aleutians East Borough Schools in Sand Point, Alaska.

The three-week workshop at Hilo was conducted by faculty members and scientists from the university's department of geology and center for the study of active volcanoes.

"Teachers who have actually felt the heat from an active lava flow can take the excitement of that experience back to the classroom and use it to make science more interesting and real to their students," explained Janet Babb, workshop coordinator. "Improving earth science education is the goal of VEST."

VEST, which was funded by a grant awarded to UH Hilo by the National Science Foundation, allowed Thygeson and other teachers to learn about volcanic processes, products and hazards on one of the most active volcanoes in the world. Field excursions to Kilauea volcano and other Hawaiian volcanoes provided VEST participants the opportunity to examine volcanic features discussed in classroom lectures. Of all the field experiences, the highlight for most participants was the chance to observe and take samples of molten, flowing lava.

During the 1994-95 school year, Thygeson will use his experience to educate his colleagues as well as his students. VEST participants agree to conduct inservice programs for other science teachers in their school districts to disseminate the scientific information and teaching materials derived from the workshop. In this way, the benefits of VEST reach more teachers than just the 25 participants in the workshop.

VEST was designed for middle school earth science teachers from Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California because each of these states has active, or potentially active, volcanoes.

Women of the Eagles Auxiliary recently contributed to the $200,000 campaign to save the historic Soo Line Depot in Thief River Falls. The depot, which was 80 years old last year, was scheduled for the wrecking ball before a local committee of volunteers took on the effort to preserve it. With three quarters of the campaign ahead, the "Save the Depot" fund totals $50,000. Committee members encourage tax deductible contributions, memorials, and fund-raisers on behalf of the depot. Vickia Bjorgaard has announced her candidacy for Pennington County Treasurer.

Bjorgaard seeks reelection as Pennington Co. Treasurer

Vickie Bjorgaard has announced her candidacy for re-election as Pennington County Treasurer.

Bjorgaard has served as the County Treasurer since elected to that position in 1986. Prior to her election to that post, she served as deputy treasurer for about eight years. She has received the titles of accredited and certified Minnesota County Treasurer from the Minnesota County Treasurer's Association and the Department of Revenue.

"I have had the privilege and honor in serving the residents of Pennington county for the past 16 years in the treasurer's office. I believe the experience, commitment and dedication I have given to my job and the residents as County Treasurer, affects not only the efficiency of the treasurer's office, but also other county departments I work with."

My husband Bruce and I were both born in Pennington County and currently reside in Numedal township of Pennington county. We have been residents of the community all our lives. We have one daughter, Holly, who is in 9th grade at Lincoln high school.

"I sincerely appreciate holding the position of Pennington county treasurer. The knowledge and experience I have acquired working with county government has given me the privilege to be of service to the community."

Plummer church plans event to help out pastor

It was five years ago when a pastor called to serve Trinity Lutheran Church at Twin Valley volunteered to serve then-closed Redeemer Lutheran Church at Plummer.

Next Sunday, October 9, the congregation with 42 confirmed members will attempt to help that pastor, Rev. David Brockopp, with a fund-raiser pie and ice cream social from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Plummer Hall. The public is invited and a free-will offering will be received. Matching funds will be provided by AAL Branch 2444 of Plummer.

Rev. Brockopp received a kidney transplant June 18 at the Health Science Center in Winnipeg after having no or severely reduced kidney function for the past eight years. The operation was successful and Rev. Brockopp is well on the way to recovery.

Rev. Brockopp said his kidneys stopped working in 1986 and then functioned from 13 to 20 per cent until 1993 when they again shut down. He resigned from the active ministry, which he had practiced for most of his career in Canada, in August of 1993.

Last December he went on peritoneal dialysis through St. Boniface Hospital in Winnipeg and began undergoing a number of tests to determine his suitability for a kidney transplant. He went on the transplant list on May 19 and a matching donor kidney became available within a month.

Following the transplant surgery, he remained in Winnipeg for six weeks and made daily visits to the hospital. After the six weeks he returned to Plummer to meet a goal and keep a promise—to conduct the marriage of Dena Marie Fossell and Brian Berry.

"I checked in at the hospital Friday morning in Winnipeg," he said, "then came back and held a counseling session with the couple that evening at my home and performed the wedding on Saturday. My wife Joanne helped me into the chancel and I had to sit on a stool, but we made it through the full ceremony."

For the next full month Rev. Brockopp returned to Winnipeg three times a week for check-ups. He will now make trips twice a week until six months from the surgery have elapsed. He said he is regaining strength and vitality and last Sunday stood to deliver his sermon for the first time in more than a year.

The Brockopps live in a farm house near Red Lake Falls. He expressed his appreciation to the congregation for planning the October 9 event in his behalf.

Don't Bother To Think, DO Something!

Have you heard the latest opinion regarding the Earth's climate? A report by two CalTech professors in Science magazine suggests that the Earth's climate has been cooling for the last 6,000 years. There has even been talk earlier in the year about the coming of another ice age.

Interesting. Just a couple of years ago the fear of global warming was being peddled on an international scale. Just as sure as a Minnesota sunrise, the polar ice caps were going to melt, the oceans rise and the coastal cities of the world be flooded. A lot of trepidation and even a little hysteria was created by the advocacy of that theme.

Now it's global cooling that is being touted, and we can expect government reaction at any moment.

Although it is scientists who bring about the theories of climate change, it is the environmental activists who cry out for crisis. Scientists take a more realistic viewpoint.

"This is such a new science," states Samuel Epstein, one of the CalTech professors writing the report mentioned above, "and such a new thing that we're in the process of developing it and finding out where the inconsistencies might be.....Something that's as complicated as trying to read climate and various things, it's foolish to say, 'I have the answer.'"

Epstein's calculations, for instance, that there has been global cooling of about five degrees over the past 6,000 years is based on three-ring samples from the ancient bristlecone pine trees. His work builds on earlier research using the same tree species.

Findings by other scientists, attempting to measure temperatures in a logical time series, are that since 1900 there has been a one-degree temperature rise. And a more recent study of global temperatures in the atmosphere, collected by orbiting satellites since 1980, suggests that there has been a slight cooling trend. If there is anything certain about global temperature change, it is uncertainty.

Activists, however, are not dissuaded by uncertainty. They are intent on forcing change. A report by the United Nations' Office on Sustainable Development notes that "underlying the U.N.'s work is universal acceptance by governments of the need to act today in order to avoid irreversible damage tomorrow......The United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change reaffirm(s) its 1990 findings that global warming, primarily as a result of human activities, is a serious threat to the planet."

Philip Clarke of America's Future, Inc., calls attention to the above viewpoint and comments:

"Most Americans would not stand for a directive by the U.N. to cut back on driving or to modify electric utilities, forcing consumer rates ever higher. But that's essentially what is happening. The U.S. government appears to have 'bought' the activists' idea of 'Don't just stand there, do something,' despite the lack of clear scientific evidence. As one Washington wag put it: "The activists never let the facts get in the way of a good cause."

Building A Healthy Community

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Jim Krile, Director
Blandin Foundation
Community Leadership Program

While rural communities may see themselves as being buffeted by the tidal waves of economic and political changes in America and around the globe, one of the greatest threats to the survival may lie within themselves. Increasingly, rural communities waste their citizens' time and energy and miss vital opportunities because of poorly managed conflict. Simply put, if rural communities are going to survive, not to mention thrive, they must learn to handle their conflicts in productive ways.

Conflict is a normal part of community life. It's the way conflict is managed that determines the health of the community.

It's important that the conflict is recognized in the early stages. If caught early, there are more options available to manage the conflict.

In a true community conflict, everyone is a stakeholder to one degree or another. A common vision must be developed. All involved need to be aware of what they have in common, not just what separates them. In developing a healthy community it is often more important to win an agreement than to win an argument.

Good communications skills are invaluable when dealing with community conflict. The issue needs to remain the focus and the conflict not be allowed to get personal. Effective leaders help the community understand that while people may vigorously disagree with each other's ideas or actions, they can still treat each other with respect.

The goal of good leadership is to develop and sustain a healthy community. One of the ways leaders can do this is by joining together to help their community live with and effectively manage their conflicts. While each of us has a responsibility for the way our community deals with its conflicts, we are most effective at exercising that responsibility when we work together.

The Blandin Community Leadership Program is teaching Minnesota leaders how to help their communities manage conflict better and how to get their communities to work together, not against themselves. The program prompts the leaders to be proactive, and use their knowledge and skills to significantly impact the community.

The program is sponsored by the Blandin Foundation headquartered in Grand Rapids. The foundation is a non-profit organization committed to strengthening rural Minnesota through training, convening and grant-making. If you or your community would like more information about the leadership training programs available through the foundation, contact me, Jim Krile, at 218-326, 0523.

(Editor's Note: A number of people from Thief River Falls and neighboring communities have participated in this Blandin Foundation program and found it to be both impressive in content and beneficial in conducting relationships.)

County Division

"The county division schemers are making a lively campaign and are telling all kinds of stories trying to bolster up their lost cause. We predict that their campaign of falsehood will be a dismal failure. It may be that a small county under favorable conditions may be run more economically than Polk county but "Red Lake county" could not be. This part of the county has been recently settled and it will take years and thousands of dollars to put our county roads in any kind of shape. The new county would have more bridges to take care of than all the rest of the county. We would get the worst of it at every turn and a man who votes for "Red Lake county" thinking he would better his condition and cheapen his taxes is laboring under a delusion."

Any such interest not punctually paid or provided for will cease to be payable to the owner of record as of such regular record date and such defaulted interest may be paid to the person in whose name this Certificate shall be registered at the close of business on a special record date for the payment of such defaulted interest established by the Registrar.

This Certificate of Indebtedness is one of a duly authorized issue in the aggregate principal amount of $1,580,000, all of like tenor and effect except as to serial number and denomination, issued to provide money for school purposes in anticipation of receipt of certain state and federal school aids to be distributed by and through the Minnesota Department of Education during the 1994-1995 school year, pursuant to and in full conformity with the Constitution and Laws of the State of Minnesota thereunto enabling, including Sections 124.71 to 124.76, Minnesota Statutes, as amended, and a resolution entitled a "Resolution Authorizing and Awarding Sale of $1,580,000 General Obligation Aid Anticipation Certificates of Indebtedness of 1994 and Fixing Form and Terms Thereof" duly adopted by the School Board of the School District at its meeting held August 22, 1994 (the "Resolution").

This Certificate is transferable, as provided by the Resolution, only upon books of the School District kept at the office of the Registrar, by the registered owner hereof in person or by his duly authorized attorney, upon surrender of this Certificate for transfer at the office of the Registrar, duly endorsed by, or accompanied by a written instrument of transfer in form satisfactory to the Registrar duly executed by the registered owner hereof or his duly authorized attorney, and, upon payment of any tax, fee or other governmental charge required to be paid with respect to such transfer, one or more fully registered Certificates of the series of the same principal amount and interest rate will be issued to the designated transferee or transferees.

The Certificates of this series are issuable only as fully registered certificates without coupons in denominations of $5,000 or any integral multiple thereof. As provided in the Resolution and subject to certain limitations therein set forth, the Certificates of this series are exchangeable for a like aggregate principal amount of Certificates of this series of a different authorized denomination, as requested by the registered owner or his duly authorized attorney upon surrender thereof to the Registrar.

This Certificate of Indebtedness is a general obligation of the School District, the full faith and credit of the School District having been pledged to the full and prompt payment of the principal hereof and interest hereon, but is primarily payable from certain state and federal school aids receivable during the 1994-1995 school year, receipts of which aids are pledged and appropriated to the equal and ratable payment of the Certificates and interest thereon as provided in the Resolution.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED AND RECITED by the School Board of the School District that the aggregate amount of borrowings in anticipation of receipt of certain school aids under Section 124.73, Sub. 2, Minnesota Statutes, as amended, shall not exceed 75 percent of such aids which are receivable by the School District during the period in which the Certificates are outstanding.

IT IS FURTHER CERTIFIED AND RECITED That all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Minnesota to be done, to happen, and to be performed precedent to and in the issuance of this Certificate of Indebtedness have been done, have happened and have been performed in regular and due form, time and manner as required by law; and that this Certificate of Indebtedness does not constitute indebtedness within the meaning of, and does not cause indebtedness of the School District to exceed, any constitutional or statutory limitation of indebtness.

This Certificate shall not be valid nor become obligatory for any purpose until it shall have been authenticated by the execution of the Authenticating Agent's Certificate.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, Independent School District No. 564 (Thief River Falls), Minnesota, by its School Board, has caused this Certificate of Indebtedness to be executed in its behalf by the manual signature of the Chair and the manual signature of the Clerk of the School District, and by the manual signature of the Authenticating Agent, said School District having no corporate seal, all as of the date of original issue specified above.

Clerk

5. The Certificates shall be payable upon presentation at the main office of American National Bank and Trust Company, in St. Paul, Minnesota, as the Initial Paying Agent, Registrar, and Transfer Agent (the "Registrar"), and interest shall be paid by check or draft mailed to the registered owners at their addresses shown on the registration books. The District reserves the right to replace such initial Registrar with a bank or trust company authorized by law to conduct such business. In such event the Chair of the School Board and the Clerk shall execute and deliver, on behalf of the District, a contract with the successor Registrar. Upon merger or consolidation of any successor Registrar with another corporation, if the resulting corporation is a bank or trust company authorized by law to conduct such business, such corporation shall be authorized to act as successor Registrar. The District agrees to pay the reasonable and customary charges of any Registrar for the services performed. The District reserves the right to remove any corporate Registrar upon thirty (30) days' notice and upon the appointment of a successor Registrar, in the event of any change in Registrar, the predecessor Registrar shall deliver all cash and Certificates in its possession to the successor Registrar and shall deliver the bond register to the successor Registrar.

6. (a) For purposes of this paragraph 6, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

"Beneficial Owner" shall mean, whenever used with respect to a Certificate, the person recorded as the beneficial owner of such Certificate by a Participant on the records of such Participant, or such person's subrogee.

"Cede & Co." shall mean Cede & Co., the nominee of DTC, and any successor nominee of DTC with respect to the Certificates.

"DTC" shall mean The Depository Trust Company of New York, New York.

"Participants" shall mean those broker-dealers, banks and other financial institutions for which DTC holds Certificates as securities depository

"Representation Letter" shall mean the Representation Letter from the District to DTC, with respect to the Certificates, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A.

(b) The Certificates shall be initially issued as separate authenticated fully registered bonds, and one Certificate shall be issued in the principal amount of each stated maturity of the Certificates. Upon initial issuance, the ownership of such Certificates shall be registered in the bond register of the District kept by the Registrar in the name of Cede & Co., as nominee of DTC. The Registrar and the District may treat DTC (or its nominee) as the sole and exclusive owner of the Certificates registered in its name for the purposes of payment of the principal of or interest on the Certificates, selecting the Certificates or portions thereof to be redeemed, giving any notice permitted or required to be given to registered owners of Certificates under this Resolution, registering the transfer of Certificates, and for all other purposes whatsoever; and neither the Registrar nor the District shall be affected by any notice to the contrary. Neither the Registrar nor the District shall have any responsibility or obligation to any Participant, any person claiming a beneficial ownership interest in the Certificates under or through DTC or any Participant, or any other person which is not shown on the registration books of the Registrar as being a registered owner of any Certificates, with respect to the accuracy of any records maintained by DTC or any Participant, with respect to the payment by DTC or any Participant of any amount with respect to the principal of or interest on the Certificates, with respect to any notice which is permitted or required to be given to owners of Certificates under this Resolution, or with respect to any consent given or other action taken by DTC as registered owner of the Certificates. The Registrar shall pay all principal of and interest on the Certificates only to Cede & Co. in accordance with the Representation Letter, and all such payments shall be valid and effective to fully satisfy and discharge the District's obligations with respect to the principal of and interest on the Certificates to the extent of the sum or sums so paid. No person other than DTC shall receive an authenticated Certificate for each separate stated maturity evidencing the obligation of the District to make payments of principal and interest. Upon delivery by DTC to the Registrar of written notice to the effect that DTC has determined to substitute a new nominee in place of Cede & Co., the Certificates will be transferable to such new nominee in accordance with subparagraph (f) hereof.

(c) In the event the District determines that it is in the best interest of the Beneficial Owners that they be able to obtain physical Certificates, the District may notify DTC and the Registrar, whereupon DTC shall notify the Participants, of the availability through DTC of physical Certificates. In such event, the Certificates will be transferable in accordance with subparagraph (f) hereof. DTC may determine to discontinue providing its services with respect to the Certificates at any time by giving notice to the District and the Registrar and discharging its responsibilities with respect thereto under applicable law. In such event the Certificates will be transferable in accordance with subparagraph (f) hereof.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Resolution apparently to the contrary, so long as any Certificate is registered in the name of Cede & Co., as nominee of DTC, all payments with respect to the principal of and interest on such Certificate and all notices with respect to such Certificate shall be made and given, respectively, to DTC as provided in the Representation Letter.

(e) The execution and delivery of the Representation Letter to DTC by the Chair of the School Board or the Clerk or the Business Manager, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, with such changes, omissions, insertions and revisions as the officer signing shall deem advisable, is hereby authorized and execution of the Representation Letter by the Chair of the School Board, the Clerk or the Business Manager shall be conclusive evidence of such approval. The Representation Letter shall set forth certain matters with respect to, among other things, notices, consents and approvals by registered owners of the Certificates and Beneficial Owners and payments on the Certificates. The Registrar shall have the same rights with respect to its actions thereunder as it has with respect to its actions under this Resolution.

(f) In the event that any transfer or exchange of Certificates is permitted under subparagraph (b) or (c) hereof, such transfer or exchange shall be accomplished upon receipt by the Registrar from the registered owners thereof of the Certificates to be transferred or exchanged and appropriate instruments of transfer to the permitted transferee in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 8 hereof.

7. The Certificates shall be prepared in typewritten or printed form under the direction of the Clerk and when so prepared shall be executed on behalf of the District by the manual or facsimile signature of the Chair of the School Board and by the manual or facsimile signature of the Clerk, the District having no official seal. The Certificates shall not be valid for any purpose until authenticated by the Registrar. The Certificates initially issued hereunder shall be registered as of September 7, 1994, and all Certificates issued in exchange therefor shall be registered as of such date. When the Certificates shall have been so prepared and executed, they shall be delivered to DTC by the Clerk or the Clerk's designee(s) upon receipt of the purchase price and accrued interest and the signed legal opinion of Faegre & Benson, as Bond Counsel, and the purchaser shall not be required to see to the proper application of the proceeds.

8. As long as any of the Certificates issued hereunder shall remain outstanding, the District shall maintain and keep at the office of the Registrar an office or agency for the payment of the principal of and interest on the Certificates, as in this Resolution provided, and for the registration and transfer of the Certificates, and shall also keep at the office of the Registrar books for such registration and transfer. Upon surrender for transfer of any Certificate at the office of the Registrar with a written instrument of transfer satisfactory to the Registrar, duly executed by the registered owner or the owner's duly authorized attorney, and upon payment of any tax, fee or other governmental charge required to be paid with respect to such transfer, the District shall execute and the Registrar shall authenticate and deliver, in the name of the designated transferee or transferees, one or more fully registered Certificates of the same series of any authorized denominations and of a like aggregate principal amount. The Certificates, upon surrender thereof at the office of the Registrar, may at the option of the registered owner thereof be exchanged for an equal aggregate principal amount of Certificates of any authorized denominations. In all cases in which the privilege of exchanging Certificates or transferring fully registered Certificates is exercised, the District shall execute and the Registrar shall deliver Certificates in accordance with the provisions of this Resolution. For every such exchange or transfer of Certificates, whether temporary or definitive, the District or the Registrar may make a charge sufficient to reimburse it for any tax, fee or other governmental charge required to be paid with respect to such exchange or transfer, which sum or sums shall be paid by the person requesting such exchange or transfer as a condition precedent to the exercise of the privilege of making such exchange or transfer. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Resolution, the cost of preparing each new Certificate upon each exchange or transfer, and any other expenses of the District or the Registrar incurred in connection therewith (except any applicable tax, fee or other governmental charge) shall be paid by the District.

9. Interest on any Certificate which is payable, and is punctually paid or duly provided for, on September 29, 1995 shall be paid to the person in whose name that Certificate (or one or more Certificates for which such Certificate was exchanged) is registered at the close of business on September 15, 1995. Any interest on any Certificate which is payable, but is not punctually paid or duly provided for, on any interest payment date shall forthwith cease to be payable to the registered owner on the relevant regular record date solely by virtue of such owner having been such owner; and such defaulted interest may be paid by the District in any lawful manner. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, each Certificate delivered under this Resolution upon transfer of or in exchange for or in lieu of any other Certificate shall carry all the rights to interest accrued and unpaid, and to accrue, which were carried by such other Certificate and each such Certificate shall bear interest from such date that neither gain nor loss in interest shall result from such transfer, exchange or substitution.

10. As to any Certificate, the District and the Registrar and their respective successors, each in its discretion, may deem and treat the person in whose name the same for the time being shall be registered as the absolute owner thereof for all purposes and neither the District nor the Registrar nor their respective successors shall be affected by any notice to the contrary. Payment of or on account of the principal of any such Certificate shall be made only to or upon the order of the registered owner thereof, but such registration maybe changed as above provided. All such payments shall be valid and effectual to satisfy and discharge the liability upon such Certificate to the extent of the sum or sums so paid.

11. There is hereby created a special fund, to be known as the Aid Anticipation Certificates of Indebtedness of 1994 Fund (the "Aid Receipts Fund"), and the principal of and interest on the Certificates shall be paid from said Fund. State and federal aids distributed by or through the Minnesota State Department of Education are required to be deposited by the School District in the Aid Receipts Fund when the estimated aids that remain scheduled to be distributed to the District pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 124.195, are equal to 105% of the principal of and interest on the Certificates due at maturity, at the times and in the amounts received until the balance in said Fund together with amounts then on deposit in the Aid Receipts Fund, is equal to the principal of and interest on the Certificates due at maturity. Accrued interest and any premium or unused discount (difference between the purchase price and the minimum purchase price set by the School District) received from the Purchaser upon delivery of the Certificates shall also be deposited in the Aid Receipts Fund. On or before September 29, 1995 the School District is required to deposit in the Aid Receipts Fund, from taxes or any other available funds, an amount sufficient, together with the balance in said Fund, to pay principal and interest on the Certificates at maturity. All moneys and investments in said Fund are hereby irrevocably pledged and appropriated to the equal and ratable payment of the principal of and interest on the Certificates. If any payment of principal or interest on the Certificates shall become due when there is not sufficient money in said Fund to pay the same, the officers of the School District shall use any other funds of the School District which are available for the purpose. Moneys on deposit to the credit of said Fund may be invested by the School District in any securities eligible for investment of School District funds maturing or redeemable at the option of the School District prior to September 29, 1995. Obligations so purchased shall be deemed at all times to be part of said Fund, but may from time to time be sold or otherwise converted into cash whereupon the proceeds derived from such sale or conversion shall be credited to the Fund. Any interest accruing on and any profit realized from such investment shall be credited to the Fund. Moneys and investments to the credit of the Aid Receipts Fund in excess of the amounts required to pay principal of and interest on the Certificates due or to become due on or prior to the date of payment may be applied by the School District to any other lawful purpose.

12. The proceeds of the Certificates, exclusive of accrued interest and premium or unused discount, shall be used for school purposes and invested in authorized securities pending the expenditure thereof. Such investments and investments of moneys in the Aid Receipts Fund shall be limited as to amount and yield of investment in such manner and to the extent required that no part of the outstanding Certificates shall be deemed arbitrage bonds under Section 148 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") and regulations thereunder.

13. This Board finds that the exception for small governmental units available under Section 148(f)(4)(C) of the Code is applicable to the Certificates because (i) the School District has general taxing powers, (ii) the Certificates are not private activity bonds under Section 141(a) of the Code, (iii) ninety-five percent or more of the net proceeds of the Certificates are to be used for local governmental activities of the School District and (iv) the aggregate face amount of all tax-exempt bonds (other than private activity bonds) which will be issued by the School District during the calendar year in which the Certificates are issued is not reasonably expected to exceed $5,000,000.

14. This Board hereby designates the Certificates to be "qualified tax-exempt obligations" for the purposes of Section 265(b)(3) of the Code, and finds that the reasonably anticipated amount of qualified tax-exempt obligations (other than private activity bonds) which will be issued by the School District during the calendar year does not exceed $10,000,000.

15. The officers of the School District are hereby authorized and directed to prepare and furnish to the Secretary of the Treasury a statement (Form 8038-G) meeting the information reporting requirements of Section 149 (e) of the Code by the 15th day of the second calendar month after the close of the calendar quarter in which the Certificates are issued.

16. The Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to certify a copy of this Resolution and to cause the same to be filed in the office of the County Auditor of the counties in which the School District is located under Section 475.63, Minnesota Statutes, and to obtain a certificate as to registration of the Certificates.

17. The officers of the School District are hereby authorized and directed to prepare and furnish to the Purchaser of the Certificates and to the attorneys approving the same, certified copies of all proceedings and records of the School District relating to the power and authority of the School District to issue said Certificates within their knowledge or as shown by the books and records under their custody and control, including a no-litigation certificate, a non-arbitrage certificate, an addendum to the Official Statement as may be required by law, a certificate of the Clerk as to the Official Statement and such certified copies and certificates shall be deemed representations of the School District as to the facts stated therein.

18. The Official Statement relating to the Certificates, on file with the Clerk and presented to this meeting, is hereby approved and its designation as a "near final" Official Statement for purposes of Rule 15c2-12 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the furnishing thereof to prospective purchasers for the Certificates is hereby ratified and confirmed, insofar as the same relates to the Certificates and the sale thereof.

19. The District hereby covenants and obligates itself to notify the Commissioner of Education of any potential default in the payment of the principal of or interest on the Certificates and to use the provisions of Section 124.755, Minnesota Statutes, to guarantee payment of the principal and interest on the Certificates when due. The District further covenants to deposit with the Registrar three business days prior to each interest payment date an amount sufficient to make that payment or to notify the Commissioner of Education and that it will be unable to make all or a portion of that payment. The District's agreement with the Registrar shall include the provisions required by said Section, including any requirements hereafter adopted by the Commissioner of Finance or the Commissioner of Education.

The motion for the adoption of the foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Member Hallstrom and upon vote being taken thereon the following voted in favor thereof: All present and the following voted against the same: none whereupon said resolution was declared duly passed and adopted.

A summary of the bids received is provided in the Attachment.

The next Regular Board Meeting is scheduled for Monday, September 12, 1994, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the District Service Center.

Meeting adjourned at 7:10 p.m.

RESOLUTION RELATING TO INCREASING THE GENERAL EDUCATION REVENUE OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT AND CALLING AN ELECTION THEREON

BE IT RESOLVED by the School Board of Independent School District No. 564, Thief River Falls, State of Minnesota as follows:

1. The Board determines that it is necessary and expedient for the school district to increase its general education revenue by $289.29 per actual pupil unit. The additional revenue will be used to finance school operations and the property tax portion thereof will require an estimated referendum tax rate of approximately 0.0566% of the referendum market value of all taxable property in the district for taxes payable in 1995, the first year it is to be levied. The referendum revenue authorization would be applicable for 10 years unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by law.

2. The question of increasing the general education revenue of the district shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the district at a special election, which is hereby called and directed to be held in conjunction with the state general election on Tuesday, the 8th day of November, 1994.

3. Pursuant to Minnesota Statues, Section 205A11, the precincts and polling places for this special election are those precincts or parts of precincts located within the boundaries of the school district which have been established by the cities or towns located in whole or in part within the school district. The voting hours at those polling places shall be the same as those for the state general election.

4. The clerk is hereby authorized and directed to cause written notice of said special election to be provided to the county auditor of each county in which the school district is located, in whole or in part, at least forty-five (45) days before the date of said election. The notice shall specify the date of said special election and the question or questions to be voted on at said special election.

The clerk is hereby authorized and directed to cause notice of said special election to be posted at the administrative offices of the school district and at each polling place at least ten (10) days before the date of said special election

The clerk is hereby authorized and directed to cause a sample ballot to be posted at the administrative offices of the school district at least four (4) days before the date of said special election and to cause a sample ballot to be posted in each polling place on election day. The sample ballot shall not be printed on the same color paper as the official ballot.

The clerk is hereby authorized and directed to cause notice of said special election to be published in the official newspaper of the district, for two (2) consecutive weeks with the last publication being at least one (1) week before the date of the election.

The notice of election so posted and published shall state the question to be submitted to the voters as set forth in the form of ballot below, and shall include information concerning each established precinct and polling place

The clerk is hereby authorized and directed to cause a notice of the election to be mailed by first class mail to each taxpayer in the district at least fifteen (15) but no more than thirty (30) days prior to the date of the special election. The notice shall contain the required projections and the required statement specified in Minnesota Statutes, Section 124A.03, subdivision 2, paragraph (b). The clerk is also directed to cause a copy of this notice to be submitted to the Commissioner of Education at least fifteen (15) days prior to the day of the election.

The clerk is authorized and directed to acquire and distribute such election materials and to take such other actions as may be necessary for the proper conduct of this special election and generally to cooperate with election authorities conducting the state general and other elections on that date. The clerk and members of the administration are authorized and directed to take such actions as may be necessary to coordinate this election with those other elections, including entering into agreements with appropriate municipal and county officials regarding preparation and distribution of ballots, election administration, and cost sharing.

5. The clerk is further authorized and directed to cooperate with the proper election officials to cause ballots to be prepared for use at said election in substantially the following form, with such changes in form and instructions as may be necessary to accommodate a system other than a paper ballot system.

State Patrol notes new blue light law

Officials of the Minnesota State Patrol have issued a reminder to motorists of a new law permitting flashing blue lights on authorized emergency vehicles.

Under provisions of a law passed by the 1994 legislature, authorized emergency vehicles may now display flashing blue lights to the rear of the vehicle as a warning signal in combination with other lights. Prior to passage of this law, flashing blue lights were only permitted on road maintenance and snow removal equipment.

"It's important for all drivers to be aware that the flashing blue lights up ahead may be a law enforcement or other emergency vehicle," said Major Gene Halverson, operations commander of the State Patrol. "This new awareness will be especially important once winter weather hits."

Last year 164 people were injured in crashes involving emergency and road maintenance vehicles on Minnesota roads and highways.

Tourist group is formed in Marshall Co.

Marshall County Tourist Accommodations is a new area organization looking for opportunities to promote tourism in Marshall county, according to Ethel Thorlacius of Stephen.

Presently the organization is comprised of three lodging facilities in Marshall county and the Warren SnoCat Riders snowmobile club. Lodging facilities are Patty's Boarding House in Argyle, Grandma's House bed and breakfast in Stephen and ElmCrest Motel in Warren.

Current efforts are aimed at attracting people other than local residents to ride the county's snowmobile trails. Advertisements have been placed in trade magazines and plans are being made to contact other snowmobile organizations throughout the state.

Persons responding to the ads will be given information on the condition of the trails and availability of lodging and dining facilities in the area.

Motorcycle group donates toys and food

Northwest Chapter of ABATE of Minnesota (America Bikers for Awareness, Training, and Education) held its 6th Annual Food and Toy Run in conjunction with its Bike Show on September 10.

Beginning in Gentilly at the Snow Sled Inn, participants in the run picked up food and toy donations at the One 'N Only, Euclid; Tommy G's, Thief River Falls; The Municipal Liquor Store, St. Hilaire; and The Spot Bar in Red Lake Falls. The huge amount of toys, along with all the food and cash donations will be going to the Pennington County Social Services and Area Food Shelf to distribute as needed.

Following the run, many of the bikes entered the Ride-In-Bike-Show which was being held in the northside city park in Red Lake Falls. With bike entries coming from Grand Forks, Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Erskine, Winger, Fertile, and Thief River Falls, 13 trophies were distributed.

Northwest Chapter of ABATE would like to thank all who sponsored trophies, participated in the project, and donated to make this a successful event. Of special mention is American Crystal Sugar, Crookston, which made a generous monetary donation and McMenamy's Tavern, Grand Forks, ND, which donated many toys.

U Kids is new name for Mpls. youth hospital

Formerly known as the University of Minnesota Variety Club Children's Hospital, the name of the hospital for children within the University of Minnesota health system has been shortened to U Kids.

"The name change reflects our efforts to make the University of Minnesota health system more approachable," notes Greg Hart, president of the University of Minnesota health system.

U Kids serves as a children's medical resource for the entire state. Approximately 40 per cent of patients are from outside the Twin Cities area.

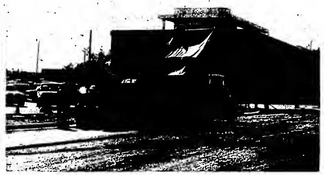
With so much dirt and equipment, sometimes it was difficult to tell where the street used to be; but out of the chaos, order quickly followed as the streets took shape.



Final touches on the downtown streets in Thief River Falls involved putting on different layers of bituminous. With the type of equipment being used, it didn't take long.

Jobless rate in region is 4.5 per cent

Unemployment rate in Region 1, including seven counties in northwestern Minnesota, has held steady at 4.5 per cent for July and August, a decrease from six per cent in August a year ago, according to the Minnesota Department of Economic Security.

Statewide the rate of unemployment (not seasonally adjusted) was 3.3 per cent in August, down from 4.8 per cent a year ago. The national rate was 5.9 per cent.

August unemployment in Region 1 was the lowest in Roseau county at 2.9 per cent, up slightly from 2.6 per cent in July but down from four per cent a year ago. Redwood county had the state's lowest unemployment at 2.1 per cent.

Red Lake county unemployment declined to 8.8 per cent from 8.9 per cent in July and 12.1 per cent a year ago. Highest unemployment in the state was 9.1 per cent in Itasca county.

Other county unemployment rates for August included the following with July of 1994 and August of 1993 percentage rates listed respectively:

Kittson, 4.8, 4.6 and 6.0; Marshall, 7.3, 7.6 and 9.5; Norman, 4.9, 4.5 and 6.6; Pennington, 3.9, 3.8 and 6.1; Polk, 4.2, 4.4 and 5.3.

Cellular 2000 adds cell site near Hallock

A new cell site constructed by Rural Cellular Corporation (RCC) five miles east of Hallock now brings additional Cellular 2000 phone service to northwestern Minnesota.

The transmitters and receivers are mounted on a 406-foot tower and will bring service to the Hallock, Lancaster and Lake Bronson areas. Cellular customers traveling highways 59 and 75 will also benefit from the service.

RCC is a group of 40 Minnesota telephone companies, including Wikstrom Telephone Company of Karlstad.

DOT improvement program announced for 1995-97 years

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) will expend $1.8 billion in state local and federal dollars for state highway, local street, bridge and transit projects in its 1995-97 statewide transportation improvement program (STIP).

Officials from the Mn/DOT District 2 office in Bemidji, who manage the state and federal transportation system in 11 counties, will handle $61.3 million of the total.

Projects included are creation of a four-lane highway between Bemidji and Cass Lake, a mill and overlay on highway 11, some bituminous work and a bridge replacement along highway 75 and two enhancement projects on the Heartland and Paul Bunyan Trails.

The 1995-97 STIP reflects cost reductions within Mn/DOT and a higher rate of gas tax revenue than projected. As a result, state transportation revenues are estimated to be approximately $140 million higher than similar estimates for the 1996-96 STIP.

The STIP includes transportation projects that will be partially funded with federal transportation dollars and state highway projects funded solely with state dollars. It does not include transportation investments scheduled to be made by local government units through state transportation aid and local dollars.

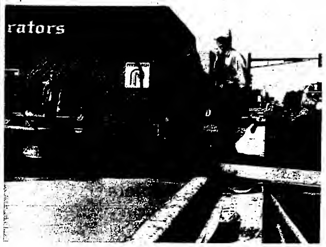
Craig Skedsem was one of the many people who watched as construction on the 1994 Street, Sidewalk and Utility project in Thief River Falls progressed.



Bud Comstock, sub-contractor on the sidewalk replacement in downtown Thief River Falls, worked closely with his crew to see to the proper installation of the sidewalks.

Construction crews began work in the middle of July on the 1994 Thief River Falls Street, Sidewalk and Utilities project on Horace Avenue at First Street.

Theatre group in RLF plan Haunted Mall

Actors and technicians belonging to Two River's Area Theatre (TRAT) are planning new twists to their Haunted Mall theme at the Park Place Mall in Red Lake Falls.

Last year, 732 people saw such sights as a runaway train, neon painted balls flying at them, and a bloody Snow White, which added a fractured twist to an old tale. Visitors to this year's haunted mall shouldn't expect to find any of last year's show haunting the mall. Actors and technicians with the group are busy working on a new batch of wicked and untraditional tricks to scare visitors.

TRAT has also worked out some of the "bugs" discovered during the first Haunted Mall last year. Tour guides will have stop and go lights so that groups of six or seven will be able to make their way through the "maze". This will eliminate some of the hold ups and long lines experienced last year. Also, this year there will be more open areas, which will provide tour groups a panoramic view of all of the action.

Haunted Mall II will be held three nights, October 29 through 31 from 6 to 10 p.m. Admission is $3. Children under 7 years of age will not be admitted without a guardian.

Marathoners complete Twin Cities Marathon

All of the marathoners featured in the last edition of The Times finished the Twin Cities Marathon last weekend. Conditions were considered "crisp and windy" with a temperature at the start of 42-degrees fahrenheit, which seemed cooler with a wind. The eight local runners were among over 8,000 to compete in the marathon.

The overall winner in the women's division was Suzana Ciric of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, who finished in a time of 2:34:04. The overall winner in the men's division was Pablo Sierra of Oxford, Mississippi, who finished in a time of 2:11:35.

- Arlan Anderson, 45, Argyle, finished in 3:52:19.
- Ken Cedergren, 43, Thief River Falls, 3:27:50.
- Randy Cedergren, 45, Lancaster, 3:49:21.
- Dr. Marty Duchscher, 36, Thief River Falls, 3:50:37.
- Dr. Richard Heinrichs, 50, Thief River Falls, 4:48:03.
- Anita Hendrickson, 44, Thief River Falls, 4:50:57.
- Dee Larson, 49, Thief River Falls, 4:38:33.
- Darrell Magner, 48, Thief River Falls, 4:34:41.
- Jan Puttbrese, 38, Thief River Falls, 4:01:43.
- Tom Ronchetti, 41, Thief River Falls, 3:52:32.

Many of the runners from Thief River Falls who completed the Twin Cities Marathon are up and about. Some are even running again. Several showed up for the weekly run with the Thief River Falls Fleet Feet running and walking club.

There is no charge to belong to the club. It meets every Thursday behind the hospital at 5:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. Distances vary and there are runners and walkers.

One local runner who will have to hang up his running shoe for awhile is Dr. Richard Heinrichs.

Tuesday following the race, Dr. Jim Langland called The Times to inform us that even though Dr. Heinrichs had completed the Twin Cities Marathon on October 2, he did so on an injured foot. The night before the race, Heinrichs was at a meeting when he slipped and turned his ankle. He noticed some swelling, but didn't have it checked out until after the race. It turns out that he had fractured his fifth metatarsal.

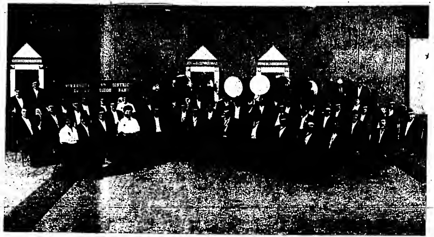
When asked whether it had been painful during the race, he said that it went numb after 10 miles. The Twin Cities Marathon is 26 miles long.

Chamber of Commerce to consider a new theme

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a contest for a possible new theme to replace the present "Where Everybody is Somebody" slogan. A maximum of five words—not counting Thief River Falls—will be considered.

The contests is open to anyone and all entries submitted become the property of the Chamber of Commerce. Individuals may submit more than one theme and those submitting the top four selected will receive $25 in Chamber gift certificates.

The four selected possible new themes and the existing theme will be included on a ballot to be voted on by the Chamber membership. Send entries to Theme Contest, Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, 2017 Highway 59 SE, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 by October 15.



Ninth District American Legion Band has completed its 65th year by participating in the national American Legion convention in Minneapolis. Over the years the band has had many members from the Thief River Falls community but at present there are only two—Bob Davidson and Les Torgerson—who are part of the 65-member organization.

Legion Band completes year

Ninth District American Legion Band recently completed its 65th year by participating in the national American Legion convention in Minneapolis.

During the 1994 year the 65-member band also played at the Minnesota American Legion department convention in Moorhead, the Ninth District American Legion convention in Detroit Lakes and other Ninth District Legion events.

In 1929, during its first district convention appearance in Thief River Falls, the band paraded in bib overalls. Today the members dress in maroon blazers, navy blue slacks, American Legion hats and, in hot weather, snappy white and gold shirts.

Since that first appearance in 1929, this American Legion band has attended every district and state convention. In addition, every two or three years the band has represented the Ninth District of Minnesota at the American Legion national convention.

According to Herschel Lysaker of Crookston, business manager and the lone original member still playing with the band, these semi-annual or tri-annual appearances help to keep interest high among the members.

Over the years the band has marched in Los Angles, CA; Miami Beach, FL; Philadelphia, PA; St. Louis, MO; Honolulu, HI; Boston, MA; Seattle, WA; Cincinnati, OH; San Antonio, TX; Baltimore, MD; Chicago, IL; and twice each in New Orleans, LA and Minneapolis. It is currently making plans to attend the 1995 national convention in Portland, OR.

Lysaker, still a staunch member and officer of the band at age 85, said its roster of 65 includes members from as far south as Fergus Falls and as far north as Lake of the Woods.

Its membership includes 23 retirees from all walks of life; 17 band directors from elementary, junior and senior high schools; four college band directors; one national guard post band director; nine businessmen; one surgeon; three attorneys; one CPA; one farmer; one banker; and one insurance agent.

Officers are Jim Amdal, Fergus Falls, president; Dick Ramsey, Grand Forks, ND, vice president; John Fleur, East Grand Forks, treasurer; Duane Arness, East Grand Forks (Fisher Post), assistant treasurer; and Herschel Lysaker, Crookston, business manager. William Pond of Bemidji, a member of the East Grand Forks Post, is band director.

"In 1928 recruits enthusiastically organized the Ninth District Band," Lysaker said. "Enthusiasm remains intact and a rapport has grown among members who have shared their talents and experiences and established links to the past."

The band welcomes new recruits and interested persons should contact one of the band officers.

A list of band members includes the following: James Amdal, Tom Arneson and Dick Hyle, Fergus Falls; Duane Arneas and Wally Selmanson, East Grand Forks; Milo Backstrand, Collin Peterson and Roy Sauer, Detroit Lakes; Herb Boelcher, Norman Ellingson, George French, Herschel Lysaker, and Doug Wesver, Crookston; Bob Bork and Don Flaagan, Oslo;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Gene Borud, Lyle Ellingson, Doug Engstrom, Grant Herried, Bernie McKigney, Dewey Possehl and Ed Wageman, Moorhead; Ed Christianson, Orv Eidem, Steve Martens and Harley Sommerfeld, Fargo, ND;

Also Bob Davidson and Les Torgerson, Thief River Falls; Dennis Engstrom, Sabin; John Fleur, Ken Hallgrimson, Harold Holte, Ted Jelly, Tom Jelly, Jim Jetunen, Wayne Kranz, Paul Larson, Don McGuigan, Richard Ramsey, Bob Szczys, Herb Thomson, Al Warcup and Glen Wolf, Grand Forks, ND;

Also Don Forsythe, Ulen; Bill Heimer, Fisher; Vernon Kuhn, Mahnomen; Walt Lindberg, Fertile; Dave Loyland, Thompson, ND; George Olson and Wint Wenner, Williams; William Pond, Bemidji; Red Sather, Tucson, AZ (formerly of Halstad); Fred Stark Grafton, ND; and Keith Thorson, formerly of Crookston.

Voter registration suggested before next general election

People will find the voting process easier on election day if they register to vote in advance, according to Minnesota Secretary of State Joan Growe.

Preregistration for the state general election will close on Tuesday, October 18. All county auditors' offices and many city clerks' offices will be open to accept last minute registrations until 5 p.m. on the 18th. Voter registration forms are available at these offices and many other state and county agencies.

Eligible Minnesota residents who on election day are citizens of the United States, at least 18 years of age and residents of the state for at least 20 days may register to vote now for the state general election.

Persons who need to obtain a voter registration card or who have questions about the voter registration process should contact their county auditor.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

The message of overcoming

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

The word of God often speaks of "overcoming" (Rev. 2:7, 11, 17, 26; 3:5, 12, 21; 5:5; 21:7). It also speaks of "deeds," which is watered down from the original Greek word "works" (Rev. 2:2-3, 5, 19, 23, 26; 3:1-2, 8, 15-18). These works, which a follower of Christ must keep, are Christ's works (Rev. 2:26). They are the same ones Jesus Christ kept in order to overcome the world (John 16:33).

When a believer dies, he ceases from glorifying God with good works and his good works follow him to the grave (Matt. 5:16; Rev. 14:13; John 5:28-29). Disciples of Jesus Christ are called blessed when they die keeping the works of the Lord. The fine linen and white robes given to the saints represent the righteous acts (good works) they did for God the Father (Rev. 19:8). They did all their works in Jesus' name while living on earth (Col. 3:17; Rev. 6:11). They didn't do their good works for reasons of being noticed by men (Matt. 6:1).

Jesus is purifying for Himself a peculiar people who are zealous for good works and are turning away from evil by doing good for God (Titus 2:14; 1 Peter 3:11; Rom. 12:21). Paul told believers to engage in good works constantly and that this is something they would have to learn how to do (Titus 3:8, 14; Is. 26:9-10; 1:16-17). They were admonished to encourage one another to love and good works (Heb. 10:24). They were also told not to get weary in doing good works (Gal. 6:9; 2 Thess. 3:13). Christ Himself even said some people would do greater works than He did (John 14:12).

Why are we to do good works? Doing good works is how we overcome our natures and live the repentant life (Psalm 37:27).

Jesus Christ, our true Teacher, says the righteousness we do must eventually come from our hearts or we cannot enter the kingdom (Rom. 10:3; Matt. 5:20; Eph. 6:6). We must strive and force ourselves into the kingdom that is within us (Luke 13:24; 16:16; 17:21). We must seize it for ourselves by daily disciplining ourselves for the purpose of godliness (Matt. 11:12).

This process of overcoming is very easy and pleasant (Matt. 11:30). It is not burdensome (1 John 5:3). It involves a life of sharing, of caring and of learning to be a servant of others, and it is called the Way of righteousness (Luke 3:11; James 2:15-16; 1 John 3:17-18; Matt. 25:33-40; 20:26; 21:32).

Overcoming is how we bear good fruit on our trees and assure that we won't be burned up (Matt. 3:10). Good fruit is good works (Col. 1:10). We enter the good life by imitating God's Way of life. We depart from evil by doing good so we will abide forever (Psalm 37:27). Simple, isn't it? However, it is simply not known or practiced by many people in the world today.

Jesus' disciples practiced that Way (Rom. 2:7). Isn't it time we returned to the true faith that was once delivered to the saints (Jude 3; 1 Tim. 6:3; Titus 1:1)?

Newspapers strive for excellence

by David Hill
Associate Editor

"Published with Pride" is the theme for this year's National Newspaper Week, October 9 - 15. It is appropriate therefore to remind readers of the value of the nation's newspapers.

Cathleen Black, president and chief executive officer for the Newspaper Association of America, writes, "The men and women who publish and produce the nation's newspapers — regardless of whether they rose up through the ranks of a family business or came to newspapering through their educational and career paths — are a singularly dedicated group of individuals. Regardless of their title or position, they care deeply, passionately, about the newspapers they produce and the communities they serve. They strive for excellence in their editorial content, the quality of their printed products, their service to readers and advertisers — each and every day of the year."

There are many of these individuals. U.S. newspapers employ more than 450,000 people. In addition, some 282,000 young people in this country are newspaper carriers — for many, their first paying job.

In addition to the reporters and people you meet behind the front desk at The Times and Northern Watch, there are many more who work hard to make sure the paper is printed and delivered each week. There are 16 full and part-time employees behind the scene who help produce the newspapers. There are 18 people who make sure the newspapers are delivered to your home, and that doesn't include mail carriers. Of course, the spin-off from purchasing paper to ink is just as great.

Perhaps more important and valued, is the service they provide. Black states, "In a world where images of breaking news stories — from the refuge crisis in Rwanda to the O.J. Simpson saga in California — are beamed around the world instantly, it is newspapers that provide the in-depth reporting, context and analysis that help readers ferret out fact from fiction and form their own conclusions about complex and controversial events. . . . It is newspapers that nearly 62 per cent of American adults — almost 115.4 million people — turn to on an average weekday for their window on the world."

Of course at the Thief River Falls Times our window on the world is much smaller. The impact on the daily lives of its readers, through articles on such topics as breast cancer, school referendums, transportation, and crime, is still significant. These in depth stories help readers make important decisions that will affect their lives and the lives of future residents.

While newspapers use a lot of resources in producing the product which helps readers make informed decisions about the world they live in, newspapers have made strides in becoming good stewards of our nations resources. Last year, 58 per cent of all old newspapers in the United States were recovered and recycled. That represents more than 7.4 million tons of old newspapers out of a total supply of 12.7 million tons. The Times and Northern Watch are also concerned about our environment and now use soy ink and recycled paper.

As Black says, "So next time you pick up a newspaper, think about not only how it gives you the news and information you need to make informed decisions but also how it supports and enriches community life in so many ways. Yes, newspapers are truly published with pride."

Minnesotans' Gambling Problems Increase

Minnesotans are gambling with greater frequency and more of them are having problems as a result, according to a new study released October 3 by the Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS).

"For most people, gambling is a harmless form of entertainment, but for others it becomes uncontrolled," notes Jim Stoehner, assistant commissioner of DHS. "We need to continue to take a serious look at how we can treat gambling problems and how we can prevent them."

Prevention is going to be a difficult matter as gambling opportunities continue to proliferate in the state. When the last poll was taken in 1990, 23 per cent of Minnesotans polled indicated that they had gambled in the past month. In the 1994 survey, that percentage had risen to 41. The increase may well be related to the increased number of gambling locations in the state since four years ago.

The study found that 3.2 per cent of Minnesotans are experiencing "increasing negative consequences" as a result of their gambling, up from 1.6 per cent in 1990. And the number of problem pathological gamblers inched upward from .9 to 1.2 per cent during the same period.

Somewhat more disturbing is the fact that the prevalence of problem gambling in Minnesota is the highest among the states where current problem gambling has been measured. What is encouraging is that treatment of problem gamblers who seek help is quite effective.

Following treatment, there was a dramatic decline in both gambling frequency and severity, according to a June DHS study. Of those who responded to the survey, 55 per cent reported no gambling after six and 12 months. When success is defined as abstinence or less than monthly gambling, 70 to 80 per cent met the criteria after six and 12 months.

The Minnesota Compulsive Gambling Hotline receives about 600 calls a month. People who think they may have a gambling problem can call the hotline at 1-800-437-3641.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

During the night of Wednesday, October 5th, someone walked through the back yard of our residence at 514 St. Paul Avenue South and our large spotted leopard frog left his birdbath after 25 years and followed them home. He is missed by both the birds and the squirrels.

He is a glass-glazed ceramic frog and is about five inches tall. his mouth is always open as if he is begging for food. If he is at your residence making a pest of himself, call me at 681-1852 or send him on his way home. A reward will be offered.

Thank you,
Albert Cork
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

Why is there so much voter apathy when there are so many important issues? It is often the result of not knowing the devastating impact proposed legislation in Washington and St. Paul will have on your life.

To me, one of the most important issues is gun control and confiscation of firearms. The Second Amendment was put in place for a very important reason and is now under vicious assault.

There are vast differences in the candidates' views on gun control and criminal prosecution. Learn where they stand and then go vote! Local gun owners are zeroing in on getting information out on various legislative threats to the Second Amendment right.

It would be great if more public meetings were held like the one coming up on October 24 at 7 p.m. at the fire hall in Pequot Lakes. It is sponsored by Grassroots Firearms Owners Group. All concerned citizens are welcome. The danger to gun owners' right is real. Brady II is coming....

If you would like to start a grassroots gun owners group in your community, feel free to attend this meeting. You will be pleasantly surprised at how simple it is to involve a large number of people in active and effective political efforts. For more information call me at 218-587-2417 or David Satherlie at 218-763-3430.

Sincerely,
Marlin Torkelson
